Senate Tentatively Approves Extra $5 Billion For Military

O'Mahoney Says U. S. Is Acquiring 'Atmosphere-Conquering' Weapons

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Senate tentatively approved today an extra $5,000,000,000 for the military after a senator asserted the United States is acquiring highly secret weapons that can "conquer the atmosphere."

As the Senate quit for the day, the total for military spending remained at a record $61,103,856,030 level. The $5,000,000,000 extra — that is, beyond the amount the House has voted—would be added to the amounts already set aside for expanding the nation's air power.

A number of amendments went over for action later, probably tomorrow.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) had planned to offer amendments to take from $600,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 from the bill, asserting that the budget should be examined carefully "to see whether we're paying too much for the preparedness we're getting."

O'Mahoney Joins Debate

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) had said he hoped that Douglas' proposed amendments would not be interpreted as a sign of discord and division by Communist propaganda. He assured the Senate later that he had intended no reflection on Douglas.

Douglas indicated his amendments would knock out flight pay for administrative officers of the Air Force, hold down travel allowances to the amount actually spent, trim research funds by five per cent, and possibly reduce the $2,942,000,000 set up in the bill for "expediting production."

His desk piled high with exhibits of new military equipment, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) disclosed that bombing planes now operate two and a half times as fast and at two and a half times the altitude of World War II types.

Bomb Sight Cost $250,000

O'Mahoney, who led the bill through committee and is its floor champion, showed senators a new-type rubber disc for dropping gasoline supplies. He held up a miniature new armored tank model, a lightweight "walkie-talkie," and a recently perfected medical dressing.

O'Mahoney, talking of the increased cost of war, said radar-type bomb sights which bombers now carry cost $250,000 each, compared with $6,000 for the now obsolete Norden bomb sight.

O'Mahoney indicated the U. S. now has about 433,000 men fighting in the Korean theater. He praised military medical scientists for keeping comparatively more men fit and on duty than in the two world wars.

Reds Hit U. N. Move To Shift Armistice Site

Enemy Charge Not Backed By Evidence

TOKYO, Tuesday, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Red delegation at Kaesong today threw cold water on an Allied proposal that the suspended truce talks be resumed elsewhere.

The delegation charged that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's proposal merely sought to divert attention from alleged Allied violations of the Kaesong neautral zone. The latest such allegation was that an Allied plane straffed the zone Monday.

Today's blast by the Red delegation, broadcast as a statement by Peiping radio, called the Allies "thieves who have a guilty conscience."

The tenor of the broadcast statement appeared to be that the Reds intended to stand or fall on the Kaesong site.

Not Official Reply

The statement was not an official reply to Ridgway.

Any official reply would have to come from North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Chinese Red Gen. Peng Teh-Huai.

The Red truce delegation's statement said the Allies "have attempted to use the method of diverting attention by proposing to change the site of the conference in order to avoid dealing responsibility with the series of provocative incidents of disruption of the neutralization of the Kaesong area, and in an attempt to brush aside responsibility for breaking up the negotiations."

The new charge that an Allied plane strafed the Kaesong zone Monday brought a quick check by the Allies.

Following on-the-spot inspection at Kaesong for more than four hours, Allied liaison officers turned down a Communist demand for an immediate report. They said no evidence was found to prove an Allied aircraft was involved in the latest charge.

Probers Shown Few Slugs

The investigators were shown a dozen 50-caliber slugs in and around a group of tiled roof stone houses, three-quarters of a mile from the conference site itself.

The Peiping radio poured out wrathful new complaints and rehashed some old ones in an attempt to blame the United Nations for the breakdown in armistice talks.

A Red broadcast Monday night called the idea of changing the armistice site a "preposterous demand" and "ridiculous."

The chances of resuming armistice talks appeared dimmer than ever. They have been suspended since Aug. 22.

American Woman Swimmer Seeks Channel Record

ST. MARGARET'S BAY, Eng., Sept. 10 (AP)—Florence Chadwick, 32-year-old San Diego, Calif., typist, swam out tonight in foggy darkness for the coast of France, 20 miles away.

She was trying to be the first woman ever to swim the English Channel both ways. Last year she swam from France to England in new Women's record time of 13 hours, 20 minutes.

She went into the water at 9:26 p. m. (4:26 P. M. E.S.T) and hoped to make it in about 13½ hours.

No woman ever has swum the channel from England to France.

Russian-Type Rockets Used By Red Forces

30 U. S. Sabre Jets Fight Off 80 MIGs

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Tuesday, Sept. 11 (AP)—The whole Korean war front seethed with activity Monday. Reds in the central sector tried out giant 132-millimeter rockets of the same size as the "katushas" used by Russia in World War II.

The Reds east of Kumhwa used their new weapon in sparing quantity. Allied authorities reported no Eighth Army installations were hit.

On the western end of the front, Red units seemed to be receding lightly from their ominous advance of several days ago. In the east the Reds met and grappled with every advancing United Nations force.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, estimated 25,000 Reds were killed or wounded recently in the bloody eastern hill battles.

In the air, 80 Russian-built MIG jets attacked a flight of 30 Allied fighters Monday, over Northwest Korea, but failed to damage the American F-86 Sabre jets.

The swift Sabres, effectively shielding slower U. N. fighter-bombers, fought off the MIGs and damaged two of them.

It was one of the greatest jet fights in history.

At one time more than 110 jets were swirling from 34,000 feet down to tree-top levels.

Army sources told AP Photographer Robert Schutz they had reasonable but not absolute evidence that Russian pilots have taken part in the jet war over North Korea.

The Fifth Air Force reported heavy traffic by enemy vehicles rolling southward from the Manchurian border on down to western and central fronts. In 24 hours ending late Monday the Air Force claimed 500 Red trucks and other vehicles destroyed or damaged out of a total estimated at more than 1,700. The heaviest traffic was in the vicinity of Pyongyang, Red Korean capital, moving southward toward Sariwon and northwest of Pyonggang, 29 miles north of the 38th parallel.

In Washington the Navy announced the destroyer-escort William Seiverling sustained some damage but no casualties Sunday.

In ground fighting along the eastern sector bloody battles for hill positions picked up momentum. Allied infantry attacked north in the heavily wooded ridges above Yanggu, eight miles north of 38.

Everywhere the Reds fought back with ferocity. From some of the best-built bunker positions yet found the Communists desperately manned machine guns and tossed hand grenades until they were overrun.

Senate Is Upset By Douglas' Cry During Hot Debate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) cried out as if in pain today and left the Senate chamber in the midst of a hot debate. He returned later, however, showing no visible signs of illness.

The senator rested on a davenport in an anteroom for nearly half an hour. Aides said he did not require medical attention.

The incident occurred when Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), replying to a denunciation by Douglas of waste in the armed forces, told the Senate he would hate to see Tass, the Russian news agency, "broadcast behind the iron curtain any indication that America's faith is weak."

Douglas cried out as though in acute pain and immediately left the chamber.

"He may have sounded a little bit hysterical because he was tired," an aide, Robert Wallace, told reporters.

Acheson To Ask More U. N. Troops For Korean War

Question Will Come Up At Big 3 Parley

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — The Western Big Three foreign ministers opened the first stage of their conference today with Secretary of State Acheson ready to urge more United Nations troops for Korea's battlefront.

U. S. officials said Acheson would raise the troops re-enforcement question during his talks with British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison and French Foreign Minister Schuman.

Acheson also intends, they said, to explore the possibility of new economic and political sanctions against Communist China.

These new penalties would be applied through the United Nations if and when it is clear that truce negotiators are useless.

The first foreign ministers' talks got under way this afternoon, when Acheson met separately with Morrison and a British delegation in a State Department annex, two blocks from the White House.

Acheson's aides said the secretary would discuss the Korean and Chinese Communist situation with Morrison and Schuman individually and then in three-power meetings which begin Wednesday morning.

Acheson was reported to feel other United Nations should start thinking now about sending more troops to Korea to reenforce Gen. Matthew Ridgway's army rather than expect American troops to keep bearing the brunt of the Communist attacks. His approach was said not to be aimed directly at the French and British but rather at all the United Nations opposing communism.

The critical Iranian oil situation and the potentially explosive British argument with Egypt were reported to be among the top items on the agenda for today's discussions between Acheson and Morrison.

Blast Touches Off New York City Fire

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP) — A violent explosion in a downtown building showered a block-long area with broken window glass tonight and touched off a five alarm blaze. Police said the blast may have been caused by safecrackers using explosives.

The detonation rocked a section on 18th Street between Fifth Avenue and the Avenue of the Americas. Bits of brick littered the street.

Police gave the site of the explosion as 9 West 18th Street but further details regarding the structure were not immediately available. Flames were believed raging through five floors.

Little Metal For Schools

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — The U. S. Office of Education said today it is unlikely that any substantial amount of steel, copper and aluminum will be available for new school construction within the next few months.

Hearings Slated On Controls Law Price Boost Plan

Capehart Amendment Repeal Move Defeated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee today ordered public hearings on a proposed compromise governing price boosts under the new price controls law.

The action came after the committee rejected President Truman's request for outright repeal of a provision which Mr. Truman has denounced as "the terrible Capehart amendment . . . an economic booby trap."

Chairman Maybank (D-SC) said a subcommittee headed by Sen. Robertson (D-Va) will start hearings Thursday, under orders to complete them within a week.

Other subcommittees will hold separate hearings on Mr. Truman's demand for repeal of two other features of the controversial law.

Maybank Backs Compromise

Sen. Moody (D-Mich) told newsmen the proposed compromise is regarded by price control officials "only as something that's better than the Capehart amendment."

"It will not stop all price rises," Moody said, "but I am told it can work."

Maybank agreed that the compromise, worked out by Price Director Michael V.DiSalle's agency, would tend to keep prices down.

One of DiSalle's aides said the compromise woul dclarify the language of the law and give DiSalle's agency more discretion in judging for itself whether petitions for higher prices are justified.

A coalition composed largely of Republicans and southern Democrats teamed up to defeat the repeal move, 8 to 5.

Some Beef Prices To Rise

The Capehart amendment, sponsored by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) among others, allows sellers to pass on to consumers almost all cost increases that have arisen between the outbreak of the Korean war in late June, 1950, and last July 26. Mr. Truman has denounced it as inflationary; its backers call it a fair arrangement.

The government, meanwhile, said it would issue an order as soon as possible allowing an increase in the price of some fast-selling beef cuts. The ceiling on such cuts as round steak may be increased a cent or two, but the price of loin and rib cuts may be lowered an unestimated amount.

Such an order is necessary, the Office of Price Stabilization said, because the price of hides and tallow has dropped. Under the controls law, OPS must assure packers their pre-Korean profit margins.

Workmen Hurt In Blast In Ship

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10 (AP)—A number of workmen were injured, some critically, in an explosion and flash fire tonight in the hold of a ship undergoing repairs at a Northeast Philadelphia pier.

Police said "five or six" persons were hurt and taken to hospitals. They said the men suffered severe burns.

The fire was extinguished quickly, but alarms brought a steady stream of police and fire emergency equipment to the scene.

Battalion Chief Oscar Tillburn of the fire department said the explosion took place in a forward hold of a one-stack ship, which seemed to him to have been a large Liberty ship.

He said workmen probably had been painting in the hold, since he could smell fumes.

Church Session Opens

Legislator Would Name New Road After Taxpayers

BOSTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Recognition and honor for the taxpayer were asked today in a bill filed in the legislature by Republican Rep. Summer G. Whittier, Everett.

He asked that a section of a new highway through Uxbridge be named "Taxpayers' Boulevard."

"We have named highways to honor all types of individuals, military heroes, statesmen, authors and poets," said Whittier. " It's about time we recognize the one who makes these new thoroughfares possible."

Berlin Police Seize Two Soviets On Spree

BERLIN, Sept. 10 (AP) — Two Russian officers on a spree created a storm of excitement in West Berlin tonight by idly firing pistols in the area where most Americans live.

West Berlin police seized the Russians before they could do any damage and asked higher Soviet authorities to come and get them.

Both officers, barely out of their teens, accepted their arrest with giggles and were satisfied to sit quietly in the police headquarters except for an occasional burst of song.

Lana Turner-Topping Marriage On Rocks

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 10 (AP) — Lana Turner today announced that she has separated from her wealthy, sportsman husband, Henry J. Topping.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studio issued a statement for the actress, saying she "is taking immediate steps to effect a legal separation."

The brief statement said that her lawyer, Arnold Grant, will begin conferences with Topping's attorneys in Chicago this week regarding details of a legal seperation and a property settlement.

Mrs. America Won Contest Unfairly, Judges Contend

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Penny Duncan of New York City today began a personal appearance tour as the new Mrs. America, but tonight several contest judges claimed she had not won the title fairly.

Screen Star Wendell Corey and several other judges protested that Mrs. Duncan was not the "real winner."

Corey said Mrs. Peggy E. Creel Mrs. Central Florida) was the actual contest winner, having "received the most votes."

"The public should know they have been duped, just as the judges have been duped," he said.

Bert Nevins, managing director of the contest decided at Asbury Park, N. J., last night, called Corey's protest a publicity stunt.

Corey said, "we don't have anything against Mrs. New York City. But she did not receive the majority of first place votes."

Then the film star said:

"I spoke to the other 11 judges in the beauty-judging section and, with one exception, they all said they had given Mrs. Creel their first place votes."

Eileen Wilson, television star of the "Hit Parade" program, agreed with Corey's observations.

Another TV star, Mrs. Maggie Johnson, one of the 12 judges in the homemaking section, said:

"I voted for Mrs. Creel and so did everyone else in our section. The final decision is humiliating. We were just used as stooges."

"From talking to the rest of the judges, we know that 23 of the 24 judges voted for Mrs. Central Florida, yet Mrs. New York City was announced the winner," Corey said.

Veterans Of Last Winter's Fighting In Korea Due Home Soon Under Rotation Plan

Army To Use Guardsmen As Replacements

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Army plans to levy upon National Guardsmen and regular units in this country in order to bring home before this coming winter "all personnel who endured the bitter combat conditions in Korea last winter."

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, said "the requirement for rotation of men from overseas" was an "overriding need."

The general's policy was outlined in a letter to Sen. Dworshak (R-Idaho). The senator had protested the calling up of individual Idaho National Guardsmen as combat replacements.

Step Called Necessary

"It is necessary," Gen. Collins said, "for the Army to continue to levy upon National Guard units and regular Army units in the United States in order to carry out a reasonable program for rotation of those men who have fought through last winter's campaign."

The rotation plan, the general said, "is currently requiring replacement of some 30,000 men and officers each month. I don't think anyone will dispute the urgency of this need."

Meanwhile, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said he believed that unless another world war breaks out, the armed services won't call back any more reservists with a year's service in World War II.

Releases Being Made

His subcommittee on military spending had knocked out a provison requiring all inactive or volunteer reservists who served a year in World War II be released after a year in the Korean war. He told the Senate this was done because the Pentagon advised the provision would case the discharge of many men before replacements are ready.

Releases already are being made, O'Mahoney said, adding his belief that no veteran of the last world war would be kept on duty in the Korean war more than 14 months.

Notre Dame Accepts 21 Expelled Cadets

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 10 (AP) —The University of Notre Dame has accepted 21 of 38 ousted West Point cadets who applied for expense-free education under an offer by an unidentified millionaire.

The Rev. Louis J. Thornton, director of admissions, said today the 17 who were rejected failed to meet either Notre Dame scholastic standards or conditions of the offer.

The anonymous donor required that the cadets, expelled for cribbing, must show financial need and agree not to participate in intercollegiate athletics.

Wasp "De-Mothballed", May Carry A-Bombs

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—The 32,000-ton carrier Wasp was out of mothballs today, with a strong hint that she and all other U. S. carriers eventually will carry atomic bombs.

"The size of the atomic bomb has been reduced and its availability increased," said Vice-Adm. Lynde D. McCormick at recommissioning ceremonies for the Wasp.

He said he believed eventually all U. S. aircraft carriers "will be equipped with atomic bombs."

Britain Cracks Down On Iran

LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Britain today ordered a drastic revision of her economic relations with Iran in a clear bid to force the already wobbly government of aged Mohammed Mossadegh out of office.

This latest move in the months-old oil dispute came as a Tehran government spokesman broadcast a claim that some Communist nations are entering the British-Iranian feud with bids to buy, fetch and carry Iran's nationalized oil.

Mossadegh already has announced he will send an ultimatum to Britain tomorrow through W. Averell Harriman, President Truman's diplomatic trouble shooter, giving the British two weeks to resume the disrupted oil talks or withdraw the 300 British technicians from Abadan.

The British treasury announced Britain will take these measures—which "can be revoked whenever the Persian (Iranian) government make possible a solution to the oil question".

1. Cut off Iran's dollar supplies.
2. Stop Iran's sterling oil transactions and control all other sterling transactions.
3. End Iran's right freely to transfer and convert her sterling—including her £14,000,000 ($39,200,000) balance in London which backs the nation's internal currency.
4. Halt the export of scarce goods —including sugar, iron and steel, semi-manufactures, non-ferrous metals, alloys and oil—to Iran.

Ford, Chrysler Intend To Hike Prices Of Cars

GM And Other Firms Due To Follow Suit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Ford and Chrysler notified the government today that they intend to increase car prices. General Motors and other companies are expected to follow suit.

New Price lists were filed with the Office of Price Stabilization, which only last Friday authorized automobile manufacturers to raise pries of new passenger cars an estimated average of five to six per cent if increased production costs justified the boost.

Chrysler Corporation's new price list calls for a boost averaging 6.5 per cent in the retail price at the factory. Ford asked price increase of 4.31 per cent on Ford cars at wholesale to dealers, ranging from $41.35 to $65.91.

Other Ford Requests

Ford's other increase requests, also at the level of wholesale prices to dealers, were: Mercury, 2.83 per cent, ranging from $40.45 to $52.52; Lincoln, 3.87 per cent, ranging from $69.57 to $75.06; Lincoln Cosmopolitan, 2.50 per cent, ranging from $56.90 to $70.77.

Assuming that the companies have followed the complicated formula established by OPS in its relaxation order, and that OPS approval will be a matter of routine, the automobile companies can put their new prices into effect within five days after they are okayed.

GM Preparing Schedule

General Motors, the industry's biggest producer, said in Detroit that it would not file a new price list today. But it is working on a new price schedule and is expected to take action soon. So are some other of the so-called independent companies.

Chrysler's increases would mean a $108 jump in the price of the Plymouth Cranbrook 4-door sedan, $117 on a corresponding model of the Dodge Coronet, $147 on the DeSoto custom and $156 on the Chrysler Windsor. These figures represent more than additional cost to dealers, thus allowing them a wider margin.

Sen. McCarthy Sees "Red U. S." In 15 Years

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Sept. 10 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), pointing his fire at what he called a "motley crew that has wormed its way high into our bureaus", foresaw today a "Red America" in 15 years.

"We must realize and face the cold, harsh fact," he said, that we have been losing 100,000,000 persons a year to international atheistic communism.

"There is no indication that this course is being changed.

"On our side of the iron curtain, there are one and a half billion people. At our rate of loss, and unless this course is changed, in another 15 years there will be a Red America."

McCarthy spoke before the Huntington Rotary Club.

Jet Explodes, Killing 4

WESTCLIFF, Eng., Sept. 10 (AP)—A Royal Air Force jet Meteor plane exploded in the air today and wrecked two houses in this resort town with its hurtling engines.

The known dead were the pilot and two women and a man in a house set afire by the hurtling engine.

New Common Cold Remedy Is Reported 95% Effective

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—A new common cold remedy, reported good even for old colds, was announced to the Twelfth International Congress of Pure and Applied Chemistry today.

This new drug strikes three ways. It hits at the virus which doctors say causes colds, at the histamines which doctors say aggravate colds and at the germs which usually come swarming in to make the misery worse.

The report was by two Filipino scientists, Eusebio Y. Garcia, a physician, and Ramon Acevedo. Garcia is in the Medical Research Clinic, Binan, Laguna. Acevedo is in the Araneta Institute of Agriculture at Malabon, Rizal. Neither came to the congress, but their report is printed in the official abstracts and is part of the day's proceedings.

They said their remedy was 95 per cent effective on 200 common colds. Recovery came on the average after three days treatment, except old, or third-stage colds, when treatment sometimes went for five days. On second-stage colds, which means after the first day, they said headaches disappeared in 10 to 15 minutes. Stuffed-up nasal passages became easier for breathing after a few minutes.

The remedy is a new synthetic drug plus an old sulfa drug. The new one is dimethylguanidine, which they said was synthesized in their laboratories.

Senate Tentatively Approves Extra $5 Billion For Military

O'Mahoney Says U. S. Is Acquiring 'Atmosphere-Conquering' Weapons

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Senate tentatively approved today an extra $5,000,000,000 for the military after a senator asserted the United States is acquiring highly secret weapons that can "conquer the atmosphere."

Little Metal For Schools

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — The U. S. Office of Education said today it is unlikely that any substantial amount of steel, copper and aluminum will be available for new school construction within the next few months.

Hearings Slated On Controls Law Price Boost Plan

Capehart Amendment Repeal Move Defeated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee today ordered public hearings on a proposed compromise governing price boosts under the new price controls law.

The action came after the committee rejected President Truman's request for outright repeal of a provision which Mr. Truman has denounced as "the terrible Capehart amendment . . . an economic booby trap."

Chairman Maybank (D-SC) said a subcommittee headed by Sen. Robertson (D-Va) will start hearings Thursday, under orders to complete them within a week.

Other subcommittees will hold separate hearings on Mr. Truman's demand for repeal of two other features of the controversial law.

Maybank Backs Compromise

Sen. Moody (D-Mich) told newsmen the proposed compromise is regarded by price control officials "only as something that's better than the Capehart amendment."

"It will not stop all price rises," Moody said, "but I am told it can work."

Maybank agreed that the compromise, worked out by Price Director Michael V.DiSalle's agency, would tend to keep prices down.

One of DiSalle's aides said the compromise woul dclarify the language of the law and give DiSalle's agency more discretion in judging for itself whether petitions for higher prices are justified.

A coalition composed largely of Republicans and southern Democrats teamed up to defeat the repeal move, 8 to 5.

Some Beef Prices To Rise

The Capehart amendment, sponsored by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) among others, allows sellers to pass on to consumers almost all cost increases that have arisen between the outbreak of the Korean war in late June, 1950, and last July 26. Mr. Truman has denounced it as inflationary; its backers call it a fair arrangement.

The government, meanwhile, said it would issue an order as soon as possible allowing an increase in the price of some fast-selling beef cuts. The ceiling on such cuts as round steak may be increased a cent or two, but the price of loin and rib cuts may be lowered an unestimated amount.

Such an order is necessary, the Office of Price Stabilization said, because the price of hides and tallow has dropped. Under the controls law, OPS must assure packers their pre-Korean profit margins.

Workmen Hurt In Blast In Ship

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10 (AP)—A number of workmen were injured, some critically, in an explosion and flash fire tonight in the hold of a ship undergoing repairs at a Northeast Philadelphia pier.

Police said "five or six" persons were hurt and taken to hospitals. They said the men suffered severe burns.

The fire was extinguished quickly, but alarms brought a steady stream of police and fire emergency equipment to the scene.

Battalion Chief Oscar Tillburn of the fire department said the explosion took place in a forward hold of a one-stack ship, which seemed to him to have been a large Liberty ship.

He said workmen probably had been painting in the hold, since he could smell fumes.

KANE, Pa., Sept. 10 (AP)—About 500 delegates from Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania arrived here today for the opening of the fourth tri-conference Sunday school convention of the Free Methodist Church.

Mrs. America Won Contest Unfairly, Judges Contend

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Penny Duncan of New York City today began a personal appearance tour as the new Mrs. America, but tonight several contest judges claimed she had not won the title fairly.

Screen Star Wendell Corey and several other judges protested that Mrs. Duncan was not the "real winner."

Corey said Mrs. Peggy E. Creel Mrs. Central Florida) was the actual contest winner, having "received the most votes."

"The public should know they have been duped, just as the judges have been duped," he said.

Bert Nevins, managing director of the contest decided at Asbury Park, N. J., last night, called Corey's protest a publicity stunt.

Corey said, "we don't have anything against Mrs. New York City. But she did not receive the majority of first place votes."

Then the film star said:

"I spoke to the other 11 judges in the beauty-judging section and, with one exception, they all said they had given Mrs. Creel their first place votes."

Eileen Wilson, television star of the "Hit Parade" program, agreed with Corey's observations.

Another TV star, Mrs. Maggie Johnson, one of the 12 judges in the homemaking section, said:

"I voted for Mrs. Creel and so did everyone else in our section. The final decision is humiliating. We were just used as stooges."

"From talking to the rest of the judges, we know that 23 of the 24 judges voted for Mrs. Central Florida, yet Mrs. New York City was announced the winner," Corey said.

Reds Hit U. N. Move To Shift Armistice Site

Enemy Charge Not Backed By Evidence

TOKYO, Tuesday, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Red delegation at Kaesong today threw cold water on an Allied proposal that the suspended truce talks be resumed elsewhere.

The delegation charged that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's proposal merely sought to divert attention from alleged Allied violations of the Kaesong neautral zone. The latest such allegation was that an Allied plane straffed the zone Monday.

Today's blast by the Red delegation, broadcast as a statement by Peiping radio, called the Allies "thieves who have a guilty conscience."

The tenor of the broadcast statement appeared to be that the Reds intended to stand or fall on the Kaesong site.

Not Official Reply

The statement was not an official reply to Ridgway.

Any official reply would have to come from North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Chinese Red Gen. Peng Teh-Huai.

The Red truce delegation's statement said the Allies "have attempted to use the method of diverting attention by proposing to change the site of the conference in order to avoid dealing responsibility with the series of provocative incidents of disruption of the neutralization of the Kaesong area, and in an attempt to brush aside responsibility for breaking up the negotiations."

The new charge that an Allied plane strafed the Kaesong zone Monday brought a quick check by the Allies.

Following on-the-spot inspection at Kaesong for more than four hours, Allied liaison officers turned down a Communist demand for an immediate report. They said no evidence was found to prove an Allied aircraft was involved in the latest charge.

Probers Shown Few Slugs

The investigators were shown a dozen 50-caliber slugs in and around a group of tiled roof stone houses, three-quarters of a mile from the conference site itself.

The Peiping radio poured out wrathful new complaints and rehashed some old ones in an attempt to blame the United Nations for the breakdown in armistice talks.

A Red broadcast Monday night called the idea of changing the armistice site a "preposterous demand" and "ridiculous."

The chances of resuming armistice talks appeared dimmer than ever. They have been suspended since Aug. 22.

Legislator Would Name New Road After Taxpayers

BOSTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Recognition and honor for the taxpayer were asked today in a bill filed in the legislature by Republican Rep. Summer G. Whittier, Everett.

He asked that a section of a new highway through Uxbridge be named "Taxpayers' Boulevard."

"We have named highways to honor all types of individuals, military heroes, statesmen, authors and poets," said Whittier. " It's about time we recognize the one who makes these new thoroughfares possible."

Berlin Police Seize Two Soviets On Spree

BERLIN, Sept. 10 (AP) — Two Russian officers on a spree created a storm of excitement in West Berlin tonight by idly firing pistols in the area where most Americans live.

West Berlin police seized the Russians before they could do any damage and asked higher Soviet authorities to come and get them.

Both officers, barely out of their teens, accepted their arrest with giggles and were satisfied to sit quietly in the police headquarters except for an occasional burst of song.

Lana Turner-Topping Marriage On Rocks

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 10 (AP) — Lana Turner today announced that she has separated from her wealthy, sportsman husband, Henry J. Topping.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studio issued a statement for the actress, saying she "is taking immediate steps to effect a legal separation."

The brief statement said that her lawyer, Arnold Grant, will begin conferences with Topping's attorneys in Chicago this week regarding details of a legal seperation and a property settlement.

Veterans Of Last Winter's Fighting In Korea Due Home Soon Under Rotation Plan

Army To Use Guardsmen As Replacements

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Army plans to levy upon National Guardsmen and regular units in this country in order to bring home before this coming winter "all personnel who endured the bitter combat conditions in Korea last winter."

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, said "the requirement for rotation of men from overseas" was an "overriding need."

The general's policy was outlined in a letter to Sen. Dworshak (R-Idaho). The senator had protested the calling up of individual Idaho National Guardsmen as combat replacements.

Step Called Necessary

"It is necessary," Gen. Collins said, "for the Army to continue to levy upon National Guard units and regular Army units in the United States in order to carry out a reasonable program for rotation of those men who have fought through last winter's campaign."

The rotation plan, the general said, "is currently requiring replacement of some 30,000 men and officers each month. I don't think anyone will dispute the urgency of this need."

Meanwhile, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said he believed that unless another world war breaks out, the armed services won't call back any more reservists with a year's service in World War II.

Releases Being Made

His subcommittee on military spending had knocked out a provison requiring all inactive or volunteer reservists who served a year in World War II be released after a year in the Korean war. He told the Senate this was done because the Pentagon advised the provision would case the discharge of many men before replacements are ready.

Releases already are being made, O'Mahoney said, adding his belief that no veteran of the last world war would be kept on duty in the Korean war more than 14 months.

Notre Dame Accepts 21 Expelled Cadets

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 10 (AP) —The University of Notre Dame has accepted 21 of 38 ousted West Point cadets who applied for expense-free education under an offer by an unidentified millionaire.

The Rev. Louis J. Thornton, director of admissions, said today the 17 who were rejected failed to meet either Notre Dame scholastic standards or conditions of the offer.

The anonymous donor required that the cadets, expelled for cribbing, must show financial need and agree not to participate in intercollegiate athletics.

Wasp "De-Mothballed"; May Carry A-Bombs

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—The 32,000-ton carrier Wasp was out of mothballs today, with a strong hint that she and all other U. S. carriers eventually will carry atomic bombs.

"The size of the atomic bomb has been reduced and its availability increased," said Vice-Adm. Lynde D. McCormick at recommissioning ceremonies for the Wasp.

He said he believed eventually all U. S. aircraft carriers "will be equipped with atomic bombs."

Britain Cracks Down On Iran

LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Britain today ordered a drastic revision of her economic relations with Iran in a clear bid to force the already wobbly government of aged Mohammed Mossadegh out of office.

This latest move in the months-old oil dispute came as a Tehran government spokesman broadcast a claim that some Communist nations are entering the British-Iranian feud with bids to buy, fetch and carry Iran's nationalized oil.

Mossadegh already has announced he will send an ultimatum to Britain tomorrow through W. Averell Harriman, President Truman's diplomatic trouble shooter, giving the British two weeks to resume the disrupted oil talks or withdraw the 300 British technicians from Abadan.

The British treasury announced Britain will take these measures—which "can be revoked whenever the Persian (Iranian) government make possible a solution to the oil question".

1. Cut off Iran's dollar supplies.
2. Stop Iran's sterling oil transactions and control all other sterling transactions.
3. End Iran's right freely to transfer and convert her sterling—including her £14,000,000 ($39,200,000) balance in London which backs the nation's internal currency.
4. Halt the export of scarce goods —including sugar, iron and steel, semi-manufactures, non-ferrous metals, alloys and oil—to Iran.

American Woman Swimmer Seeks Channel Record

ST. MARGARET'S BAY, Eng., Sept. 10 (AP)—Florence Chadwick, 32-year-old San Diego, Calif., typist, swam out tonight in foggy darkness for the coast of France, 20 miles away.

She was trying to be the first woman ever to swim the English Channel both ways. Last year she swam from France to England in new Women's record time of 13 hours, 20 minutes.

She went into the water at 9:26 p. m. (4:26 P. M. E.S.T) and hoped to make it in about 13½ hours.

No woman ever has swum the channel from England to France.

Ford, Chrysler Intend To Hike Prices Of Cars

GM And Other Firms Due To Follow Suit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Ford and Chrysler notified the government today that they intend to increase car prices. General Motors and other companies are expected to follow suit.

New Price lists were filed with the Office of Price Stabilization, which only last Friday authorized automobile manufacturers to raise pries of new passenger cars an estimated average of five to six per cent if increased production costs justified the boost.

Chrysler Corporation's new price list calls for a boost averaging 6.5 per cent in the retail price at the factory. Ford asked price increase of 4.31 per cent on Ford cars at wholesale to dealers, ranging from $41.35 to $65.91.

Other Ford Requests

Ford's other increase requests, also at the level of wholesale prices to dealers, were: Mercury, 2.83 per cent, ranging from $40.45 to $52.52; Lincoln, 3.87 per cent, ranging from $69.57 to $75.06; Lincoln Cosmopolitan, 2.50 per cent, ranging from $56.90 to $70.77.

Assuming that the companies have followed the complicated formula established by OPS in its relaxation order, and that OPS approval will be a matter of routine, the automobile companies can put their new prices into effect within five days after they are okayed.

GM Preparing Schedule

General Motors, the industry's biggest producer, said in Detroit that it would not file a new price list today. But it is working on a new price schedule and is expected to take action soon. So are some other of the so-called independent companies.

Chrysler's increases would mean a $108 jump in the price of the Plymouth Cranbrook 4-door sedan, $117 on a corresponding model of the Dodge Coronet, $147 on the DeSoto custom and $156 on the Chrysler Windsor. These figures represent more than additional cost to dealers, thus allowing them a wider margin.

Sen. McCarthy Sees "Red U. S." In 15 Years

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Sept. 10 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), pointing his fire at what he called a "motley crew that has wormed its way high into our bureaus", foresaw today a "Red America" in 15 years.

"We must realize and face the cold, harsh fact," he said, that we have been losing 100,000,000 persons a year to international atheistic communism.

"There is no indication that this course is being changed.

"On our side of the iron curtain, there are one and a half billion people. At our rate of loss, and unless this course is changed, in another 15 years there will be a Red America."

McCarthy spoke before the Huntington Rotary Club.

Russian-Type Rockets Used By Red Forces

30 U. S. Sabre Jets Fight Off 80 MIGs

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Tuesday, Sept. 11 (AP)—The whole Korean war front seethed with activity Monday. Reds in the central sector tried out giant 132-millimeter rockets of the same size as the "katushas" used by Russia in World War II.

The Reds east of Kumhwa used their new weapon in sparing quantity. Allied authorities reported no Eighth Army installations were hit.

On the western end of the front, Red units seemed to be receding lightly from their ominous advance of several days ago. In the east the Reds met and grappled with every advancing United Nations force.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, estimated 25,000 Reds were killed or wounded recently in the bloody eastern hill battles.

In the air, 80 Russian-built MIG jets attacked a flight of 30 Allied fighters Monday, over Northwest Korea, but failed to damage the American F-86 Sabre jets.

The swift Sabres, effectively shielding slower U. N. fighter-bombers, fought off the MIGs and damaged two of them.

It was one of the greatest jet fights in history.

At one time more than 110 jets were swirling from 34,000 feet down to tree-top levels.

Army sources told AP Photographer Robert Schutz they had reasonable but not absolute evidence that Russian pilots have taken part in the jet war over North Korea.

The Fifth Air Force reported heavy traffic by enemy vehicles rolling southward from the Manchurian border on down to western and central fronts. In 24 hours ending late Monday the Air Force claimed 500 Red trucks and other vehicles destroyed or damaged out of a total estimated at more than 1,700. The heaviest traffic was in the vicinity of Pyongyang, Red Korean capital, moving southward toward Sariwon and northwest of Pyonggang, 29 miles north of the 38th parallel.

In Washington the Navy announced the destroyer-escort William Seiverling sustained some damage but no casualties Sunday.

In ground fighting along the eastern sector bloody battles for hill positions picked up momentum. Allied infantry attacked north in the heavily wooded ridges above Yanggu, eight miles north of 38.

Everywhere the Reds fought back with ferocity. From some of the best-built bunker positions yet found the Communists desperately manned machine guns and tossed hand grenades until they were overrun.

New Common Cold Remedy Is Reported 95% Effective

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—A new common cold remedy, reported good even for old colds, was announced to the Twelfth International Congress of Pure and Applied Chemistry today.

This new drug strikes three ways. It hits at the virus which doctors say causes colds, at the histamines which doctors say aggravate colds and at the germs which usually come swarming in to make the misery worse.

The report was by two Filipino scientists, Eusebio Y. Garcia, a physician, and Ramon Acevedo. Garcia is in the Medical Research Clinic, Binan, Laguna. Acevedo is in the Araneta Institute of Agriculture at Malabon, Rizal. Neither came to the congress, but their report is printed in the official abstracts and is part of the day's proceedings.

They said their remedy was 95 per cent effective on 200 common colds. Recovery came on the average after three days treatment, except old, or third-stage colds, when treatment sometimes went for five days. On second-stage colds, which means after the first day, they said headaches disappeared in 10 to 15 minutes. Stuffed-up nasal passages became easier for breathing after a few minutes.

The remedy is a new synthetic drug plus an old sulfa drug. The new one is dimethylguanidine, which they said was synthesized in their laboratories.

Army To Test Lightweight Plastic Armored Clothing At Korean Front

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The foot soldier of tomorrow may go into battle wearing armor like a knight of the middle ages.

But instead of the heavy metal in which the knight of old clanked around, the American infantryman would be garbed in 20th century plastics, light in weight but "capable of stopping a .45 calibre bullet at point blank range."

The Army Quartermaster Corps disclosed that it has developed several types of armored clothing and plans to test it under battle conditions in Korea in the near future.

Litter bearers, many of whom have become casualties while evacuating wounded from the battlefield, will be the first to wear the new protective helmets and jackets. At present, the bearers work without protection of any kind.

Field tests will be conducted later for armored seats, to be used in Army liason airplanes, and for eye armor to be used by troops engaged in mine clearing.

Studies by the Army Medical Service have shown that most battle wounds are caused by shell fragments and small arms fire which have lost most of their "punch."

The Army hopes such missiles will bounce more or less harmlessly off a soldier wearing the new lightweight armor. Officers said, however, that the armor will give little protection against high velocity missiles such as rifle or machine gun fire.

Two types of armored jacket, weighing anywhere from five to 15 pounds, have been developed in several years of research.

One is a rigid type known as the doron jacket. This is made of cotton into which stiff panels of glass fibre and plastic, about one eighth of an inch thick, are fitted. The model for litter bearers covers the body as far down as the abdomen but leaves the arms free.

The other, more flexible type is made of several layers of nylon fabric pressed together. The heaviest of these models covers the entire body trunk as well as the shoulders and upper arms.

One big question is how much this armored clothing would interfere with a soldier's ability to move fast. Officers said its greatest value may be for troops not on "sustained mobile missions"—in other words for vehicle operators, photographers, snipers, mine clearing troops, medical personnel and many others.

A new plastic helmet, made of laminated nylon in an aluminum shell, also is to be battle tested. Experiments so far indicate that it gives better protection and visibility than the present steel helmet.

will believe the Russian rulers.

If diplomatic relations were broken off the Russian people would know that the price of re-establishing relations would be the elimination of the totalitarian government which has become a menace to world peace.

The principle that no government which is a threat to world peace should be permitted to remain in the United Nations is so sound that it could be the most impressive way to start the movement for a change in government in Moscow. The theory that the Kremlin would thereupon declare war as a reprisal is unrealistic. For, when the Russian people learn about the destructiveness of the new weapons, they will overthrow the Moscow regime rather than go to war. They would do so particularly if psychological preparation has been made in advance for that climax. That's why valuable time is being lost now talking about new weapons without drawing a distinction between the Kremlin and the Russian people.

space. The ancient power contest that formed the subject of the puzzle was the fearful struggle between Rome and Carthage, which determined the fate of the Mediterranean world. The historian quoted was the majestic Theodor Mommsen, in the Dickson translation, Scribner's edition of 1894. The "very long range aircraft" of our puzzle, to answer one other question raised by the more than 2,000 readers who have written in about it, were the Carthaginian quinqueremes—the great five-oared war galleys that absolutely dominated the Mediterranean when the Punic wars began. Incidentally, another historian, the sober Polybius, records that Carthage's control of the sea was broken when the Romans captured an accidentally grounded quinquereme and copied it to build their own war marine. Who recalls the B-29 accidentally landed in Siberia, that was the beginning of the Soviet strategic air force?

One big question is how much this armored clothing would interfere with a soldier's ability to move fast. Officers said its greatest value may be for troops not on "sustained mobile missions"—in other words for vehicle operators, photographers, snipers, mine clearing troops, medical personnel and many others.

A new plastic helmet, made of laminated nylon in an aluminum shell, also is to be battle tested. Experiments so far indicate that it gives better protection and visibility than the present steel helmet.

A ROYAL WELCOME greeted the new ruler of Jordan, King Talal, on his arrival in Amman from Europe. All signs of mourning for his father, the assassinated King Abdullah, were replaced by gay bunting. The 42-year-old monarch immediately took the oath. (International)

The Moors of the 10th Century had a fort called Madrid on the site of the present day Madrid, Spain.

will believe the Russian rulers.

If diplomatic relations were broken off the Russian people would know that the price of re-establishing relations would be the elimination of the totalitarian government which has become a menace to world peace.

The principle that no government which is a threat to world peace should be permitted to remain in the United Nations is so sound that it could be the most impressive way to start the movement for a change in government in Moscow. The theory that the Kremlin would thereupon declare war as a reprisal is unrealistic. For, when the Russian people learn about the destructiveness of the new weapons, they will overthrow the Moscow regime rather than go to war. They would do so particularly if psychological preparation has been made in advance for that climax. That's why valuable time is being lost now talking about new weapons without drawing a distinction between the Kremlin and the Russian people.

space. The ancient power contest that formed the subject of the puzzle was the fearful struggle between Rome and Carthage, which determined the fate of the Mediterranean world. The historian quoted was the majestic Theodor Mommsen, in the Dickson translation, Scribner's edition of 1894. The "very long range aircraft" of our puzzle, to answer one other question raised by the more than 2,000 readers who have written in about it, were the Carthaginian quinqueremes—the great five-oared war galleys that absolutely dominated the Mediterranean when the Punic wars began. Incidentally, another historian, the sober Polybius, records that Carthage's control of the sea was broken when the Romans captured an accidentally grounded quinquereme and copied it to build their own war marine. Who recalls the B-29 accidentally landed in Siberia, that was the beginning of the Soviet strategic air force?

NOT ONE SINGLE CASE OF THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking CAMELS!

—that's what noted throat specialists reported in a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for 30 days!

Ann Sothern says:

"I tested for mildness—
My throat chose
Camels!"

"My voice is important to me—and Camels agree with my throat. Camels taste grand, too—a flavor all their own."

THE WAY to find out about cigarette mildness is smoking—not just a puff or a sniff, but steady smoking. Thirty days of Camel smoking convinced Ann Sothern that Camels give her the mildness she demands . . . that they give her more smoking pleasure than any other cigarette.

As Ann Sothern did, make your own 30-day Camel test—the sensible cigarette mildness test. Enjoy Camel's rich flavor, a flavor no other cigarette has. See for yourself how mild Camels are, how well they agree with your throat. Then you'll know why, after all the mildness tests . . .

CAMEL LEADS ALL OTHER BRANDS—BY BILLIONS!

BOB LEMON, Cleveland pitcher, says: "I tried the sniff test and puff test, but my own 30-day Camel test sold me. Camel is my cigarette!"

NADINE CONNER, opera star, says: "My own 30-day Camel test proved how much fun smoking can be. Camels suit my throat and taste grand."

TEST CAMELS in your "T-Zone"—T for Throat, T for Taste. Smoke only Camels for 30 days; see how mild, how flavorful a cigarette can be!

"The Authority on Authorities"

BEING HELPLESS HURTS

THERE is really nothing you can do about it but accept your punishment when an able declarer works the "smother play" against you. It is a terrible feeling to have a guarded high trump honor, which looks like a sure winner because your big card and its protectors outnumber the dummy trumps by one, and then not take a trick with the card. All of which is an example of how it hurts to be helpless when the enemy strikes.

	♠ K 8 5 4 ♥ 7 6 4 ♦ A 9 5 ♣ A 10 7
♠ 7 3 2 ♥ A K 5 ♦ K 8 6 4 ♣ 9 8 2	N W E S	♠ Q J 10 ♥ Q 10 9 8 3 2 ♦ None ♣ 6 5 4 3
	♠ A 9 6 ♥ J ♦ Q J 10 7 3 2 ♣ K Q J

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

Pass	Pass	1 ♦	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	5 ♦	Dbl.

North's 3-Club bid there was to show a stopper and invite a No Trump game if South could stop the unbid hearts. Unable to, South rebid and the rest of the bidding was routine, including West's perfectly natural double. After it he opened the heart K and saw the A ruffed by the diamond 2. South immediately tested trumps by sending the Q through, but East's heart discard advertised the probability of a second losing trick in spades plus one to the adequately-guarded diamond K.

Keen study then told the capable declarer that a "smother play" would work if he was lucky enough to find West obliged to follow suit to enough tricks. Setting the stage, he finessed the diamond 9, scored three clubs plus the spade A and K, ruffed the heart 7 with the diamond 7 and was ready for the big play. With the spade 8-5 and diamond A left in dummy, he retained the spade 9 and diamond J-10, West having the spade 7 and diamond K-8 and East the spade Q, heart Q and club 6.

Now he led the spade 9, hoping East would have to win it. He did, with the Q, and had to return a heart or club—which made no difference. He chose the heart Q, which South ruffed with the diamond 10. Now West was stuck. If he under-ruffed with the diamond 8, the spade 8 would be discarded from dummy and the diamond A would take the last trick. If West, however, over-ruffed with the diamond K, the A would win it and the spade 8 would be ruffed by the diamond J on the final trick while West under-ruffed with the 8. West, heartily chagrined, nevertheless had to congratulate South on his keenness.

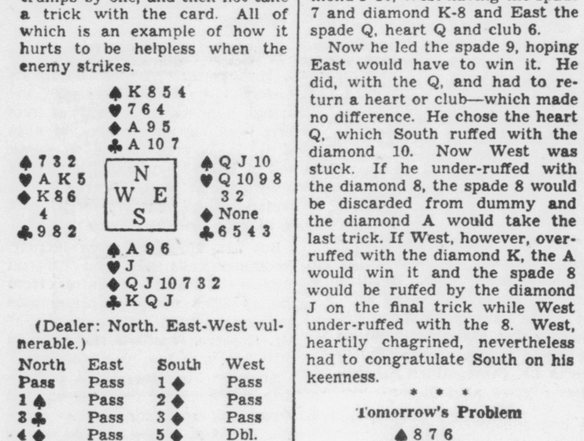
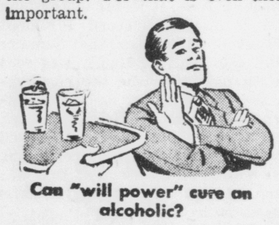
Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist



Should you take "report cards" seriously?

Answer: Yes, but not too much so. Learning to make reasonably good marks in school is part of a child's training to meet the requirements of the world that he will have to live in, and if he is led to feel his marks "don't matter" he may get the idea that other adjustments like obeying the law of the land don't matter, either. But don't go to the extreme of making him feel that a failure in school is a crushing disgrace, or to the other extreme of encouraging him to let success in studies take the place of making friends with other children and "belonging to the group. For that is even more important.



Can "will power" cure an alcoholic?

Answer: No, writes Howard J. Clinebell in the Journal of Clinical Pastoral Work, after studying 79 cases. It is time we gave up the old fashioned notion that the alcoholic could cure himself if he would only "use his will power" and stop drinking. Such an attitude keeps us from understanding his real problem and tends to block his recovery. Alcoholics are sick people who need and deserve help. The root of their illness is anxiety and a sense of personal inadequacy, and such feelings are only made worse by blame and pressure. We must help the alcoholic to develop a real sense of his own value instead of the false self-confidence he gets through drinking.

Are "guilt" and "responsibility" the same?

Answer: Not as a psychiatrist uses the word. "Guilt" is what might be called a "moral value-judgment" and as such, outside the field of science, while "responsibility" is the demonstrable fact that you must take the consequences of your actions. A boy with a cruel, unjust father may not be to blame (or "guilty") if he grows up feeling hostile toward authority in general, but that does not change the fact that if he becomes a lawbreaker, he will be disliked and punished. It is in the effort to avoid a needless sense of guilt that we so often tend to avoid facing the nature and consequences of our actions.

"This Was America"

To tumultuous applause vaudevillians used to sing:

It isn't what you used to be;
It's what you are today!

Which is nonsense, deriding the fact that existence is continuity, as though the mind did not persist in harking back nostalgically to days long past.

That is why there is every reason to believe that the photographic exhibit portraying in 125 of the choicest prints something of the social history of the last 70 years should send thousands to the Museum of Modern Art in New York, where they will be on display until mid-October.

Through history, excerpts from biography and recalled discussions by parents and grandparents, we may feel we have a fair idea of what happened in this land of ours. However, when it becomes a question of visualizing it, we throw up our hands.

But photography is and has been a priceless boon. These prints on display were dug up in a seven years' search in the Library of Congress from among half a million and selected as characteristic of bygone days.

Some are of disaster, some of persons, like John L. Sullivan, Julia Marlowe and Julia Ward Howe, who were favorites of Americans of their day. Others are of scenes throughout the country, some in New York. The last include the landing in 1880 of the Central Park obelisk, "Cleopatra's Needle," at the Hudson River and 96th Street, with not a building in sight.

Another scene is of the Bowery back in 1896, with a steam locomotive pulling an elevated train. Shown, too, are what were almost institutions, fortunately passed, like the feuding of the Hatfields and McCoys.

The educational value of such an exhibit, limited only to 125 prints most carefully selected, in illustrating our growth and folkways is great. It is known as "Forgotten Photographers." It should not be broken up in October, but transported to city after city, for its proper title is "This Was America."

These pictures as a nucleus, supplemented by other photographs, privately owned, that may come out of hiding, should be permanently assembled. What teenager today would believe that women's skirts for street use in the 1880s had two-inch trains? The worthwhileness of these pictures filmed for school use should be appraised now, before it is too late.

Atomic Energy Afloat

The Navy cannot be accused of being loquacious about its projected nuclear-powered submarine. In its first official pronouncement the Navy wrapped it up in one sentence, leaving its public relations spokesmen to sweat out the flanking attacks of a news hungry press.

Actually, the terse announcement of award of a contract for the submarine's hull was confirmation that the theorizing stage was over and that the actual hammering and sawing was about to begin.

It also emphasizes that America has stepped past the threshold of the true "atomic age." The implication is that one of the two parallel efforts to construct a propulsion unit for a seagoing hull has met success, or come so close that scientists feel it is time to get on with the remainder of the project.

Encouraging news is forthcoming on another project, the atomic-powered plane. Both AEC Chairman Gordon Dean and General Vandenberg of the Air Force have said that success along these lines is much closer than people might imagine.

It is of the utmost urgency that efforts toward harnessing atomic energy for propulsion should be aimed at military applications at this time. Success in launching and operating a nuclear-powered submarine would give this country an untold strategic advantage over Russia or any other enemy. Comparable success along the lines of ordnance weapons and atom-powered flight should eliminate all fear of an armed stalemate.

The marvelous possibilities which the enslavement of the atom offers in the form of better living are thus temporarily subordinated. But the nuclear plant that might drive a submarine at terrific speeds for long periods of time might be easily converted for use in, say, an ocean liner, or in a plant which could be set to distilling sea water to irrigate western deserts. That's the most encouraging aspect of all.

The Search For Oil

Recurrent predictions of the near exhaustion of domestic oil resources are made. Yet additional pools are constantly uncovered. An intensified drilling program recently in North Dakota and Wyoming has opened up substantial new sources. But the latest "discovery" according to Texas Railroad Commission evidence, is that oil deposits in the western section of that state may prove to be the greatest find in the United States in the last 20 years.

This possibility is predicted upon the extent of the area involved, embracing from 700,000 to 1,000,000 acres as compared with that fabulous East Texas field of 133,000 acres. But how near the yield per acre of the new field will come to that of the old field is still to be established, though witnesses are reported to have agreed that there was no other known reserve where as much oil could be made available as quickly and cheaply.

With the Petroleum Administration for Defense still far from its goal of a daily surplus of a million barrels a day during the emergency, the Texas news looms large, even after some discounting of the rosy representations. Since the capital risks will run into many millions, the Congress may have acted more wisely than it was credited with in turning a deaf ear to President Truman's proposal to reduce the favored income tax treatment, accorded producers as an encouragement to new drilling.

As for other sources of oil there is potentially an almost inexhaustible supply in the vast deposits of shale in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming, estimated in 1949 at 250,000,000,000 barrels as against the then known domestic underground reserves of 25,000,000,000 barrels. But the problem is one of extraction and refining with the methods of its solution still in the experimental stage.

How To Keep Well

Snatched From The Jaws Of Death

It is a tense moment when the heart of a patient stops beating in an operation. However, this once hopeless tragedy now is treated efficiently by the skillful cooperation of surgeon and anesthetist. Artificial respiration is started and stimulants are injected into the heart. If beating does not resume within a minute or two, an opening is made and the physician squeezes the organ rhythmically with his hand to stimulate normal contractions.

Many victims of this disaster have a perfectly normal heart but something happens in the administration of the anesthetic or the operation to modify its irritability or nutritional state. Sensitivity to the anesthetic or to the medicines given pior to the operation may be a factor. At any rate, when cardiac arrest occurs, there is a delicate balance between life and death.

Time is all important. When the heart stops pumping, tissues are deprived of oxygen and of nourishment. The nervous system, especially the brain, is most sensitive to starvation and if the circulation is interrupted for as short a time as 3½ minutes, permanent changes in psychic behavior may result. After 7½ minutes the outcome is complete dementia, blindness, and other abnormalities. Cases have been reported in which the heart stopped before the rhythm was re-established and damage was so extensive that few regained consciousness. The secret of success is to pump the organ mechanically so that the brain will receive some blood until the heart recovers. Artificial respiration and cardiac massage must be started within three to five minutes to protect the nervous system from permanent injury.

In the operating room the anesthetist keeps track of the pulse and if it disappears she informs the surgeon immediately. A tank of oxygen is available on her cart and she will turn it on and start mechanical respiration by rhythm compression of the rubber rebreathing bag at her side. The nurse meanwhile is preparing a syringe with epinephrine and if the heart is not stirred after the simpler maneuvers the chemical is injected into one of its chambers. Should this procedure fail, the abdomen is opened quickly and the physician passes his right hand under the diaphragm below the heart while the left hand is put on the chest wall over the cardiac area. Compression is started in a squeezing motion with the heart between the two hands. If there is no response after one minute, the diaphragm is opened and one hand is introduced into the chest cavity, the heart is grasped, and the contractions are continued. The feet are elevated to furnish additional blood and, because the lungs are being ventilated, oxygen laden blood is forced to the brain even though the heart does not contract automatically. There are variations in technic; some surgeons open the chest wall to get a better look at the heart. Occasionally the pumping apparatus resumes beating for a few moments and then stops and this may go on for sometime before normal rhythm is restored.

Emergencies of this type are rare. In one hospital over a 12-year period, for example, 69,880 anesthetics were administered with only 38 deaths. In another institution there were only six cases of cardiac arrest in 28,000 operations. This means that the operating room is safer than the sidewalk, considering the number of fatalities.

TOMORROW: Dr. Van Dellen describes detection methods in tuberculosis.

ABNORMAL SCARS

N. G. writes: Can anything be done about keloids that developed following surgery?

REPLY

Keloids represent abnormal scar formation and treatment is no different whether the lesions stem from surgery or lacerations. Unless they are unsightly it is better to let them alone. Surgery is the only cure, but there is a chance that another keloid will form as the wound heals. Now and then X-ray treatment over the area prevents recurrences.

MOTION SICKNESS

Mrs. R. writes: Our two-year-old always gets sick to his somach when we take him on an auto ride. Is there any way to prevent this?

REPLY

Yes. The preparations commonly used for seasickness also work in car sickness. Most children eventually overcome the tendency to suffer from motion sickness as they grow older.

NOT DIABETES

L. P. writes: Is albumin in the urine a forerunner of diabetes?

REPLY

No. In diabetes, the urine contains sugar and the main fault lies in the pancreas (lack of insulin), rather than in the kidneys.

LUNG DUST DISEASE

L. J. writes: Is silicosis curable?

REPLY

No, but many victims do not find the disease bothersome, hence the absence of a cure is not a handicap.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

The American Legion Is A Pressure Group; Our "Warmongering" Consists Of Fighting Communism; Legion Is A Fine Cross-Section Of America

(Ed. Note — While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by distinguished guest columnists, today's being by Erle Cocke, Jr., national commander of the American Legion.)

WASHINGTON — It's very seldom the American Legion gets the chance to tell its side of the story—the side some folks don't bother to determine.

Pressure group! Warmongers! Treasury raiders! Hoodlums.

We've been called all those names in our 33 years of life. But, as Al Smith used to say: "Let's look at the record."

Pressure group? To this one we plead guilty, all 4,000,000 Legionnaires and auxiliarians. We pressured into being the spending of $87,165,759.18, raised by our own efforts, to help the nation's needy children.

We organized more than 16,500 junior baseball teams — teams that gave supervised recreation with citizenship-training for more than 1,000,000 teen-age boys every summer.

We sponsored nearly 4,000 Boy Scout troops.

We created a Boys' State program through 18,000 selected high school students who "learn by doing" the way our government operates.

We conduct an annual national oratorical contest in which 350,000 high school students write essays on the Constitution and Bill of Rights.

Sure, we're a pressure group. Pressure against juvenile delinquency.

The vacationing Drew Pearson will know what it means to be called a "pressure" groupist. Throughout the years his pressure has caused fear and consternation in Fascist and Communist circles. And today his "friendship balloons" are piercing the iron curtain in Czechoslovakia—into the very heart of communism.

Warmongers?

No, but like our great secretary of defense, Gen. George C. Marshall, we admit pressurizing for preparedness. We authored the universal military training bill and hope to see a thoroughly integrated program become law before another year has passed. Of course the Kremlin has its own slant on "warmongering" and we are proud to be No. 1 on their warmonger list.

The American Legion has been a great and constant force, at home and abroad, for Godliness, for Christian philosophies, for moral backbone and for civic virtue. Perhaps some people call that warmongering.

It was the American Legion that brought to attention the Communist infiltration into our labor unions and farmer guilds. We exposed the Communist infiltration in our legal profession and in our courts. It was the Legion that exposed the way Communist teachers infiltrated our schools and we formed neighborhood groups of vigilant parents to defeat the Communist kiddie-klubs.

It was a commander of one of the 17,330 American Legion posts who started the longshoremen's refusal to load or unload Communist ships of supplies bound for Communist troops against our own soldiers.

Yes, we have fought communism with every means at our command and we intend to continue fighting communism until it no longer menaces the free world we live in.

For that we have been maligned "warmongers."

Authored GI Bill

Treasury raiders? No, but we do demand that wounded and disabled service men and women get fair treatment. We were the authors of the GI Bill of Rights which has provided higher education and vocational training for 7,500,000 veterans of World War II, the greatest stimulus to education in history. As a result you see no veterans of World War II selling apples on street corners.

Fair compensation for war wounds has always been our demand. Hospitalization and domiciliary care, yes. But in all fairness, is that Treasury raiding?

Hoodlums? There never has been a city that housed the national convention of the American Legion that has not asked us back again and again. Miami, our host city this year, has invited us to make Miami the perennial convention city and according to their editorial writers and those of other cities, American Legionnaires are the best behaved of any national convention.

And why not? After all, the American Legion is America. Certainly no one else has a finer cross-section of citizens as members. We are proud of our membership comprising the President; 25 state governors; 55 U. S. senators and 237 of the congressmen. Along with them we have industrialists, labor leaders, army, navy and air force commanders, doctors, lawyers, scientists, grocers, butchers, authors, publishers, engineers, mechanics, press and radio executives, sports celebrities, farmers, truck drivers, laborers, columnists and just about every other category known to our country.

Thrice we have been called upon to defend our country in war. Thrice we have given America victory over sinister forces. Thrice more shall we do the same if that is necessary.

We are proud that in the past two years we have collected and distributed more than 10,000,000 toys — distributed them to the underprivileged children of Europe and the Pacific.

We are proud that it was Legionnaire Drew Pearson who aided the American Legion in getting this program under way. We are proud that it was he and our past national commander, George Craig, who originated this program.

Extraordinary? Legionnaires think not. Just the normal efforts of the men and women who shouldered new convictions about the way American life should be, after they had shouldered arms.

That's the American Legion many of the general public do not know. That's the American Legion that has been called all those epithets over the years.

Pressure group? Treasury raiders? Warmongers? Hoodlums?

We rest our case and thank you, Drew Pearson.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—No more striking illustration of the ineptitude of the American government's psychologicial policies in the "cold war" could be given than in the start during the last few days of the so-called "fright treatment" toward Russia.

Beginning with the President's remarks at San Francisco about the "fantastic weapons" that are being fashioned, and continuing with the comments coming out of Congress about a hitherto unmentioned appropriation of $5,000,000,000 for new weapons, the obvious objective has been to terrorize Russia.

The idea itself—to manifest military prowess—is logical in a situation where physical force is supposed to be the only language the enemy can understand but it is plain that the fright campaign is not being directed where it ought to be, that is, at the Kremlin alone and not toward the Russian people.

Policy Failure

This results from a fundamental failure in American policy to declare the Kremlin the real enemy and to separate it from the Russian people very much after the fashion of the late President Wilson in the psychological warfare that was carried on by the White House and Department of State during World War I. It was made plain first when diplomatic relations were broken with the militaristic government of the Kaiser, and later, even when war broke out, that the fight was against the imperial German government and not the German people. This helped to shorten the war after America entered.

Today the mistakes of the government here in failing to break off diplomatic relations with the Russian government and to concentrate all propaganda against the Kremlin rather than the Russian people are readily appraised the moment one imagines oneself as a resident of Russia reading the American press dispatches. A Russian family is told in effect that the United States is preparing terrible weapons to destroy the Russian people. Every time the mention of weapons is made the Russian papers naturally reprint references to it with an accompanying propaganda accusing the United States of seeking war.

The Russian citizen is not informed that these weapons are intended solely for protection and reprisal in the event that the Kremlin starts a war. The Russian people are not told that while it is the intention of the United States to avoid war, this purpose can be accomplished more readily by the Russian people themselves in eliminating the evil men in the Kremlin. No word is going to the Russian people that the same billions now spent for armament will be spent in an extension of the Marshall plan and mutual assistance pact to aid the Russian people in liberating themselves from the yoke of the tyrants in Moscow.

For reasons that have never seemed persuasive the American government carries on an anti-Russian and anti-Communist campaign through the press and through "Voice of America" broadcasts but allows the impression to prevail through other official statements that it will negotiate and do business with that same group in the Kremlin at any time in the future. This is usually described as "holding the door open for peace." Yet it is plain that nobody in the American government —in Congress or in the executive departments — has the slightest faith in any agreement or treaty the Kremlin might negotiate.

Illogical Argument

The vague statement is often made here that some day the Kremlin will learn the error of its way or be frightened completely by the knowledge that fantastic American weapons are about to be produced and that an agreement with Moscow then will be made. That kind of argument is transparently illogical because it gives the Kremlin a chance to build up meanwhile among the Russian people a bitter sentiment against the United States and its allies. The Kremlin can point to American military preparations as aimed wholly at the Russian people. And until the people of the iron curtain countries are told directly that no such purpose is in the minds of the democracies they

These Days

Hidden Censorship

John T. Flynn is a sweet-mannered, soft-spoken Irishman with a violent sense of right. And he writes books when he is impelled to do so by moral indignation — a rare quality in these easy-going days. So, he wrote a book called "The Road Ahead," designed to warn the nation of what is actually now happening.

Karl Schriftgiesser used to work for "Newsweek." He has written a book entitled "The Lobbyists," with a chapter on Flynn's "The Road Ahead," with which I would not concern myself were it not that he includes therein a letter from Franklin D. Roosevelt to Dr. Wilbur Cross, then editor of the "Yale Review" — a letter which convicts Roosevelt of hidden censorship, of secretly interfering with the free publication of man's ideas.

The "Yale Review" apparently had published an article by Flynn, entitled "Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Roosevelt," — an article I had never seen. Roosevelt did not like Flynn's article; so he wrote a quiet, personal letter to Dr. Cross, which Schriftgiesser gives as follows:

"I love controversy — whether it be in literature, in economics, in sociology or in education. To us controversy is grand. You and I have reveled in it for many decades.

"But it is your concept and mine, I think, that controversy is not merely a question of pro and con in any field of human endeavor.

"Controversy, as I take it, concerns itself primarily with problems that call for answers. It is not controversy for one side to say in such a case, 'I propose the following solution of the problem'—and to have the other side say merely, 'I am opposed to that solution.' I have watched John T. Flynn during these many years and the net answer in my mind is that he has always, with practically no exception, been a destructive rather than a constructive force.

"Therefore, Q.E.D., John T. Flynn should be barred hereafter from the columns of any presentable daily paper, monthly magazine or national quarterly, such as the 'Yale Review.'

Yours for construction. . ."

The tricky line, Flynn has been ". . . a destructive rather than a constructive force," is as old as Adam. Those who agree are constructive; Those who disagree are destructive. Those in power always desire orthodoxy; that is, a subservient acceptance that what they do is right. That would make criticism of corruption in the RFC destructive, while praise of William M. Boyle, Dean Acheson, and the forgotten lady of the mink coat is constructive. It is a kind of intellectual harlotry from which we are suffering in which the word, democracy, becomes a religious symbol and the Bible may not be read in school in consonance with the Priest Amendment to the Constitution.

It is the same logic, or lack of it, that permits Averell Harriman to defend the Yalta agreement, although hundreds of millions of lives have been lost or enslaved because of it. It is constructive to speak well of Yalta in spite of its horrible consequences; it is destructive to demand an explanation for its lack of historic justice or moral value.

But Mr. Roosevelt goes further. He recommends that John T. Flynn "should be barred hereafter from the columns of any presentable daily paper, monthly magazine. . ." Mr. Roosevelt omitted the radio in this "off with his head" dictum.

Actually Mr. Roosevelt's censorship was enforced not only against Flynn but many conservative writers. The book review sections of the "New York Times," "The New York Herald Tribune," and "The Saturday Review of Literature" acted, for many years, as the principal hatchetmen in lessening the markability of conservative (that is, anti-New Deal) books.

Recently Mrs. Irene Corbally Kuhn and Ralph de Toledano have published thoroughgoing reports on the use of book reviews for partisanship. They tell an astonishing story. In the case of Flynn, although he had been a writer for more than a quarter of a century and had an excellent reputation both as a working newspaperman and an author, he could find no publisher for "The Road Ahead," until a firm of young publishers, Devin-Adair, took the book as it had taken George Morgenstern's "Pearl Harbor," the best book on the subject.

All these so-called liberals, who are constantly making so much noise about civil liberties and who extol Mr. Roosevelt as a libertarian, will need to justify such a letter as this one from the President of the United States to an editor. Since when is the President constitutionally a secret censor?

Matter Of Fact

Wallace's Report On China

WASHINGTON.

Customarily, this space does not present documents classified top secrets, no matter how idiotically. Today, however, it is given to the report on China to President Roosevelt by Henry A. Wallace, long famous—indeed allegedly infamous—but still officially locked away in the classified files.

As introduction, a few words are needed concerning the original circumstances of the Wallace report. It was written at Kunming and cabled from there to Washington in the late spring of 1944, at the close of Wallace's vice presidential tour of the Far East. Free China was then convulsed by the Japanese offensive in East China, which was so threatening that the American Army Headquarters at Chungking were actually making plans to evacuate the Generalissimo's wartime capital.

The report begins with an analysis of this crisis and its immediate and potential long range effects. Pointing out that a prolonged diet of heavy defeats might lead to the actual "disintegration of the Chungking regime" (as indicated by the American headquarters evacuation scheme), the report argues that this may "leave a vacuum" which will be "filled in ways you understand" —in short by the triumph of the Chinese Communists. This is proof, says the report, of "how serious" the situation has become.

There follows a friendly reference to Chiang Kai-Shek. At their parting, the Generalissimo had asked Wallace to request the President to name a "personal representative" at Chungking, who would serve as liaison between Chiang and Roosevelt as Gen. Sir Adrian Carton de Wiart served as liaison between Chiang and Winston Churchill.

Stilwell Unsuitable

The report transmits this request from Chiang with warm approbation. It remarks that Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, then theater commander in China-Burma-India, would be an unsuitable choice for the new assignment, since he did not "enjoy (Chiang's) confidence, because of his alleged inability to grasp political considerations." There follow the recommendations for action, which are the report's significant passages. Here is the verbatim text:

"Assignment (of the President's personal representative) should go to a man who can (1) establish himself in Chiang's confidence to a degree that the latter will accept his advice in regard to political as well as military action; (2) command all American forces in China, and (3) bring about full co-ordination between Chinese and American military efforts.

"Is is essential that he command American forces in China because without this his efforts will have no substance. He may even be Stilwell's deputy with a right to deal directly with the White House on political questions; or China may be separated from General Stilwell's present command. Without the appointment of such a representative you may expect the situation here to drift continuously from bad to worse. I believe a representative should be appointed and reach Chungking before East China is finally lost, so that he can asume control of the situation before it degenerates too far. . . .

"While I do not feel competent to propose an officer for the job, the name of Gen. Wedemeyer has been recommended to me, and I am told that during his visit here he made himself persona grata to Chiang."

Such was the Wallace report from China. There are two points to note about it. First, it seems in the long run to have influenced President Roosevelt. At any rate, that Summer Maj. Gen. Patrick Hurley was sent to Chungking in the capacity suggested by Wallace, as the President's "personal representative"; and that fall, when Gen. Stilwell was finally removed from command, the man chosen to succeed him was Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, also suggested by Wallace.

Interesting Implications

Second, however, in the present climate of our politics, the implications of this Wallace report from China are vastly more interesting than its effects. When Wallace cabled so urgently from Kunming, Gen. Stilwell was obstinately refusing to take any serious counter-measures against the Japanese offensive in East China. He was actually planning to take advantage of the Generalissimo's weakness, resulting from the East China defeats, in order to force Chiang Kai-shek to grant him unlimited authority over all military forces in China and all distribution of American aid within China. And when he gained this authority, Stilwell already intended to inaugurate a new policy of lavishing American military equipment upon the Chinese Communists.

If Stilwell had gained these ends, there can be no doubt whatever that the Chinese Communists would have come to full power in China before the end of the war. And if President Roosevelt had acted more promptly on Wallace's recommendations, superceding Stilwell and sending Gen. Wedemeyer to China immediately to contain and partly prevent the fearful Chinese Nationalist losses of that summer, Chiang Kai-shek would probably be ruling China today.

In short, surprising as it may seem in view of Henry Wallace's latest vagaries, this much whispered about, never before published Wallace report on China was one of the really striking and decisive anti-Communists acts of the war period. As such, it is so important a commentary on current attempts to reconstruct the history of our American policy in China, that the subject must be pursued further in subsequent reports.

"This Was America"

To tumultuous applause vaudevillians used to sing:

It isn't what you used to be;
It's what you are today!

Which is nonsense, deriding the fact that existence is continuity, as though the mind did not persist in harking back nostalgically to days long past.

That is why there is every reason to believe that the photographic exhibit portraying in 125 of the choicest prints something of the social history of the last 70 years should send thousands to the Museum of Modern Art in New York, where they will be on display until mid-October.

Through history, excerpts from biography and recalled discussions by parents and grandparents, we may feel we have a fair idea of what happened in this land of ours. However, when it becomes a question of visualizing it, we throw up our hands.

But photography is and has been a priceless boon. These prints on display were dug up in a seven years' search in the Library of Congress from among half a million and selected as characteristic of bygone days.

Some are of disaster, some of persons, like John L. Sullivan, Julia Marlowe and Julia Ward Howe, who were favorites of Americans of their day. Others are of scenes throughout the country, some in New York. The last include the landing in 1880 of the Central Park obelisk, "Cleopatra's Needle," at the Hudson River and 96th Street, with not a building in sight.

Another scene is of the Bowery back in 1896, with a steam locomotive pulling an elevated train. Shown, too, are what were almost institutions, fortunately passed, like the feuding of the Hatfields and McCoys.

The educational value of such an exhibit, limited only to 125 prints most carefully selected, in illustrating our growth and folkways is great. It is known as "Forgotten Photographers." It should not be broken up in October, but transported to city after city, for its proper title is "This Was America."

These pictures as a nucleus, supplemented by other photographs, privately owned, that may come out of hiding, should be permanently assembled. What teenager today would believe that women's skirts for street use in the 1880s had two-inch trains? The worthwhileness of these pictures filmed for school use should be appraised now, before it is too late.

Atomic Energy Afloat

The Navy cannot be accused of being loquacious about its projected nuclear-powered submarine. In its first official pronouncement the Navy wrapped it up in one sentence, leaving its public relations spokesmen to sweat out the flanking attacks of a news hungry press.

Actually, the terse announcement of award of a contract for the submarine's hull was confirmation that the theorizing stage was over and that the actual hammering and sawing was about to begin.

It also emphasizes that America has stepped past the threshold of the true "atomic age." The implication is that one of the two parallel efforts to construct a propulsion unit for a seagoing hull has met success, or come so close that scientists feel it is time to get on with the remainder of the project.

Encouraging news is forthcoming on another project, the atomic-powered plane. Both AEC Chairman Gordon Dean and General Vandenberg of the Air Force have said that success along these lines is much closer than people might imagine.

It is of the utmost urgency that efforts toward harnessing atomic energy for propulsion should be aimed at military applications at this time. Success in launching and operating a nuclear-powered submarine would give this country an untold strategic advantage over Russia or any other enemy. Comparable success along the lines of ordnance weapons and atom-powered flight should eliminate all fear of an armed stalemate.

The marvelous possibilities which the enslavement of the atom offers in the form of better living are thus temporarily subordinated. But the nuclear plant that might drive a submarine at terrific speeds for long periods of time might be easily converted for use in, say, an ocean liner, or in a plant which could be set to distilling sea water to irrigate western deserts. That's the most encouraging aspect of all.

The Search For Oil

Recurrent predictions of the near exhaustion of domestic oil resources are made. Yet additional pools are constantly uncovered. An intensified drilling program recently in North Dakota and Wyoming has opened up substantial new sources. But the latest "discovery" according to Texas Railroad Commission evidence, is that oil deposits in the western section of that state may prove to be the greatest find in the United States in the last 20 years.

This possibility is predicted upon the extent of the area involved, embracing from 700,000 to 1,000,000 acres as compared with that fabulous East Texas field of 133,000 acres. But how near the yield per acre of the new field will come to that of the old field is still to be established, though witnesses are reported to have agreed that there was no other known reserve where as much oil could be made available as quickly and cheaply.

With the Petroleum Administration for Defense still far from its goal of a daily surplus of a million barrels a day during the emergency, the Texas news looms large, even after some discounting of the rosy representations. Since the capital risks will run into many millions, the Congress may have acted more wisely than it was credited with in turning a deaf ear to President Truman's proposal to reduce the favored income tax treatment, accorded producers as an encouragement to new drilling.

As for other sources of oil there is potentially an almost inexhaustible supply in the vast deposits of shale in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming, estimated in 1949 at 250,000,000,000 barrels as against the then known domestic underground reserves of 25,000,000,000 barrels. But the problem is one of extraction and refining with the methods of its solution still in the experimental stage.

Time is all important. When the heart stops pumping, tissues are deprived of oxygen and of nourishment. The nervous system, especially the brain, is most sensitive to starvation and if the circulation is interrupted for as short a time as 3½ minutes, permanent changes in psychic behavior may result. After 7½ minutes the outcome is complete dementia, blindness, and other abnormalities. Cases have been reported in which the heart stopped before the rhythm was re-established and damage was so extensive that few regained consciousness. The secret of success is to pump the organ mechanically so that the brain will receive some blood until the heart recovers. Artificial respiration and cardiac massage must be started within three to five minutes to protect the nervous system from permanent injury.

In the operating room the anesthetist keeps track of the pulse and if it disappears she informs the surgeon immediately. A tank of oxygen is available on her cart and she will turn it on and start mechanical respiration by rhythm compression of the rubber rebreathing bag at her side. The nurse meanwhile is preparing a syringe with epinephrine and if the heart is not stirred after the simpler maneuvers the chemical is injected into one of its chambers. Should this procedure fail, the abdomen is opened quickly and the physician passes his right hand under the diaphragm below the heart while the left hand is put on the chest wall over the cardiac area. Compression is started in a squeezing motion with the heart between the two hands. If there is no response after one minute, the diaphragm is opened and one hand is introduced into the chest cavity, the heart is grasped, and the contractions are continued. The feet are elevated to furnish additional blood and, because the lungs are being ventilated, oxygen laden blood is forced to the brain even though the heart does not contract automatically. There are variations in technic; some surgeons open the chest wall to get a better look at the heart. Occasionally the pumping apparatus resumes beating for a few moments and then stops and this may go on for sometime before normal rhythm is restored.

Emergencies of this type are rare. In one hospital over a 12-year period, for example, 89,880 anesthetics were administered with only 38 deaths. In another institution there were only six cases of cardiac arrest in 28,000 operations. This means that the operating room is safer than the sidewalk, considering the number of fatalities.

ABNORMAL SCARS

N. G. writes: Can anything be done about keloids that developed following surgery?

REPLY

Keloids represent abnormal scar formation and treatment is no different whether the lesions stem from surgery or lacerations. Unless they are unsightly it is better to let them alone. Surgery is the only cure, but there is a chance that another keloid will form as the wound heals. Now and then X-ray treatment over the area prevents recurrences.

MOTION SICKNESS

Mrs. R. writes: Our two-year-old always gets sick to his somach when we take him on an auto ride. Is there any way to prevent this?

REPLY

Yes. The preparations commonly used for seasickness also work in car sickness. Most children eventually overcome the tendency to suffer from motion sickness as they grow older.

NOT DIABETES

L. P. writes: Is albumin in the urine a forerunner of diabetes?

REPLY

No. In diabetes, the urine contains sugar and the main fault lies in the pancreas (lack of insulin), rather than in the kidneys.

LUNG DUST DISEASE

L. J. writes: Is silicosis curable?

REPLY

No, but many victims do not find the disease bothersome, hence the absence of a cure is not a handicap.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

The American Legion Is A Pressure Group; Our "Warmongering" Consists Of Fighting Communism; Legion Is A Fine Cross-Section Of America

(Ed. Note — While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by distinguished guest columnists, today's being by Erle Cocke, Jr., national commander of the American Legion.)

WASHINGTON — It's very seldom the American Legion gets the chance to tell its side of the story—the side some folks don't bother to determine.

Pressure group! Warmongers! Treasury raiders! Hoodlums.

We've been called all those names in our 33 years of life. But, as Al Smith used to say: "Let's look at the record."

Pressure group? To this one we plead guilty, all 4,000,000 Legionnaires and auxiliarians. We pressured into being the spending of $87,165,759.18, raised by our own efforts, to help the nation's needy children.

We organized more than 16,500 junior baseball teams — teams that gave supervised recreation with citizenship-training for more than 1,000,000 teen-age boys every summer.

We sponsored nearly 4,000 Boy Scout troops.

We created a Boys' State program through 18,000 selected high school students who "learn by doing" the way our government operates.

We conduct an annual national oratorical contest in which 350,000 high school students write essays on the Constitution and Bill of Rights.

Sure, we're a pressure group. Pressure against juvenile delinquency.

The vacationing Drew Pearson will know what it means to be called a "pressure" groupist. Throughout the years his pressure has caused fear and consternation in Fascist and Communist circles. And today his "friendship balloons" are piercing the iron curtain in Czechoslovakia—into the very heart of communism.

Warmongers?

No, but like our great secretary of defense, Gen. George C. Marshall, we admit pressurizing for preparedness. We authored the universal military training bill and hope to see a thoroughly integrated program become law before another year has passed. Of course the Kremlin has its own slant on "warmongering" and we are proud to be No. 1 on their warmonger list.

The American Legion has been a great and constant force, at home and abroad, for Godliness, for Christian philosophies, for moral backbone and for civic virtue. Perhaps some people call that warmongering.

It was the American Legion that brought to attention the Communist infiltration into our labor unions and farmer guilds. We exposed the Communist infiltration in our legal profession and in our courts. It was the Legion that exposed the way Communist teachers infiltrated our schools and we formed neighborhood groups of vigilant parents to defeat the Communist kiddie-klubs.

It was a commander of one of the 17,330 American Legion posts who started the longshoremen's refusal to load or unload Communist ships of supplies bound for Communist troops against our own soldiers.

Yes, we have fought communism with every means at our command and we intend to continue fighting communism until it no longer menaces the free world we live in.

For that we have been maligned "warmongers."

Authored GI Bill

Treasury raiders? No, but we do demand that wounded and disabled service men and women get fair treatment. We were the authors of the GI Bill of Rights which has provided higher education and vocational training for 7,500,000 veterans of World War II, the greatest stimulus to education in history. As a result you see no veterans of World War II selling apples on street corners.

Fair compensation for war wounds has always been our demand. Hospitalization and domiciliary care, yes. But in all fairness, is that Treasury raiding?

Hoodlums? There never has been a city that housed the national convention of the American Legion that has not asked us back again and again. Miami, our host city this year, has invited us to make Miami the perennial convention city and according to their editorial writers and those of other cities, American Legionnaires are the best behaved of any national convention.

And why not? After all, the American Legion is America. Certainly no one else has a finer cross-section of citizens as members. We are proud of our membership comprising the President; 25 state governors; 55 U. S. senators and 237 of the congressmen. Along with them we have industrialists, labor leaders, army, navy and air force commanders, doctors, lawyers, scientists, grocers, butchers, authors, publishers, engineers, mechanics, press and radio executives, sports celebrities, farmers, truck drivers, laborers, columnists and just about every other category known to our country.

Thrice we have been called upon to defend our country in war. Thrice we have given America victory over sinister forces. Thrice more shall we do the same if that is necessary.

We are proud that in the past two years we have collected and distributed more than 10,000,000 toys — distributed them to the underprivileged children of Europe and the Pacific.

We are proud that it was Legionnaire Drew Pearson who aided the American Legion in getting this program under way. We are proud that it was he and our past national commander, George Craig, who originated this program.

Extraordinary? Legionnaires think not. Just the normal efforts of the men and women who shouldered new convictions about the way American life should be, after they had shouldered arms.

That's the American Legion many of the general public do not know. That's the American Legion that has been called all those epithets over the years.

Pressure group? Treasury raiders? Warmongers? Hoodlums?

We rest our case and thank you, Drew Pearson.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—No more striking illustration of the ineptitude of the American government's psychologicial policies in the "cold war" could be given than in the start during the last few days of the so-called "fright treatment" toward Russia.

Beginning with the President's remarks at San Francisco about the "fantastic weapons" that are being fashioned, and continuing with the comments coming out of Congress about a hitherto unmentioned appropriation of $5,000,000,000 for new weapons, the obvious objective has been to terrorize Russia.

The idea itself—to manifest military prowess—is logical in a situation where physical force is supposed to be the only language the enemy can understand but it is plain that the fright campaign is not being directed where it ought to be, that is, at the Kremlin alone and not toward the Russian people.

Policy Failure

This results from a fundamental failure in American policy to declare the Kremlin the real enemy and to separate it from the Russian people very much after the fashion of the late President Wilson in the psychological warfare that was carried on by the White House and Department of State during World War I. It was made plain first when diplomatic relations were broken with the militaristic government of the Kaiser, and later, even when war broke out, that the fight was against the imperial German government and not the German people. This helped to shorten the war after America entered.

Today the mistakes of the government here in failing to break off diplomatic relations with the Russian government and to concentrate all propaganda against the Kremlin rather than the Russian people are readily appraised the moment one imagines oneself as a resident of Russia reading the American press dispatches. A Russian family is told in effect that the United States is preparing terrible weapons to destroy the Russian people. Every time the mention of weapons is made the Russian papers naturally reprint references to it with an accompanying propaganda accusing the United States of seeking war.

The Russian citizen is not informed that these weapons are intended solely for protection and reprisal in the event that the Kremlin starts a war. The Russian people are not told that while it is the intention of the United States to avoid war, this purpose can be accomplished more readily by the Russian people themselves in eliminating the evil men in the Kremlin. No word is going to the Russian people that the same billions now spent for armament will be spent in an extension of the Marshall plan and mutual assistance pact to aid the Russian people in liberating themselves from the yoke of the tyrants in Moscow.

For reasons that have never seemed persuasive the American government carries on an anti-Russian and anti-Communist campaign through the press and through "Voice of America" broadcasts but allows the impression to prevail through other official statements that it will negotiate and do business with that same group in the Kremlin at any time in the future. This is usually described as "holding the door open for peace." Yet it is plain that nobody in the American government —in Congress or in the executive departments — has the slightest faith in any agreement or treaty the Kremlin might negotiate.

Illogical Argument

The vague statement is often made here that some day the Kremlin will learn the error of its way or be frightened completely by the knowledge that fantastic American weapons are about to be produced and that an agreement with Moscow then will be made. That kind of argument is transparently illogical because it gives the Kremlin a chance to build up meanwhile among the Russian people a bitter sentiment against the United States and its allies. The Kremlin can point to American military preparations as aimed wholly at the Russian people. And until the people of the iron curtain countries are told directly that no such purpose is in the minds of the democracies they

These Days

Hidden Censorship

John T. Flynn is a sweet-mannered, soft-spoken Irishman with a violent sense of right. And he writes books when he is impelled to do so by moral indignation — a rare quality in these easy-going days. So, he wrote a book called "The Road Ahead," designed to warn the nation of what is actually now happening.

Karl Schriftgiesser used to work for "Newsweek." He has written a book entitled "The Lobbyists," with a chapter on Flynn's "The Road Ahead," with which I would not concern myself were it not that he includes therein a letter from Franklin D. Roosevelt to Dr. Wilbur Cross, then editor of the "Yale Review" — a letter which convicts Roosevelt of hidden censorship, of secretly interfering with the free publication of man's ideas.

The "Yale Review" apparently had published an article by Flynn, entitled "Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Roosevelt," — an article I had never seen. Roosevelt did not like Flynn's article; so he wrote a quiet, personal letter to Dr. Cross, which Schriftgiesser gives as follows:

"I love controversy — whether it be in literature, in economics, in sociology or in education. To us controversy is grand. You and I have reveled in it for many decades.

"But it is your concept and mine, I think, that controversy is not merely a question of pro and con in any field of human endeavor.

"Controversy, as I take it, concerns itself primarily with problems that call for answers. It is not controversy for one side to say in such a case, 'I propose the following solution of the problem'—and to have the other side say merely, 'I am opposed to that solution.' I have watched John T. Flynn during these many years and the net answer in my mind is that he has always, with practically no exception, been a destructive rather than a constructive force.

"Therefore, Q.E.D., John T. Flynn should be barred hereafter from the columns of any presentable daily paper, monthly magazine or national quarterly, such as the 'Yale Review.'

Yours for construction. . ."

The tricky line, Flynn has been ". . . a destructive rather than a constructive force," is as old as Adam. Those who agree are constructive; Those who disagree are destructive. Those in power always desire orthodoxy; that is, a subservient acceptance that what they do is right. That would make criticism of corruption in the RFC destructive, while praise of William M. Boyle, Dean Acheson, and the forgotten lady of the mink coat is constructive. It is a kind of intellectual hariotry from which we are suffering in which the word, democracy, becomes a religious symbol and the Bible may not be read in school in consonance with the Priest Amendment to the Constitution.

It is the same logic, or lack of it, that permits Averell Harriman to defend the Yalta agreement, although hundreds of millions of lives have been lost or enslaved because of it. It is constructive to speak well of Yalta in spite of its horrible consequences; it is destructive to demand an explanation for its lack of historic justice or moral value.

But Mr. Roosevelt goes further. He recommends that John T. Flynn "should be barred hereafter from the columns of any presentable daily paper, monthly magazine. . ." Mr. Roosevelt omitted the radio in this "off with his head" dictum.

Actually Mr. Roosevelt's censorship was enforced not only against Flynn but many conservative writers. The book review sections of the "New York Times," "The New York Herald Tribune," and "The Saturday Review of Literature" acted, for many years, as the principal hatchetmen in lessening the marketability of conservative (that is, anti-New Deal) books.

Recently Mrs. Irene Corbally Kuhn and Ralph de Toledano have published thoroughgoing reports on the use of book reviews for partisanship. They tell an astonishing story. In the case of Flynn, although he had been a writer for more than a quarter of a century and had an excellent reputation both as a working newspaperman and an author, he could find no publisher for "The Road Ahead," until a firm of young publishers, Devin-Adair, took the book as it had taken George Morgenstern's "Pearl Harbor," the best book on the subject.

All these so-called liberals, who are constantly making so much noise about civil liberties and who extol Mr. Roosevelt as a libertarian, will need to justify such a letter as this one from the President of the United States to an editor. Since when is the President constitutionally a secret censor?

Wallace's Report On China

WASHINGTON.

Customarily, this space does not present documents classified top secrets, no matter how idiotically. Today, however, it is given to the report on China to President Roosevelt by Henry A. Wallace, long famous—indeed allegedly infamous—but still officially locked away in the classified files.

As introduction, a few words are needed concerning the original circumstances of the Wallace report. It was written at Kunming and cabled from there to Washington in the late spring of 1944, at the close of Wallace's vice presidential tour of the Far East. Free China was then convulsed by the Japanese offensive in East China, which was so threatening that the American Army Headquarters at Chungking were actually making plans to evacuate the Generalissimo's wartime capital.

The report begins with an analysis of this crisis and its immediate and potential long range effects. Pointing out that a prolonged diet of heavy defeats might lead to the actual "disintegration of the Chungking regime" (as indicated by the American headquarters evacuation scheme), the report argues that this may "leave a vacuum" which will be "filled in ways you understand" —in short by the triumph of the Chinese Communists. This is proof, says the report, of "how serious" the situation has become.

There follows a friendly reference to Chiang Kai-Shek. At their parting, the Generalissimo had asked Wallace to request the President to name a "personal representative" at Chungking, who would serve as liaison between Chiang and Roosevelt as Gen. Sir Adrian Carton de Wiart served as liaison between Chiang and Winston Churchill.

Stilwell Unsuitable

The report transmits this request from Chiang with warm approbation. It remarks that Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, then theater commander in China-Burma-India, would be an unsuitable choice for the new assignment, since he did not "enjoy (Chiang's) confidence, because of his alleged inability to grasp political considerations." There follow the recommendations for action, which are the report's significant passages. Here is the verbatim text:

"Assignment (of the President's personal representative) should go to a man who can (1) establish himself in Chiang's confidence to a degree that the latter will accept his advice in regard to political as well as military action; (2) command all American forces in China, and (3) bring about full co-ordination between Chinese and American military efforts.

"Is is essential that he command American forces in China because without this his efforts will have no substance. He may even be Stilwell's deputy with a right to deal directly with the White House on political questions; or China may be separated from General Stilwell's present command. Without the appointment of such a representative you may expect the situation here to drift continuously from bad to worse. I believe a representative should be appointed and reach Chungking before East China is finally lost, so that he can asume control of the situation before it degenerates too far. . . .

"While I do not feel competent to propose an officer for the job, the name of Gen. Wedemeyer has been recommended to me, and I am told that during his visit here he made himself persona grata to Chiang."

Such was the Wallace report from China. There are two points to note about it. First, it seems in the long run to have influenced President Roosevelt. At any rate, that Summer Maj. Gen. Patrick Hurley was sent to Chungking in the capacity suggested by Wallace, as the President's "personal representative"; and that fall, when Gen. Stilwell was finally removed from command, the man chosen to succeed him was Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, also suggested by Wallace.

Interesting Implications

Second, however, in the present climate of our politics, the implications of this Wallace report from China are vastly more interesting than its effects. When Wallace cabled so urgently from Kunming, Gen. Stilwell was obstinately refusing to take any serious counter-measures against the Japanese offensive in East China. He was actually planning to take advantage of the Generalissimo's weakness, resulting from the East China defeats, in order to force Chiang Kai-shek to grant him unlimited authority over all military forces in China and all distribution of American aid within China. And when he gained this authority, Stilwell already intended to inaugurate a new policy of lavishing American military equipment upon the Chinese Communists.

If Stilwell had gained these ends, there can be no doubt whatever that the Chinese Communists would have come to full power in China before the end of the war. And if President Roosevelt had acted more promptly on Wallace's recommendations, superceding Stilwell and sending Gen. Wedemeyer to China immediately to contain and partly prevent the fearful Chinese Nationalist losses of that summer, Chiang Kai-shek would probably be ruling China today.

In short, surprising as it may seem in view of Henry Wallace's latest vagaries, this much whispered about, never before published Wallace report on China was one of the really striking and decisive anti-Communists acts of the war period. As such, it is so important a commentary on current attempts to reconstruct the history of our American policy in China, that the subject must be pursued further in subsequent reports.

Richard Pettit Is Killed When Car Hits Truck

A 19-year-old LaSalle High School graduate was killed instantly about 8 a. m. yesterday when his car crashed against the rear of a truck on Route 40, two miles east of Grantsville.

State Police identified the fatality victim as Richard Johnson Pettit, son of Howard L. and Marion Murphy Pettit, Grantsville, formerly of Frostburg. Death was attributed to a crushed chest and skull fracture.

Trooper Glen D. Folk reported Pettit's car hit a truck operated by Donald Truly, 18, of 30 McCulloh Street, Frostburg, who escaped injury. Both vehicles were traveling east.

The victim's father said young Pettit had spent the weekend at home and was returning to work at the Lustine-Nickelson Garage in Washington. He believes his son, riding alone, apparently was blinded by the sun, he added.

Born in Ellicottville, N. Y., Pettit and his family moved to Frostburg in 1941 and went to Grantsville three years ago. He attended Grantsville High School before graduating from LaSalle last year.

Surviving, besides his parents, are two brothers, James B. Pettit, Mt. Rainier, and John Pettit, serving with the U. S. Army in Turkey.

The body is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fahey, Grantsville, where the rosary will be recited tonight.

The body will be taken to Ellicottville on Wednesday for services and burial Friday.

Eagles Pass Resolution Barring Commie Press

Cumberland Aerie No. 245, F. O. Eagles, Saturday sent letters to Sen. Herbert R. O'Conor, Rep. J. Glenn Beall and State Senator Robert B. Kimble urging that all Soviet and satellite nation correspondents be barred from dealings with our government until such time as the Czechoslovak-Communist dominated government releases William N. Oatis, Associated Press correspondent, from prison.

Oatis is serving a 10-year prison sentence in a Czech penal institution on a charge of "espionage."

Herman L. Myers, secretary of the local Aerie, said the Cumberland organization has passed a resolution to that effect and copies of it will be sent to government officials in Washington.

Long Quits Post At Fire Department

Victor G. Long, a member of the Cumberland Fire Department almost ten years, is resigning to accept employment in Washington.

Cumberland Legion Post To Honor Dr. Murray

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, will honor Dr. F. A. G. Murray, of LaVale, at the meeting this evening at the post home on Harrison Street, according to Thomas B. Finan, commander.

It will be known as "Dr. Murray Night" and following testimonials to the physician, the oldest living member of the post, refreshments will be served.

Dr. Murray served with the Army Medical Corps during World War I overseas. He held the rank of major.

County Timber Shows Profit

Private timber owners in Allegany County realized $182,000 from sales of wood products last year, thanks to a co-operative woodland management program of the Department of State Forests and Parks.

District Forester William H. Johnson said 72 county timbermen took advantage of the program last year.

Each year, experts from the state agency mark timber for cutting at the request of the owners. Last year, 7,838 acres of woodland were checked and 969,000 board feet of timber was marked for cutting from 443 acres. In addition, 67 cords of pulpwood were marked.

Johnson explained that the program, which has been in effect here for several years, enables timber owners to improve their forests and to solve marketing problems.

He said a similar program for Garrett County is being prepared. The service is free.

More Support For Hoey Read To City Council

Additional support for Edmund F. Hoey as city recreation director was received by the Mayor and Council yesterday in the form of letters from the North End Playground Association, Cumberland Outdoor Club and the Lions Club.

The Lions letter, signed by Clement C. May, secretary, points out that Hoey was given a unanimous vote of confidence at a meeting of the board of directors of that organization. It further asks Hoey to reconsider the resignation he submitted two weeks ago.

The North End letter, signed by Association President Ralph A. Knieriem, and the Outdoor Club communication, signed by Recording Secretary Lee R. Fuller, both praised Hoey for the progress that has been made in recreation in Cumberland and asked the council to do everything in its power to retain him.

The council voted to forward all letters received in behalf of Hoey to the City Recreation Board.

Report On Garrett Gas Well Output Given By Operators

Garrett county gas well operators report a total of 62 wells are being worked, with 21 of them actually producing about 19,000,000 cubic feet a day.

Twenty-five wells are in the process of being drilled, 11 are being set up in preparation for drilling, while five dry holes are reported.

The gas is being sold at 20 cents per thousand cubic feet and at this rate there is $3,800 daily income.

This means $475 to the owners of the ground and $3,325 for the drilling companies or contractors.

With a seven per cent tax placed by the county on production, a total of $97,000 would be realized in a year's time providing the 19,000,000 cubic feet daily output continues.

The state has requested the Garrett County commissioners for statistics on the income from the new industry.

The bill passed in the General Assembly this spring provides that the first $50,000 would go toward liquidating the county's school building debt and the next $25,000 for maintaining the Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The remainder is to go into a school repair fund.

Before the county takes its share, 12 per cent of the tax collections from the wells must go to the incorporated communities in which they are located.

The major producing wells are: McKee, 4,000,000 cubic feet daily; N. K. Welch, 3,500,000; Mt. Lake Auditorium, 2,000,000; George Harvey, 2,000,000; Will White, Loch Lynn, 1,500,000, and Dawson, 1,000,000. Most of those are located in the Mountain Lake Park area.

County Timber Shows Profit

Private timber owners in Allegany County realized $182,000 from sales of wood products last year, thanks to a co-operative woodland management program of the Department of State Forests and Parks.

District Forester William H. Johnson said 72 county timbermen took advantage of the program last year.

Each year, experts from the state agency mark timber for cutting at the request of the owners. Last year, 7,838 acres of woodland were checked and 969,000 board feet of timber was marked for cutting from 443 acres. In addition, 67 cords of pulpwood were marked.

Johnson explained that the program, which has been in effect here for several years, enables timber owners to improve their forests and to solve marketing problems.

He said a similar program for Garrett County is being prepared. The service is free.

More Support For Hoey Read To City Council

Additional support for Edmund F. Hoey as city recreation director was received by the Mayor and Council yesterday in the form of letters from the North End Playground Association, Cumberland Outdoor Club and the Lions Club.

The Lions letter, signed by Clement C. May, secretary, points out that Hoey was given a unanimous vote of confidence at a meeting of the board of directors of that organization. It further asks Hoey to reconsider the resignation he submitted two weeks ago.

The North End letter, signed by Association President Ralph A. Knieriem, and the Outdoor Club communication, signed by Recording Secretary Lee R. Fuller, both praised Hoey for the progress that has been made in recreation in Cumberland and asked the council to do everything in its power to retain him.

The council voted to forward all letters received in behalf of Hoey to the City Recreation Board.

Report On Garrett Gas Well Output Given By Operators

Garrett county gas well operators report a total of 62 wells are being worked, with 21 of them actually producing about 19,000,000 cubic feet a day.

Twenty-five wells are in the process of being drilled, 11 are being set up in preparation for drilling, while five dry holes are reported.

The gas is being sold at 20 cents per thousand cubic feet and at this rate there is $3,800 daily income.

This means $475 to the owners of the ground and $3,325 for the drilling companies or contractors.

With a seven per cent tax placed by the county on production, a total of $97,000 would be realized in a year's time providing the 19,000,000 cubic feet daily output continues.

The state has requested the Garrett County commissioners for statistics on the income from the new industry.

The bill passed in the General Assembly this spring provides that the first $50,000 would go toward liquidating the county's school building debt and the next $25,000 for maintaining the Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The remainder is to go into a school repair fund.

Before the county takes its share, 12 per cent of the tax collections from the wells must go to the incorporated communities in which they are located.

The major producing wells are: McKee, 4,000,000 cubic feet daily; N. K. Welch, 3,500,000; Mt. Lake Auditorium, 2,000,000; George Harvey, 2,000,000; Will White, Loch Lynn, 1,500,000, and Dawson, 1,000,000. Most of those are located in the Mountain Lake Park area.

Harry Skiles Named Laundry Manager At State Hospital

Harry E. Skiles, this city, has been appointed laundry supervisor at Deer's Head State Hospital, Salisbury, Md.

The Salisbury institution is the first unit of three to be constructed for the care of indigent chronic disease patients in Maryland. It was opened two years ago and is operated under the supervision of the Division of Hospital Construction Administration and the Bureau of Medical Services of the State Department of Health. The capacity of the hospital is 300 beds.

Skiles has been holding a similar position at a Veterans' Administration hospital in Erie, Pa., for almost a year.

A veteran of World War II, with a long period of overseas combat duty with an anti-aircraft outfit, Skiles was formerly associated in the Mayfair Laundry with his brothers, Weldon and Ross.

Ross, a former linotype operator at the Times-News, is laundry supervisor at the Maryland State Training School for Boys at Owings Mills. Weldon continues to operate the laundry here.

Ross and Weldon are also veterans of World War II. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Skiles, former residents, now living in Mount Pleasant, Pa.

Harry is to take over his duties at Deer's Head October 1.

City Renews Airport Lease With Mullenax

The Mayor and Council by unanimous vote yesterday agreed to terms provided in the lease of the Cumberland Airport to Warren R. Mullenax.

The lease, for a year's duration, is retroactive to March, 1951, and expires next February 28. Acceptance of the lease by the city was held up pending the working out of several details.

Under the terms, Mullenax will pay an annual rental of $1,500, to be paid in monthly installments of $125 each. Previously, the rental was $1,025, but under the new contract, the city will pay all types of insurance at the airport.

The new lease also provides that the city shall have the right to erect hangars, runways or make other improvements at the airport or permit the erection of others during the term. In the event the city enters into any agreements with other persons, firms or corporations whereby the city is reimbursed for expenditures, all money shall be paid to the city. No abatement or dimunition of rental will be permitted while improvements are being made.

The Airport Commission recommended acceptance of the lease to the council.

Gas Company Requests Suits Be Taken To Federal Court

Petitions were filed yesterday in U. S. Federal Court in Baltimore in which the C. and A. Gas Company requests that damage suits in the amount of $350,000 against it be removed from Circuit Court here to the federal jurisdiction.

James Alfred Avirett, local attorney, made arrangements at the Court House yesterday to have the papers and other necessary data sent from court here to the federal court at Baltimore.

The other attorneys for the gas company are John W. Avirett, 2nd, and the law firm of Piper, Watkins, Avirett and Egerton, of Baltimore.

The local attorney explained that the removal to federal court is being requested due to the diversity of the residency of the parties involved. The C. and A. Gas Company is a West Virginia chartered firm, the insurance companies involved are located in New England and Sol S. Glickman, whose home was wrecked by an explosion and fire at Bowling Green, is a resident of Maryland.

Three suits were docketed by William C. Walsh and Thomas B. Finan, attorneys for the Glickman family, and the insurance companies are represented by the local law firm of Cobey, Carscaden and Gilchrist.

Listed as plaintiffs are Sol Glickman, who asks for damages of $150,000; his wife and son, who asked for damages of $10,000 each, for burns which they charge disfigured and scarred them permanently. Also the Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society, Ltd., and the Home Insurance Company are asking $12,000 from the gas company, stating in the declaration they paid the Glickman's that amount for the loss of their home.

Court attaches said this is believed to be the first instance of a local case being petitioned for removal to federal court. The method formerly used was to ask the Circuit Court here to allow removal, but in the new procedure the petition is made direct to the federal judiciary.

Long Reports 823 Arrests In August

The police report submitteed to the Mayor and Council yesterday by Commissioner John J. Long shows that 823 arrests were made last month and fines collected totalling $1,465.

There were 50 fire calls during August with only minor damage except for an old Taylor Tinplate Company building gutted by a blaze and a property on Mary Street.

The water level in Lake Gordon was reported at ten inches below the spillway, with Lake Koon five feet, eight inches below the crest.

The council also voted to attend the dedication of the area Boy Scout Camp Potomac near Oldtown on Sunday, September 23.

Petition Filed For Repaving Of Pershing Street

A petition signed by Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon and representatives of business establishments on Pershing Street was read to the Mayor and Council yesterday, asking the blacktopping of that street from the Post Office alley to South Liberty Street. The request was referred to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner.

The South End Republican Club was voted a $43.44 refund for overpayment of taxes.

City Attorney W. Earle Cobey told the council that no reply has been received from Ray Tucker, St. Louis engineer, inviting him to make a study of the smoke situation in Cumberland.

Mrs. Roeder commented that the motion introduced last week by Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz for a salary increase of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery is being held up pending a further study.

"We all recognize," Mrs. Roeder declared, "that Mr. Ullery is doing an excellent job."

The extra compensation would be for the continuous registration office that Ullery will operate. The office, in the basement of the City Hall, with entrance from Bedford Street, is expected to be open next week.

GERITOL

IS THAT A FACT! by Ches Peake

HE STARTED A RIOT . . . AND A CUSTOM. A Baltimorean displayed the first umbrella seen in the United States. One day in 1772, he appeared on the streets walking under one he had purchased from a ship which had just returned from India. At the sight, women became frightened, children stoned the man, horses ran away. The city watchman had to be called to quell the disturbance. Thus in Baltimore, the home of many great American "firsts," was raised the first umbrella.

THE FIRST DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE. On March 22, 1775, a group of revolutionary patriots gathered at Harford Town, now known as Bush, in Maryland, wrote and signed a Declaration of Independence. This preceded the declaration at Mecklenburg, North Carolina, by two months, and the Declaration of Independence by the Continental Congress, July 4, 1776, by more than a year. The original manuscript of the Harford Town declaration is still in existence.

IT IS ALSO A FACT THAT . . . the YELLOW PAGES of your Telephone Directory are a handy, accurate shopping guide. Suppose, for example, your automobile needs fixing. Just turn to the YELLOW PAGES, look up the heading "Automobile Repairing," pick out the concern you want, and your problem's solved. The YELLOW PAGES save you time and trouble. Use them often. You'll find it—pays!

"The Messiah" will be presented as usual a week or two before Christmas.

"The Choristers," youth section of the Choral Society, will be rehearsed separately this season. Meeting night for the Choristers will be Monday at 7:30, but no date has been set for the first get-together.

City Gets Street Resurfacing Bid

Only one bid has been received by the city for resurfacing nine streets with blacktop.

Received from the Cumberland Contracting Company, the bid for laying 1,774 tons of blacktop material (Maryland State specification "B" mix) with the necessary tack coat material at 30 cents per gallon, the bid was referred to the Street Department in a unanimous vote by the Mayor and Council.

The following streets will be resurfaced:

Market Street from North Mechanic to Centre, a 12-foot strip on Offutt Street from Virginia Avenue to Olive Avenue, South George Street from Baltimore to Harrison, South Liberty from Baltimore to Harrison, Broadway from Maryland Avenue to Cromwell Terrace, Harrison Street from Mechanic to Centre, Saratoga Street from Cumberland to School Street, Fairview Avenue from Franklin to Pulaski and Prospect Square on both sides of Washington Street.

Petition Filed For Repaving Of Pershing Street

A petition signed by Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon and representatives of business establishments on Pershing Street was read to the Mayor and Council yesterday, asking the blacktopping of that street from the Post Office alley to South Liberty Street. The request was referred to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner.

The South End Republican Club was voted a $43.44 refund for overpayment of taxes.

City Attorney W. Earle Cobey told the council that no reply has been received from Ray Tucker, St. Louis engineer, inviting him to make a study of the smoke situation in Cumberland.

Mrs. Roeder commented that the motion introduced last week by Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz for a salary increase of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery is being held up pending a further study.

"We all recognize," Mrs. Roeder declared, "that Mr. Ullery is doing an excellent job."

The extra compensation would be for the continuous registration office that Ullery will operate. The office, in the basement of the City Hall, with entrance from Bedford Street, is expected to be open next week.

Plans To Organize Ski Club Discussed

GERITOL

IS THAT A FACT! by Ches Peake

HE STARTED A RIOT . . . AND A CUSTOM. A Baltimorean displayed the first umbrella seen in the United States. One day in 1772, he appeared on the streets walking under one he had purchased from a ship which had just returned from India. At the sight, women became frightened, children stoned the man, horses ran away. The city watchman had to be called to quell the disturbance. Thus in Baltimore, the home of many great American "firsts," was raised the first umbrella.

THE FIRST DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE. On March 22, 1775, a group of revolutionary patriots gathered at Harford Town, now known as Bush, in Maryland, wrote and signed a Declaration of Independence. This preceded the declaration at Mecklenburg, North Carolina, by two months, and the Declaration of Independence by the Continental Congress, July 4, 1776, by more than a year. The original manuscript of the Harford Town declaration is still in existence.

IT IS ALSO A FACT THAT . . . the YELLOW PAGES of your Telephone Directory are a handy, accurate shopping guide. Suppose, for example, your automobile needs fixing. Just turn to the YELLOW PAGES, look up the heading "Automobile Repairing," pick out the concern you want, and your problem's solved. The YELLOW PAGES save you time and trouble. Use them often. You'll find it—pays!

Farm Co-ops Get Tax Bill Break

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee trimmed its big tax raising bill again today, this time in favor of farm co-operatives.

The committee then turned to other final chores on the measure, now estimated to raise $5,965,000,000 as compared with $7,200,000,000 in the House-approved bill. It didn't get through with the bill, however, and will meet again tomorow.

The new plan on co-ops would make unallocated earnings of all farm co-ops taxable and raise less than the $30,000,000 estimated under a previous plan.

Co-ops, however, would be permitted to allocate all of their earnings for payment to their patrons at some undetermined future date, and then would not have to pay a tax on them.

Under this plan, committee members said, co-ops could escape taxation by allocating all of their earnings. They could retain the money for expansion or other purposes.

Gov. Dewey Will Visit Truman On Thursday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—President Truman today arranged a White House meeting with the man he derided in the bitter 1948 presidential campaign as "my shadow"—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

The White House said Dewey will visit Mr. Truman on Thursday to report on his recent visit to Korea and the Far East.

It will be the first time Dewey has called at the White House since he attended the funeral of President Roosevelt in April, 1945.

Political insiders said there was no significance to Dewey's visit beyond his report on the Far East situation.

Actor Clifton Young Dies In Hotel Fire

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10 (AP) — Actor Clifton Young, 34, a child villian in Our Gang comedies and an adult in numerous films, died in a hotel room fire today.

Police said he went to the hotel to visit a male friend last night after a spat with his wife, Winifred, then decided to stay for the night. He apparently fell asleep with a cigaret in his hand.

The mattress caught fire and by the time firemen broke into the room Young was overcome. An inhalator squad was unable to revive him.

Five Reds' Curiosity Leads To Their Deaths

WITH U. S. FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION, KOREA, Sept. 10 (AP) — Five Chinese were killed and two others wounded when a Communist patrol became too curious about some burned out U. S. tanks recently.

"They were playing around the tanks like a bunch of kids" said Master Sgt. Harry C. Northern, Boston, Mass.

When the Chinese had satisfied their curiosity, they returned to their patrol duties but found that a Fifth Cavalry Regiment unit had an ambush ready.

The Reds were cut down by machine-gun fire.

Wrecked B-17 Sighted

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 10 (AP) — Wreckage of an Air Force B-17 reported overdue earlier, was sighted today by a search plane from Ladd Air Force Base. It was located between Talkeetna and Summit, about 100 miles north of Anchorage.

Seven men were reported aboard the crashed bomber.

Death By Disease Up To 45 Years Soon May Be Rarity

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10 (AP)—Death by disease soon may become a rarity among Western world people under 45, a State Department official said today.

Dudley Kirk of the department's division of international and functional intelligence told a scientific conference on medical and other problems of the elderly:

"Modern achievements in reducing deaths are making possible a much longer working life for the average person. Death rates are observed to be falling in every country for which vital statistics are available.

"Deaths at ages under 45 from causes other than accident or violence may soon become a rarity in the Western world."

Kirk addressed the opening technical session of the Second International Gerontological Congress, attended by representatives of 53 foreign countries, the Vatican, the United Nations and various American experts on aging.

He said that according to current mortality rates in "the most advanced countries, which probably represents the near future for the West in general," this is the situation:

Ninety five per cent of the children born will reach age 15; and, of those entering the labor force ages, more than 90 per cent will reach age 45 and 70 per cent will attain age 65.

Army Says Error Delayed Armless Veteran's Pension

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10 (AP)—Letterman Army Hospital said today an administrative error caused by an attempt to speed up the pension claim of an armless Korean war veteran is partially responsible for the veteran receiving no compensation since he was released from the hospital June 30.

Michael J. Ropczycki, 20, sought out newsmen in Long Beach, Calif., Saturday to complain that he and his pregnant wife were destitute because of government and Red Cross red tape.

The ex-private, who lose both arms due to mortar fire last November, said he and his wife can't pay their bills and have had to borrow money from friends.

Ropczycki charged he had been given "the runaround" by officials at Letterman and Oak Knoll Hospitals and the Veterans' Administration.

Acheson Is Praised By Erstwhile Critic

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — A Republican senator who heretofore has been highly critical of Secretary of State Acheson praised him today for "an outstanding job" at the Japanese peace treaty conference.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said the entire U. S. delegation, whch also included John Foster Dulles, had "handled itself well." Dulles helped draw up the treaty.

Knowland urged the Senate promptly to ratify the treaty, signed Saturday at San Francisco, even if it means a special session of the Senate before January. He attended the conference, returning today.

Ancient Autos Begin Long Race

NILES, Mich., Sept. 10 (AP)—Two oldtimers urged their old time automobiles on tonight after a slow start on a race from Chicago to New York.

The drivers, 76-year-old Jack Brause in his 1913 Stanley Steamer and Rube De Launty, 70, in a gasoline-powered 1911 Stoddard Dayton, got off to a crawling start in the rain amid Chicago's Loop traffic. Mayor Martin H. Kennelly waved the starter's flag at 10 a. m. (EST). Then, a pace car and a motorcycle police escort saw them sedately out of town.

They went through Gary, Ind., at a fair clip and picked up speed after that, hitting something close to 40 miles an hour.

But, near Michigan City, Ind., the steamer, in which Brause had been leading, began to lose steam. He stopped and found that the gasoline burner under his boiler had blown out.

"When I lit her," said Brause, "there was a lot of gasoline in the firepot, and she went 'woosh!' But that's nothing. No damage. It's a normal risk—just like when you're not careful about lighting the oven."

The contestants stopped for lunch at Michigan City, but Brause spent most of the stop adjusting his burner.

De Launty told reporters his 25-horse power gas buggy "is running like a top. I can beat that teakettle of Brause's any day of the week."

The race is being judged on the basis of elapsed driving time.

Papagos Not Likely To Capture Majority

ATHENS, Greece, Sept. 10 (AP) — Field Marshal Alexander Papagos' headquarters conceded tonight that a late spurt in the election tally for Sophocles Venizelos' third-place Liberal Party probably would dash Papagos' chances of getting a clear majority in the new Greek parliament.

It appeared likely that Venizelos' party would gain 40 seats from the latest returns in yesterday's election.

Papagos' party needs 130 seats for a majority. The Liberal gains have cut Papagos' total so far to between 110 and 117 seats.

How a lass first starts to apply make-up can affect her beauty and complexion. Here's the right way to begin!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

When you are having the teen-time of your life and at last reach that milestone when you get the go-ahead on using a touch of make-up, what do you do — go ahead and make-up? Well, not if you want to latch onto a reputation for being a smooth beauty!

Mismake-up will only result in your looking like a phoney. It takes a little know-how to bring out your natural appeal. If you're old enough to use a lipstick, you're old enough to use it properly. And in my dictionary of beauty, "properly" does not mean how much, but how well. It's a definition to etch on your memory for the use of all make-up always! Acquire skill in the use of any cosmetic before appearing with it in public.

Teen Make-up Tips

Those first tentative swipes with a lipstick are apt to end up in a blur, a smear, or a gash — none of which approximates a loveliness effect. But loveliness will be yours if you form the habit of standing off from your mirrow and criticizing the final result.

Take the time to become an expert in wielding a lipstick brush so you will have a neat and lasting outline. Follow precisely the natural outline of your mouth. Always "bite" a tissue to remove the excess when the job is finished.

As your cosmetic use grows, you will need more and more tools to handle the job. The moment powder becomes a daily ritual, you need a cleanser for removing cosmetics, a light-weight and skin-matching foundation for protecting your complexion, and a bowl of cotton balls for clean applications. Use them in the following way:

Skill With Powder

Remove stale cosmetics with your cleanser before washing your face, nd always start a make-up with a clean skin. To apply your foundation in an invisible film, place a dot of it under each side of your chin, in each cheek hollow, on each cheek bone, and on each side of your forehead. Then, blend upward and outward with your finger tips. In applying powder, use fresh cotton daily. Fluff the powder on, and with the reverse side of the cotton smooth it off with quick, downward strokes.

To make sure you'll be greeted with a "hello, good lookin'!" complete your make-up by brushing your eyebrows into a groomed arch. Check your hairline for caked powder, and do a clean-up job if needed. Should your nose be prone to shine, saturate a gauze pad with witch hazel, store it in a leak-proof case, and blot your nose as necessary.

You'll have a whale of a beauty lead over your less-knowing friends!

How a lass first starts to apply make-up can affect her beauty and complexion. Here's the right way to begin!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

When you are having the teen-time of your life and at last reach that milestone when you get the go-ahead on using a touch of make-up, what do you do — go ahead and make-up? Well, not if you want to latch onto a reputation for being a smooth beauty!

Mismake-up will only result in your looking like a phoney. It takes a little know-how to bring out your natural appeal. If you're old enough to use a lipstick, you're old enough to use it properly. And in my dictionary of beauty, "properly" does not mean how much, but how well. It's a definition to etch on your memory for the use of all make-up always! Acquire skill in the use of any cosmetic before appearing with it in public.

Mayo Suffers Injury — Boggs Finishes Second

Will Wedge Passes On — Rotruck Led Batters

By C. V. BURNS

JACKIE MAYO

Jackie Mayo, Baltimore Orioles' outfielder, whose father resides on Shawnee Avenue and is a representative of the United Mine Workers of America, spent the closing days of the International League season on the sidelines as the result of an injury.

The Notre Dame alumnus who goes back to the Phillies for another trial next spring, tore some muscles in his right leg when he collided with Catcher Cash of Springfield.

It was a head-on crash, both were sent sprawling by the impact, and Cash dropped the ball.

Mayo, who makes his home in Youngstown, Ohio, batted .269 for the season. He had 22 doubles, seven triples, 11 homers and 46 RBIs, a comparatively good record for a leadoff hitter.

Death of Will Wedge, 62, veteran New York sports writer at the American Legion junior baseball tournament Saturday in Detroit, brought back to us memories of 1931 when the New York Yankees last appeared here in an exhibition game with the Cumberland Colts of the Middle Atlantic League.

At that time, Wedge accompanied the Yankees as writer for the New York Sun and it was through him that we met such famous players as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, etc.

Prior to that exhibition game at the Wineow street park, Ruth hit a ball over the centerfield fence to the railroad embankment — the only time that such a feat had been accomplished.

For many years Wedge was an outstanding boxing writer. In recent years he had been an executive with the Baseball Hall of Fame.

Thirty-three amateur golfers of the Somerset area and 11 professionals participated.

Fairmont West's Polar Bears, looming as one of the toughest teams on the Fort Hill grid schedule this season, kicked off the lid Friday night with a 32-0 decision over Rivesville.

The Polar Bears are coached by "Biz" Dawson who will be remembered as the outfielder with the dirty face who used to play for the Fairmont Black Diamonds back in the early days of the Middle Atlantic League.

"Biz" used to smear mud beneath his eyes to ward off the glare of the sun in the outfield and when he perspired his face was a mess.

Fort Hill plays at West Fairmont on Saturday Sept. 22.

How's this for tough luck?

Terra Alta romped off with the first half championship in the Mountain Top Baseball League and was on its way to repeat in the second half when Manager Mike Root, first string catcher, suffered a broken bone in his ankle, and the army grabbed Bob Fraley, the team's ace pitcher, who had won eleven and lost one.

Oakland won the second half title on the final day of the season and will open its title series with Terra Alta on Sunday.

Turner Stops Ike Williams

Referee Halts Bout In Tenth At Philly

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10 (AP)—Gil Turner, sensational young welterweight, ran his unbeaten string to 24 tonight with a dynamic two-fisted attack that halted former lightweight titlist Ike Williams at 2.32 of the 10th and final round of their bout at Shibe Park.

The defeat all but finished Williams as a big time boxer. He just ran out of gas against his younger opponent who rallied in the last round to sock Williams silly.

Referee Pete Tomasco stopped the fight with Williams draped across the rope, his knees crumpling beneath Turner's vicious attack.

Turner weighed in at 145 pounds, Williams 144¾.

Young Turner, who is only 20 years old, scored his 21st knockout in his brief, 18-month career as a professional.

His victory stamped him as a logical contender for the welterweight title now held by Kid Gavalan.

Up until the 10th, when Turner put on his winning flurry, Williams appeared to have a slight edge. The Associated Press score card had Ike in the lead, four rounds to three, with two even. It was that close.

The crowd of 15,595, who paid $64,617 whooped and hollered from start to finish in the slam-bang contest that was fast and spirited from the initial bell.

Aussie Net Star Upset By Likas

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10—(INS)—Mervyn Rose, Australian Davis cupper, became the first major casualty of the 25th annual Pacific Southwest Tennis Tournament today when he was upset in a third-round match by Harry Likas of San Francisco.

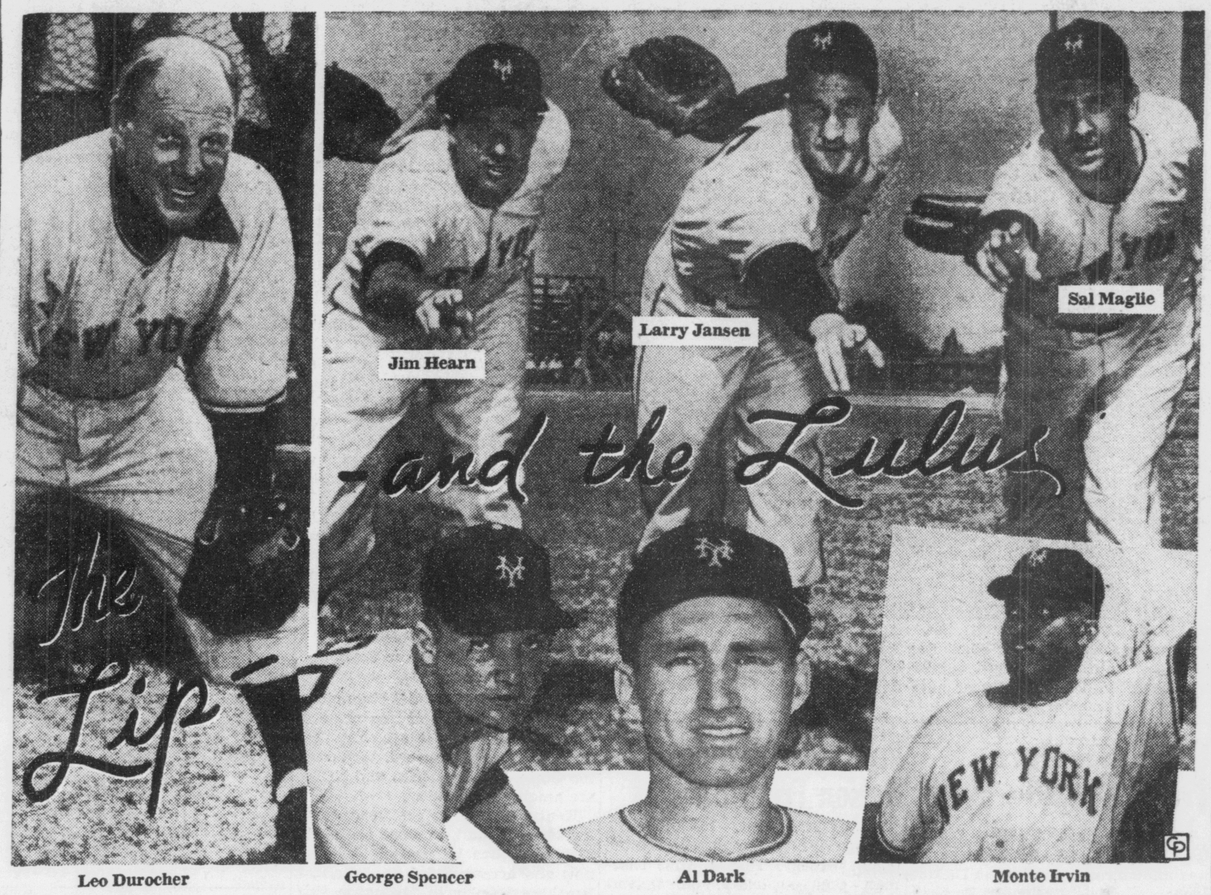
Likas, a former intercollegiate champion from the University of San Francisco, jumped on his Aussie opponent with one of the best games he has ever played and won, 6-3, 6-2, before Rose got started.

Another Australian was put out of the tournament by Tom Brown of San Francisco. Brown downed Don Candy, 7-5, 6-1.

However, Australia's top-ranking contenders, Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, came through with easy wins.

Sedgman zipped through Fred Fisher of Seattle, 6-4, 6-3. McGregor ousted Jack Grigry of Los Angeles, 6-2, 7-5.

In the main women's singles match of the day, national champion Maureen Connolly swept through Kath Parrish, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-0.



Leo Durocher — George Spencer — Al Dark — Monte Irvin

SENSATIONAL SPURT of the New York Giants from a lagging second-placer to contention for the National league flag is the talk of baseball. Pitching, plus some fine clouting by Shortstop Al Dark, First Sacker Monte Irvin and Outfielder Bobby Thomson have pushed the Giants into a spot only five games out of first and given the team a long winning streak. The pitching has been borne by the big three Sal Maglie, Larry Jansen and Jim Hearn, plus some fine work by rookie George Spencer. (International)

Frank Stranahan Is Upset Victim Of Robert Kuntz

Campbell And Bishop Also Suffer Defeats

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 10 (AP)—Frustrated Frank Stranahan's ninth bid for a United States amateur golf championship was shattered in the first round today by a 29-year-old week-end player from Larchmont, N. Y., who staged a spectacular rally to win on the 20th hole.

Perpetrator of the day's major upheaval over the Saucon Valley Country Club was Robert Kuntz, a perfectly relaxed chemical company salesman who seemed hopelessly beaten when Stranahan assumed a three-hole lead through the tenth and was two-up with two to play.

But the never-say-die Kuntz, his wife biting her fingernails and praying on the sidelines, nailed brilliant birdies on the 17th and 18th to square the match, equalled Stranahan's birdie on the 19th and then went on to prevail on a well-played par on the 20th.

Stranahan's hopes were dashed on the second extra hole when he hooked into the rough, pitched and chipped short and then missed a miserable six-foot putt to take a one-over-par five.

Defeat of the spark plug heir from Toledo, a two-time British amateur champion, was just one in a wave of opening day surprises. Former champion Stanley (Ted) Bishop of Weston, Mass., and two of Uncle Sam's Walker Cup stars, Bill Campbell of Huntington, West Va., and Bobby Knowles of Boston, were shunted to the sidelines.

Campbell, spraying his shots all over the premises, was the victim of Lloyd Ribner of White Plains, 4 and 2. The gangling West Virginian went six over par on the first nine holes.

Bishop, the tall 1946 champion, fell before Billy Joe Patton, a fluid-stroking 29-year-old lumber salesman from Morganton, N. C., 4 and 2. Knowles bowed to Robert E. Eckis, Jr., a 27-year-old comparative unknown from Kenmore, N. Y., one up.

While these golfing elite were having their miseries, defending champion Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N. Y., struck putting gold on Saucon's massive greens and swept forward on a 4 and 3 victory over Eugene Zuspann, 36-year-old lawyer from Goodland, Kans.

The champion, uncorking the finest golf of the day, sank three putts of 25 feet and longer to eliminate the heavy-set Kansan, a former Broadmoor champion and Trans-Miss runnerup.

Urzetta was two under par for the 16 holes he played over the 6,979-yard, par 36-35—71 layout.

Seventy-two matches were played during the long day under cloudless skies, sending 128 into tomorrow's second round.

Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, N.Y., Walker Cup captain and two-time winner, and three other members of the U. S. team drew first round byes. Other Walker Cup members to sit out the first day's activities were Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, 1949 champion; Jim McHale of Philadelphia, a strong favorite, and Harold Paddock of Cleveland.

Caddie Shortage Reported At CCC

There's a shortage of caddies at the Cumberland Country Club golf course since the opening of the schools last week and for the remainder of the season caddies will be provided for foursomes only, it was announced last night by the golf committee.

This arrangement will go into effect immediately.

International League Playoffs Open Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP) —Montreal's Royals, runaway pennant winners, are favored to win the International League's 19th annual Governor's Cup playoffs, but tradition leans toward the third place Syracuse Chiefs.

The four-team scramble gets under way tomorrow night with Montreal host to fourth place Buffalo and runner-up Rochester host to Syracuse. Both series will be best of seven.

During the past 12 years, only three pennant winners managed to maintain their supremacy during the playoffs to go on to meet the American Association champions in the junior world series.

Betting Favors Robinson At 9-5 Over Britisher

Sugar Ray To Fight Turpin On Wednesday

BY MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP) —While middleweight champion Randy Turpin and ex-champ Ray Robinson took life easy today, the box office men at Madison Square Garden were as busy as salesgirls at a bargain basement special.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, moved away from a cluster of buzzing telephones for a moment to report that $390,000 had been taken in through last night for the Wednesday title bout at the Polo Grounds.

"What it is now, I can't say, but it must be over the $400,000 mark," said big Jim.

Ringside Seats Are $30

The big ballpark is scaled to gross over $600,000. There are 15,000 ringside seats on the field at $30 a copy and 55,000 seats in all.

With that much of an advance, the record gross of $461,789 for a non-heavyweight fight is a cinch to be broken unless the weather turns bad on Wednesday. In addition, the boxers will be cutting into an extra $225,000 or $250,000 for the theatrecast and motion rights. There will be no television or radio broadcasts for the home folks and tavern experts.

The betting also was booming with most of the wagering done on a man-to-man basis at odds favoring Robinson at 9 to 5. According to a former big time bookmaker, none of the major operators are taking wagers and haven't for a long time.

"The heat's been on and none of the big operators are doing business," he said. "A guy would have to be crazy to operate now."

The temptation must be terrific, however. This return bout is one of the biggest betting scraps in years and it's reported that a number of English bettors are going to make a "killing" because of the different odds in England and America.

In England, the odds favored Robinson only slightly, by about 6½ to 5. The British wagered heavily on Robinson with the legal British bookmakers.

Turpin Cash Arrives

In the U. S. Robinson for a time was favored by 12 to 5. In the past couple of days, however, a heavy bundle of Turpin cash from England has hammered the odds down.

Don't ask how these International manipulators can get cash out of England and fiddle around with the odds.

Whitson To Shoot In National Match

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10—William C. Whitson, Rt. 5, Box 99, Cumberland, Maryland, will compete in the 1951 renewal of the National Smallbore Rifle Championships in San Francisco, California, from October 3-6, it was announced here today by the National Rifle Association. It will be the 66th renewal of the championships, last fired in 1949 at Des Moines, Iowa. The 1950 national shooting title race was not held, due to the international situation.

Whitson makes up part of the challenging field of 500 of the nation's best smallbore riflemen who will compete for the title now held by Robert McMains of Dallas, Texas.

Women Golfers Play

Women golfers of the Cumberland Country Club will participate in a cross country tournament today, with tee off time set for 10 a. m.

A business meeting will be held officers will be elected and luncheon will be served at 1 p. m.

Sheetz And Phillips Score Softball Tournament Wins

Corriganville-Elks, Hercules-Cunningham Games Carded Today

Allan Sheetz and Hayden Phillips turned in a pair of stellar pitching performances last night as the Cumberland Fraternal Order of Eagles, champions of the Rocking Chair League, defeated LaVale, of the county League, 15-1, and the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of the Industrial League, whipped the Amvets from the Men's Division of the City Rec League, 12-2, in the opening games of the first annual Western Maryland Invitational Softball Tournament at Penn Avenue Field.

Director Edmund F. Hoey announced that approximately 200 persons turned out for the first two games of the quarter-finals in the eight-team tourney and the $60 gate receipts will go toward the formation of a four-team uniformed baseball league (Sportsmans' League) for 15 and 16 year-old boys next year.

Fly Spoils Shutout

Sheetz, a 20-game winner in the Rocking Chair League, had a one-hit shutout going into the final inning of last night's game when LaVale scored its lone tally on hits by Keyser and Leasure, Decker's walk and Yaider's fly to centerfield. Up until that time the only hit yielded by the hurler who has marked up 11 shutout wins this season was a single by R. Basilio. Sheetz fanned nine.

The Eagles jumped on Junior Brelsford and Ed Decker for 11 safeties, including round-trippers by Chet Collins and "Doc" Summers and doubles by Lamar "Moose" Minick and "Pete" Elliott. Summers was the only player to obtain two hits.

Seven of the Eagles' tallies were racked up in the seventh inning.

Phillips Whiffs Eight

Phillips turned back the Amvets with four hits in the nightcap and fired the third strike past eight batsmen as the C. & P. swatsmiths found the slants of Stotler and Mayo for an even dozen safeties including circuit wallops by Ted Durbin and Vern Penner.

Fradiska accounted for three of the losers' four blows, one being a home run.

The Phonemen scored in every inning but the fifth and the first five men in the batting order, namely, Durbin, Evans, Penner, Luttrell and Grimes rapped two hits each.

Three Games Today

The other quarter finals of the tourney are scheduled today at Penn Avenue Field. At 6 p. m., the B.P.O. Elks of the Rocking Chair League will oppose Corriganville, County League pennant winner, and at 7:30 Hercules Powder Company, of the Industrial League, will battle Cunningham's Grocers of the Men's Division of the City Rec League. At 9 o'clock tonight, Tri-State Cleaners and Bennett's Transfer will collide in the second game of their best-of-three series to determine the championship of the High School Division of the City Rec League.

Wednesday's semi-finals brings together the Eagles and C. & P. Telephone at 6 p. m., and the Tuesday winners at 7:30.

Finals Set Thursday

The finals are billed for Thursday at 6 p. m., and will be followed by the championship game of the Hot Stove Baseball League between the Lions and B'nai B'rith at 7:30 p. m.

Mayo Suffers Injury — Boggs Finishes Second

Will Wedge Passes On — Rotruck Led Batters

By C. V. BURNS

Jackie Mayo, Baltimore Orioles' outfielder, whose father resides on Shawnee Avenue and is a representative of the United Mine Workers of America, spent the closing days of the International League season on the sidelines as the result of an injury.

JACKIE MAYO

The Notre Dame alumnus who goes back to the Phillies for another trial next spring, tore some muscles in his right leg when he collided with Catcher Cash of Springfield.

It was a head-on crash, both were sent sprawling by the impact, and Cash dropped the ball.

Mayo, who makes his home in Youngstown, Ohio, batted .269 for the season. He had 22 doubles, seven triples, 11 homers and 46 RBIs, a comparatively good record for a leadoff hitter.

Death of Will Wedge, 62, veteran New York sports writer at the American Legion junior baseball tournament Saturday in Detroit, brought back to us memories of 1931 when the New York Yankees last appeared here in an exhibition game with the Cumberland Colts of the Middle Atlantic League.

At that time, Wedge accompanied the Yankees as writer for the New York Sun and it was through him that we met such famous players as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, etc.

Prior to that exhibition game at the Wineow street park, Ruth hit a ball over the centerfield fence to the railroad embankment — the only time that such a feat had been accomplished.

For many years Wedge was an outstanding boxing writer. In recent years he had been an executive with the Baseball Hall of Fame.

The American Legion junior baseball championship has gone west for the third straight year. Crenshaw Post of Los Angeles defeated White Plains, N. Y., in the finals at Detroit, 11-7.

Oakland, Calif., won in 1949 and 1950.

Carroll Boggs, Cumberland Country Club pro, who teamed with Jack Morrin of Somerset, finished in a four-way tie for second place in the annual Calcutta Golf Tournament Sunday at the Somerset Country Club.

Boggs and Morrin had a card of 65, one stroke more than the winners who were Jim Welsh of Somerset and Had Langdon, pro at the Pleasant Valley Golf Club.

Thirty-three amateur golfers of the Somerset area and 11 professionals participated.

Back in 1929 Danger Signal set a world's record for a half mile track when she covered 1 1/16 miles in 1.47 1/5 at Timonium, Md.

And this mark is only two-fifths of a second faster than the Fairgo record of 1:47 3/5 set by Suncrax (Willie Cook up) on August 20, 1938.

The name Danger Signal has been revived with permission from the Jockey Club. It's a two-year-old racing this season at the major tracks.

Fairmont West's Polar Bears, looming as one of the toughest teams on the Fort Hill grid schedule this season, kicked off the lid Friday night with a 32-0 decision over Rivesville.

The Polar Bears are coached by "Biz" Dawson who will be remembered as the outfielder with the dirty face who used to play for the Fairmont Black Diamonds back in the early days of the Middle Atlantic League.

"Biz" used to smear mud beneath his eyes to ward off the glare of the sun in the outfield and when he perspired his face was a mess.

Fort Hill plays at West Fairmont on Saturday Sept. 22.

How's this for tough luck?

Terra Alta romped off with the first half championship in the Mountain Top Baseball League and was on its way to repeat in the second half when Manager Mike Root, first string catcher, suffered a broken bone in his ankle, and the army grabbed Bob Fraley, the team's ace pitcher, who had won eleven and lost one.

Oakland won the second half title on the final day of the season and will open its title series with Terra Alta on Sunday.

Turner Stops Ike Williams

Referee Halts Bout In Tenth At Philly

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10 (AP)—Gil Turner, sensational young welterweight, ran his unbeaten string to 24 tonight with a dynamic two-fisted attack that halted former lightweight titlist Ike Williams at 2.32 of the 10th and final round of their bout at Shibe Park.

The defeat all but finished Williams as a big time boxer. He just ran out of gas against his younger opponent who rallied in the last round to sock Williams silly.

Referee Pete Tomasco stopped the fight with Williams draped across the rope, his knees crumpling beneath Turner's vicious attack.

Turner weighed in at 145 pounds, Williams 144¾.

Young Turner, who is only 20 years old, scored his 21st knockout in his brief, 18-month career as a professional.

His victory stamped him as a logical contender for the welterweight title now held by Kid Gavalan.

Up until the 10th, when Turner put on his winning flurry, Williams appeared to have a slight edge. The Associated Press score card had Ike in the lead, four rounds to three, with two even. It was that close.

The crowd of 15,595, who paid $64,617 whooped and hollered from start to finish in the slam-bang contest that was fast and spirited from the initial bell.

Aussie Net Star Upset By Likas

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10—(INS)—Mervyn Rose, Australian Davis cupper, became the first major casualty of the 25th annual Pacific Southwest Tennis Tournament today when he was upset in a third-round match by Harry Likas of San Francisco.

Likas, a former intercollegiate champion from the University of San Francisco, jumped on his Aussie opponent with one of the best games he has ever played and won, 6-3, 6-2, before Rose got started.

Another Australian was put out of the tournament by Tom Brown of San Francisco. Brown downed Don Candy, 7-5, 6-1.

However, Australia's top-ranking contenders, Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, came through with easy wins.

Sedgman zipped through Fred Fisher of Seattle, 6-4, 6-3. McGregor ousted Jack Grigry of Los Angeles, 6-2, 7-5.

In the main women's singles match of the day, national champion Maureen Connolly swept through Kath Parrish, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-0.

SENSATIONAL SPURT of the New York Giants from a lagging second-placer to contention for the National league flag is the talk of baseball. Pitching, plus some fine clouting by Shortstop Al Dark, First Sacker Monte Irvin and Outfielder Bobby Thomson have pushed the Giants into a spot only five games out of first and given the team a long winning streak. The pitching has been borne by the big three Sal Maglie, Larry Jansen and Jim Hearn, plus some fine work by rookie George Spencer. (International)

Sheetz And Phillips Score Softball Tournament Wins

Corriganville-Elks, Hercules-Cunningham Games Carded Today

Allan Sheetz and Hayden Phillips turned in a pair of stellar pitching performances last night as the Cumberland Fraternal Order of Eagles, champions of the Rocking Chair League, defeated LaVale, of the county League, 15-1, and the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of the Industrial League, whipped the Amvets from the Men's Division of the City Rec League, 12-2, in the opening games of the first annual Western Maryland Invitational Softball Tournament at Penn Avenue Field.

Director Edmund F. Hoey announced that approximately 200 persons turned out for the first two games of the quarter-finals in the eight-team tourney and the $60 gate receipts will go toward the formation of a four-team uniformed baseball league (Sportsmans League) for 15 and 16 year-old boys next year.

Fly Spoils Shutout

Sheetz, a 20-game winner in the Rocking Chair League, had a one-hit shutout going into the final inning of last night's game when LaVale scored its lone tally on hits by Keyser and Leasure, Decker's walk and Yaider's fly to centerfield. Up until that time the only hit yielded by the hurler who has marked up 11 shutout wins this season was a single by R. Basilio. Sheetz fanned nine.

The Eagles jumped on Junior Brelsford and Ed Decker for 11 safeties, including round-trippers by Chet Collins and "Doc" Summers and doubles by Lamar "Moose" Minick and "Pete" Elliott. Summers was the only player to obtain two hits.

Seven of the Eagles' tallies were racked up in the seventh inning.

Phillips Whiffs Eight

Phillips turned back the Amvets with four hits in the nightcap and fired the third strike past eight batsmen as the C. & P. swatsmiths found the slants of Stotler and Mayo for an even dozen safeties including circuit wallops by Ted Durbin and Vern Penner.

Fradiska accounted for three of the losers' four blows, one being a home run.

The Phonemen scored in every inning but the fifth and the first five men in the batting order, namely, Durbin, Evans, Penner, Luttrell and Grimes rapped two hits each.

Three Games Today

The other quarter finals of the tourney are scheduled today at Penn Avenue Field. At 6 p. m., the B.P.O. Elks of the Rocking Chair League will oppose Corriganville, County League pennant winner, and at 7:30 Hercules Powder Company, of the Industrial League, will battle Cunningham's Grocers of the Men's Division of the City Rec League. At 9 o'clock tonight, Tri-State Cleaners and Bennett's Transfer will collide in the second game of their best-of-three series to determine the championship of the High School Division of the City Rec League.

Wednesday's semi-finals brings together the Eagles and C. & P. Telephone at 6 p. m., and the Tuesday winners at 7:30.

Finals Set Thursday

The finals are billed for Thursday at 6 p. m., and will be followed by the championship game of the Hot Stove Baseball League between the Lions and B'nai B'rith at 7:30 p. m.

Frank Stranahan Is Upset Victim Of Robert Kuntz

Campbell And Bishop Also Suffer Defeats

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 10 (AP)—Frustrated Frank Stranahan's ninth bid for a United States amateur golf championship was shattered in the first round today by a 29-year-old week-end player from Larchmont, N. Y., who staged a spectacular rally to win on the 20th hole.

Perpetrator of the day's major upheaval over the Saucon Valley Country Club was Robert Kuntz, a perfectly relaxed chemical company salesman who seemed hopelessly beaten when Stranahan assumed a three-hole lead through the tenth and was two-up with two to play.

But the never-say-die Kuntz, his wife biting her fingernails and praying on the sidelines, nailed brilliant birdies on the 17th and 18th to square the match, equalled Stranahan's birdie on the 19th and then went on to prevail on a well-played par on the 20th.

Stranahan's hopes were dashed on the second extra hole when he hooked into the rough, pitched and chipped short and then missed a miserable six-foot putt to take a one-over-par five.

Defeat of the spark plug heir from Toledo, a two-time British amateur champion, was just one in a wave of opening day surprises. Former champion Stanley (Ted) Bishop of Weston, Mass., and two of Uncle Sam's Walker Cup stars, Bill Campbell of Huntington, West Va., and Bobby Knowles of Boston, were shunted to the sidelines.

Campbell, spraying his shots all over the premises, was the victim of Lloyd Ribner of White Plains, 4 and 2. The gangling West Virginian went six over par on the first nine holes.

Bishop, the tall 1946 champion, fell before Billy Joe Patton, a fluid-stroking 29-year-old lumber salesman from Morganton, N. C., 4 and 2. Knowles bowed to Robert E. Eckis, Jr., a 27-year-old comparative unknown from Kenmore, N. Y., one up.

While these golfing elite were having their miseries, defending champion Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N. Y., struck putting gold on Saucon's massive greens and swept forward on a 4 and 3 victory over Eugene Zuspann, 36-year-old lawyer from Goodland, Kans.

The champion, uncorking the finest golf of the day, sank three putts of 25 feet and longer to eliminate the heavy-set Kansan, a former Broadmoor champion and Trans-Miss runnerup.

Urzetta was two under par for the 16 holes he played over the 6,979-yard, par 36-35—71 layout.

Seventy-two matches were played during the long day under cloudless skies, sending 128 into tomorrow's second round.

Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, N.Y., Walker Cup captain and two-time winner, and three other members of the U. S. team drew first round byes. Other Walker Cup members to sit out the first day's activities were Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, 1949 champion; Jim McHale of Philadelphia, a strong favorite, and Harold Paddock of Cleveland.

Caddie Shortage Reported At CCC

There's a shortage of caddies at the Cumberland Country Club golf course since the opening of the schools last week and for the remainder of the season caddies will be provided for foursomes only, it was announced last night by the golf committee.

This arrangement will go into effect immediately.

Frostburg And Cumberland Reach Rifle League Finals

On the local range, Cumberland rolled over Fort Hill by a score of 1587-96x to 1579-82x. The decisive eight point margin of the winners was sparked by Paul Nycum's 398-27x and Leo Leasure's 398-22x. Frank Simpson collected 397-23x to tally high for Fort Hill.

At Frostburg, the Mountain City team's firepower swept Mountain Top off the range also by an eight point triumph, 1595-96x to 1587-91x. Harry Morgan scored 399-30x to head the Frostburg crew, closely followed by Hesse Brode's 399-28x and Cliff Hitchins 399-19x. BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP) —Bob Hopkins, Hagerstown municipal golf course professional, fired a two-under-par 68 today to take top honors in the Middle Atlantic pro-amateur golf tournament at Suburban Club.

Hopkins' 35-33-68 edged out two Baltimore pros, Johnny Bass, of Clifton Park, and Andy Gibson, of Country Club of Maryland by a single stroke.

Betting Favors Robinson At 9-5 Over Britisher

Sugar Ray To Fight Turpin On Wednesday

BY MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP) —While middleweight champion Randy Turpin and ex-champ Ray Robinson took life easy today, the box office men at Madison Square Garden were as busy as salesgirls at a bargain basement special.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, moved away from a cluster of buzzing telephones for a moment to report that $390,000 had been taken in through last night for the Wednesday title bout at the Polo Grounds.

"What it is now, I can't say, but it must be over the $400,000 mark," said big Jim.

Ringside Seats Are $30

The big ballpark is scaled to gross over $600,000. There are 15,000 ringside seats on the field at $30 a copy and 55,000 seats in all.

With that much of an advance, the record gross of $461,789 for a non-heavyweight fight is a cinch to be broken unless the weather turns bad on Wednesday. In addition, the boxers will be cutting into an extra $225,000 or $250,000 for the theatre-cast and motion rights. There will be no television or radio broadcasts for the home folks and tavern experts.

The betting also was booming with most of the wagering done on a man-to-man basis at odds favoring Robinson at 9 to 5. According to a former big time bookmaker, none of the major operators are taking wagers and haven't for a long time.

"The heat's been on and none of the big operators are doing business," he said. "A guy would have to be crazy to operate now."

The temptation must be terrific, however. This return bout is one of the biggest betting scraps in years and it's reported that a number of English bettors are going to make a "killing" because of the different odds in England and America.

In England, the odds favored Robinson only slightly, by about 6½ to 5. The British wagered heavily on Robinson with the legal British bookmakers.

Turpin Cash Arrives

In the U. S. Robinson for a time was favored by 12 to 5. In the past couple of days, however, a heavy bundle of Turpin cash from England has hammered the odds down.

Don't ask how these International manipulators can get cash out of England and fiddle around with the odds.

Whitson To Shoot In National Match

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10—William C. Whitson, Rt. 5, Box 99, Cumberland, Maryland, will compete in the 1951 renewal of the National Smallbore Rifle Championships in San Francisco, California, from October 3-6, it was announced here today by the National Rifle Association. It will be the 66th renewal of the championships, last fired in 1949 at Des Moines, Iowa. The 1950 national shooting title race was not held, due to the international situation.

Whitson makes up part of the challenging field of 500 of the nation's best smallbore riflemen who will compete for the title now held by Robert McMains of Dallas, Texas.

Women Golfers Play

Women golfers of the Cumberland Country Club will participate in a cross country tournament today, with tee off time set for 10 a. m.

A business meeting will be held officers will be elected and luncheon will be served at 1 p. m.

Bob Baker Stops Hall In Second

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 10 (AP)—Big Bob Baker, Pittsburgh negro heavyweight, tonight won his 23rd consecutive pro fight without a defeat as he stopped Dale Hall of Chicago, in two minutes and 55 seconds of the third round at Heidleberg Arena. Ernie Sesto stopped the fight as Hall was staggering helplessly, his hands hanging loosely at his side. Baker weighed 216 pounds, 15 more than his opponent.

There were no knockdowns in the scheduled 10-rounder. However, Baker fought like a wildcat after Hall had opened a small cut over his mouth in the first round which was pretty even.

A crowd of about 3,500 saw the contest. The estimated gross gate was $5,826, with a net of about $4,300.

Preliminary results included:

Doc Watkins, 139, Homestead, Pa., decisioned Arnold Curry, 134, Uniontown, Pa., (6).

Carolan To Stay As Grid Mentor Of LaSalle High

Phil Carolan will continue as head coach of LaSalle High School's football team during the 1951 season, it was announced last night by John Loibel, president of the Men of LaSalle, who met to consider application for the jobs of grid and cage mentor of the Explorers.

Loibel stated that at least a dozen applications were received and considered for the football as well as the basketball jobs.

Among the applicants was the Rev. Thomas Harry DeHart, a Baptist minister of Pontiac, Michigan, and former LaSalle backfield player.

Yankees-Browns, Cleveland-A's Play Twin Bills

Brooklyn And Giants Invade West Today

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Sept. 10—(AP)—The 24-hour cease fire order ends tomorrow as the pennant combatants in the American League resume action with Cleveland opposing Philadelphia, New York facing St. Louis and Boston meeting Detroit.

Most of the interest will stem from Philadelphia where the Indians play a twi-night doubleheader, their last twin bill of the campaign. The Yankees and Browns also play a twi-nighter while the Red Sox-Tigers battle is a single afternoon contest.

The Indians are not in an enviable spot, although they trail the pace-setting Yankees by only four percentage points. Manager Al Lopez' charges couldn't have picked a tougher spot in which to open their final eastern swing. Right now, the Athletics' despite their sixth place standing, are the roughest club in the league.

Fresh from Sunday's double win over the Red Sox, which dumped Boston five and a half games behind the leaders, the A's are fast gaining a reputation as giant killers.

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees hasn't forgotten that Jimmy Dykes' relaxed sluggers knocked the New Yorkers out of first place three times in 22 days. And Lopez remembers that the A's whipped his men two out of three recently to knock the Indians off the top perch.

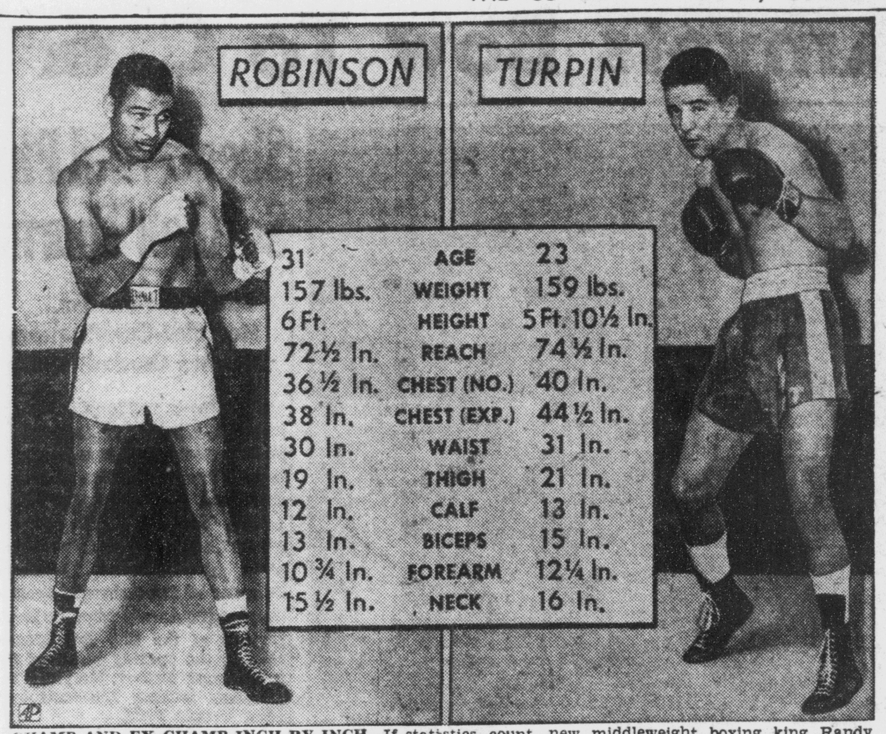
On the other hand, the Yankees figure to find the cellar Browns easy pickin's.

The Indians play nine games in the east, two each in New York and Boston. Their remaining six games are all against the west with only the last two against the Tigers on their home lot.

The Yankees play 16 of their 19 remaining games at home but five are against the Red Sox, whom they also play three more times in Boston. The Red Sox have 12 of their remaining 20 games in friendly Fenway Park.

The National League race, or what's left of it, resumes in the west tomorrow with Brooklyn playing the Reds in a night game in Cincinnati and the New York Giants facing the Cards in a twi-night doubleheader in St. Louis.

The Dodgers, who hold a five and a half game bulge on the Giants, can clinch the flag by winning 13 of their remaining 19 games even if the Giants win all their 16.



CHAMP AND EX-CHAMP INCH BY INCH—If statistics count, new middleweight boxing king Randy Turpin will have quite an edge over ex-champ and challenger Sugar Ray Robinson in their return title bout at the Polo Grounds, New York, Wednesday night. The British battler outmeasures his opponent in almost every physical department except height and his eight-year advantage may prove helpful over the 15-round championship route.

Lions, Steelers Trade Gridders

DETROIT, Sept. 10 (AP) — A two-for-one player swap with Pittsburgh was announced today by the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

The Lions traded a pair of rookies —Halfback Ed Pasky and Tackle Gordon Hansen — to the Steelers for veteran Guard Barry French.

Detroit needed additional strength at the guard post because its No. 1 draft choice last year, Guar Dick Stanfel of San Francisco, will be out all season with a knee injury.

Pale Hose Acquire Nelson From Bucs

CHICAGO, Sept. 10—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox have acquired Glenn' (Rocky) Nelson, first baseman and outfielder, on waivers from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

General Manager Frank C. Lane announced today the deal which brings the White Sox roster to 27 players. He said Nelson is expected to report for his American League assignment tomorrow in Washington.

Nelson has been hitting .263 with St. Louis and Pittsburgh in the National League this year.

Nelson, who bats and throws left-handed, is 26 years old, stands five feet, 10, and weighs 175 pounds.

Garden Lists 18 College Twin Bills

Many Top Quints Shun Games There

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—With C.C.N.Y. and Long Island University out of the picture because of the widespread basketball scandals, only 18 regular college basketball doubleheaders—the fewest in seven years—have been scheduled for Madison Square Garden.

New York University, St. John's of Brooklyn and Manhattan College will carry the load for the locals, according to the Garden schedule released today. N.Y.U. will have 15 dates, St. John's 12 and Manhattan nine. Seton Hall University of South Orange, N. J., will make two appearances, against Iona and Western Kentucky.

In addition to C.C.N.Y. and L.I.U., many of the top teams which have made regular pilgrimages to the one-time basketball mecca, will not be seen by Garden audiences. They don't show for a variety of reasons, foremost of which is the widespread fixing scandals.

Among The Missing

Kentucky, the N.C.A.A. champions and the No. 1 team in the country last year, Kansas State, Bradley, Bowling Green, Stanford, Washington State, San Francisco and UCLA are among the missing.

Kentucky, which has been coming here off and on since the 1934-35 season, has its own field house now and arranged for St. John's of Brooklyn to play in Lexington this year. This agreement was made before the fix cases broke across the front pages.

L.I.U. dropped varsity basketball altogether when its players became involved in the scandal and New York's board of higher education ordered C.C.N.Y. out of the Garden. Seven members of C.C.N.Y.'s grand slam champions of 1950 were implicated in the mess.

Lose NCAA Games

Besides losing the considerable number of outstanding teams, the Garden no longer will be the scene of part of the N.C.A.A. championships. The National Invitation Tournament, a Garden fixture, will be staged again, however. This Tourney is run by the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Association.

The U. S. Olympic trails will be held in the Garden once again, making up, in part, for the loss of the N.C.A.A. games.

The schedule:

Dec. 1—Manhattan-Siena; N. Y. U. - William & Mary.

Dec. 6—St. John's-Briham Young; Manhattan College-Texas Christian.

Dec. 8—St. John's-Washington & Jefferson; N.Y.U.-Temple.

Dec. 13—N.Y.U.-Colgate; Manhattan-Texas A & M.

Dec. 15—St. John's-Rhode Island State; Seton Hall-Iona College.

Dec. 20—N.Y.U.-Holy Cross; Manhattan-North Carolina State.

Dec. 22—N. Y. U.-Oklahoma; St. John's-Vanderbilt.

Dec. 27—N.Y.U.-Arizona; St. John's-Utah.

Dec. 29—St. John's-Dayton; Manhattan-Louisville.

Jan. 3—N.Y.U.-West Virginia; Seton Hall-Western Kentucky.

Jan. 5—St. John's-St. Joseph's; N.Y.U.-LaFayette.

Jan. 10—N.Y.U.-Duke; St. John's-Loyola of Chicago.

Jan. 15—N.Y.U.-St. Louis; St. John's-Manhattan.

Feb. 7—Manhattan-Depaul; N.Y.U.-Syracuse.

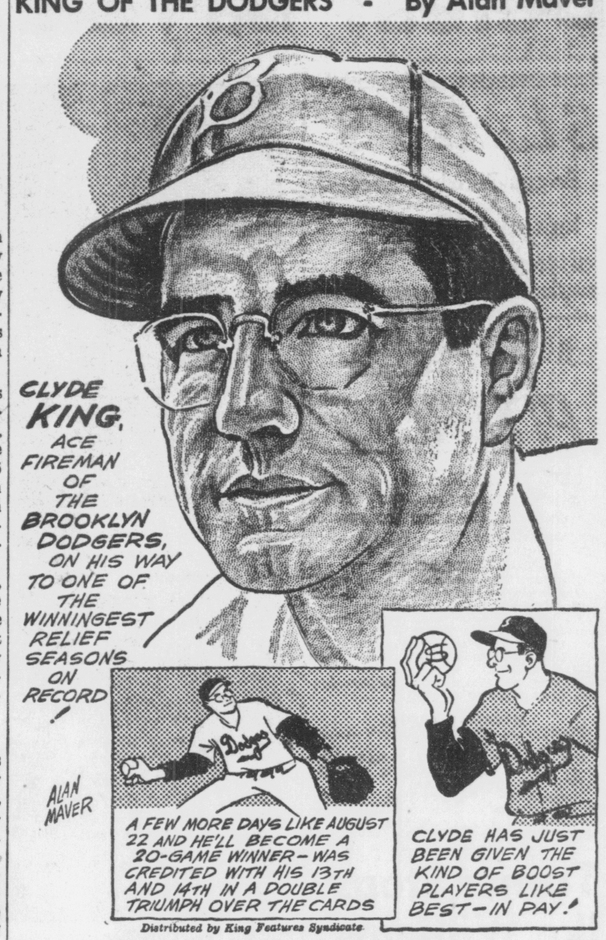
Feb. 14—N.Y.U.-Niagara; St. John's-St. Bonaventure.

Feb. 21—N.Y.U.—Manhattan; St. John's-Cincinnati.

Feb. 25—N.Y.U.-Notre Dame; Iona-(pending).

Feb. 28—N.Y.U.-St. John's Manhattan-LaSalle.

KING OF THE DODGERS - By Alan Maver



The cuscus is a small animal of New Guinea that is somewhat similar to the flying squirrel. When it thinks it is in danger, the cuscus suspends itself from a branch by its long prehensile tail, swaying among the leaves as if it were some dead fruit. It will remain in this position as long as it thinks it is observed or until exhausted.

The jumping shrew of South Africa sometimes curls up and rolls itself along instead of leaping kangaroo fashion.

Yankees-Browns, Cleveland-A's Play Twin Bills

Brooklyn And Giants Invade West Today

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Sept. 10—(AP)—The 24-hour cease fire order ends tomorrow as the pennant combatants in the American League resume action with Cleveland opposing Philadelphia, New York facing St. Louis and Boston meeting Detroit.

Most of the interest will stem from Philadelphia where the Indians play a twi-night doubleheader, their last twin bill of the campaign. The Yankees and Browns also play a twi-nighter while the Red Sox-Tigers battle is a single afternoon contest.

The Indians are not in an enviable spot, although they trail the pace-setting Yankees by only four percentage points. Manager Al Lopez' charges couldn't have picked a tougher spot in which to open their final eastern swing. Right now, the Athletics' despite their sixth place standing, are the roughest club in the league.

Fresh from Sunday's double win over the Red Sox, which dumped Boston five and a half games behind the leaders, the A's are fast gaining a reputation as giant killers.

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees hasn't forgotten that Jimmy Dykes' relaxed sluggers knocked the New Yorkers out of first place three times in 22 days. And Lopez remembers that the A's whipped his men two out of three recently to knock the Indians off the top perch.

On the other hand, the Yankees figure to find the cellar Browns easy pickin's.

The Indians play nine games in the east, two each in New York and Boston. Their remaining six games are all against the west with only the last two against the Tigers on their home lot.

The Yankees play 16 of their 19 remaining games at home but five are against the Red Sox, whom they also play three more times in Boston. The Red Sox have 12 of their remaining 20 games in friendly Fenway Park.

The National League race, or what's left of it, resumes in the west tomorrow with Brooklyn playing the Reds in a night game in Cincinnati and the New York Giants facing the Cards in a twi-night doubleheader in St. Louis.

The Dodgers, who hold a five and a half game bulge on the Giants, can clinch the flag by winning 13 of their remaining 19 games even if the Giants win all their 16.

CHAMP AND EX-CHAMP INCH BY INCH—If statistics count, new middleweight boxing king Randy Turpin will have quite an edge over ex-champ and challenger Sugar Ray Robinson in their return title bout at the Polo Grounds, New York, Wednesday night. The British battler outmeasures his opponent in almost every physical department except height and his eight-year advantage may prove helpful over the 15-round championship route.

Lions, Steelers Trade Gridders

DETROIT, Sept. 10 (AP) — A two-for-one player swap with Pittsburgh was announced today by the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

The Lions traded a pair of rookies —Halfback Ed Pasky and Tackle Gordon Hansen — to the Steelers for veteran Guard Barry French.

Detroit needed additional strength at the guard post because its No. 1 draft choice last year, Guar Dick Stanfel of San Francisco, will be out all season with a knee injury.

KING OF THE DODGERS - By Alan Maver

Garden Lists 18 College Twin Bills

Many Top Quints Shun Games There

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—With C.C.N.Y. and Long Island University out of the picture because of the widespread basketball scandals, only 18 regular college basketball double-headers—the fewest in seven years—have been scheduled for Madison Square Garden.

New York University, St. John's of Brooklyn and Manhattan College will carry the load for the locals, according to the Garden schedule released today. N.Y.U. will have 15 dates, St. John's 12 and Manhattan nine. Seton Hall University of South Orange, N. J., will make two appearances, against Iona and Western Kentucky.

In addition to C.C.N.Y. and L.I.U., many of the top teams which have made regular pilgrimages to the one-time basketball mecca, will not be seen by Garden audiences. They don't show for a variety of reasons, foremost of which is the widespread fixing scandals.

Among The Missing

Kentucky, the N.C.A.A. champions and the No. 1 team in the country last year, Kansas State, Bradley, Bowling Green, Stanford, Washington State, San Francisco and UCLA are among the missing.

Kentucky, which has been coming here off and on since the 1934-35 season, has its own field house now and arranged for St. John's of Brooklyn to play in Lexington this year. This agreement was made before the fix cases broke across the front pages.

L.I.U. dropped varsity basketball altogether when its players became involved in the scandal and New York's board of higher education ordered C.C.N.Y. out of the Garden. Seven members of C.C.N.Y.'s grand slam champions of 1950 were implicated in the mess.

Lose NCAA Games

Besides losing the considerable number of outstanding teams, the Garden no longer will be the scene of part of the N.C.A.A. championships. The National Invitation Tournament, a Garden fixture, will be staged again, however. This Tourney is run by the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Association.

The U. S. Olympic trails will be held in the Garden once again, making up, in part, for the loss of the N.C.A.A. games.

The schedule:

Dec. 1—Manhattan-Siena; N. Y. U. - William & Mary.
Dec. 6—St. John's-Brham Young; Manhattan College-Texas Christian.
Dec. 8—St. John's-Washington & Jefferson; N.Y.U.-Temple.
Dec. 13—N. Y. U. - Colgate; Manhattan-Texas A & M.
Dec. 15—St. John's-Rhode Island State; Seton Hall-Iona College.
Dec. 20—N.Y.U.-Holy Cross; Manhattan-North Carolina State.
Dec. 22—N. Y. U.-Oklahoma; St. John's-Vanderbilt.
Dec. 27—N.Y.U.-Arizona; St. John's-Utah.
Dec. 29—St. John's-Dayton; Manhattan-Louisville.
Jan. 3—N.Y.U.-West Virginia; Seton Hall-Western Kentucky.
Jan. 5—St. John's-St. Joseph's; N.Y.U.-LaFayette.
Jan. 10—N.Y.U.-Duke; St. John's-Loyola of Chicago.
Jan. 15—N.Y.U.-St. Louis; St. John's-Manhattan.
Feb. 7—Manhattan-Depaul; N.Y.U.-Syracuse.
Feb. 14—N.Y.U.-Niagara; St. John's-St. Bonaventure.
Feb. 21—N.Y.U.—Manhattan; St. John's-Cincinnati.
Feb. 25—N.Y.U.-Notre Dame; Iona-(pending).
Feb. 28—N.Y.U.-St. John's Manhattan-LaSalle.

The cuscus is a small animal of New Guinea that is somewhat similar to the flying squirrel. When it thinks it is in danger, the cuscus suspends itself from a branch by its long prehensile tail, swaying among the leaves as if it were some dead fruit. It will remain in this position as long as it thinks it is observed or until exhausted.

Oak Wilt Check Now On Ground

The ground phase of "Operation Oak Wilt" will begin this morning when field crews start checking diseased oak trees in Allegany and Garrett Counties which were spotted from the air Sunday.

District Forester William H. Johnson said the 136 places of infestations were marked on large scale maps so that they will be easy to pin-ponit. The maps are one inch per half mile in scale. Most of these maps had only one or two points checked.

Samples will be taken from each of the trees that has died from disease and tests will be conducted to ascertain whether any or all are oak wilt.

Johnson stated that he had at least one check on the accuracy of the air search of Sunday. The tree near the Savage River dam, from which the first oak wilt sample in the area was taken July 19, was spotted by one crew which did not know in advance the whereabouts of the tree.

Series Of Thefts Probed By Police

The owner, Robert F. Gerson, notified police Sunday night the loot included a ton of automobile valves and 60 high pressure water valves.

Detective Ernest M. Powell, who is investigating, said entrance to a building was gained by sawing a lock from a hasp. The theft occurred between Friday and Sunday.

Three Divorces Granted In Circuit Court

Three divorces were granted yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

John Edward Stottlemyer was given a divorce from Betty Lee Stottlemyer and she was permitted to resume her maiden name of Betty Lee Bolinger. Hannah E. Blubaugh was granted a divorce from Harry C. Blubaugh and custody of two minor children. Charles C. King was awarded a divorce from Naomi V. King.

Fuse Fire Checked

Central firemen answered a call yesterday at 7:56 p. m. at the E. V. Coyle Furniture Store, Baltimore Street. A fuse shorted and heated up in a box on the third floor causing the fire. No damage was reported.

Squirrel Hunting Prospects Better; To Begin Oct. 5

Squirrel hunters should find better hunting when they start pouring into the woods next month, Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said yesterday.

The season opens October 5, later than last year's, but it will also be longer, lasting until October 31. Woodcock also comes into season on October 5 and can be hunted until November 3.

Prospects for this year's squirrel "crop" are better than last year's, Minke said, partly because of the late season and partly because of a better nut crop.

Since squirrels are semi-migratory, depending on the nut supply, many are expected to get to Allegany County before the season opens.

Minke said the prospects still aren't good, because last year was a poor season and was very lightly hunted. He noted, however, that 8,000 licenses were sold in this county for both the 1949 and 1950 seasons.

About 4,000 hunters from Western Maryland and other parts of the state are expected to fill the county's woods on opening day. Minke urged hunters not to take ruffed grouse and turkeys during the squirrel season, thereby depleting the stock for the open season.

He pointed out that there are too few game wardens to catch all violators, and asked that hunters give other sportsmen a chance at the birds.

Most states, he noted, do not open squirrel season until the ruffed grouse and turkey season opens, thereby protecting the birds until they are ready to be hunted.

In Maryland, however, the turkey and grouse season opens November 15 and ends November 30.

Federal Migratory Bird Regulations have been altered to give duck and goose hunters five more days of shooting than in 1950. The season opens November 22 and ends January 5.

Oak Wilt Check Now On Ground

The ground phase of "Operation Oak Wilt" will begin this morning when field crews start checking diseased oak trees in Allegany and Garrett Counties which were spotted from the air Sunday.

District Forester William H. Johnson said the 136 places of infestations were marked on large scale maps so that they will be easy to pin-ponit. The maps are one inch per half mile in scale. Most of these maps had only one or two points checked.

Samples will be taken from each of the trees that has died from disease and tests will be conducted to ascertain whether any or all are oak wilt.

Johnson stated that he had at least one check on the accuracy of the air search of Sunday. The tree near the Savage River dam, from which the first oak wilt sample in the area was taken July 19, was spotted by one crew which did not know in advance the whereabouts of the tree.

Series Of Thefts Probed By Police

City police detectives are continuing a probe into the theft of a ton of brass valves valued at $700 from the American Iron and Metal Company, Springdale Street, over the weekend.

The owner, Robert F. Gerson, notified police Sunday night the loot included a ton of automobile valves and 60 high pressure water valves.

Detective Ernest M. Powell, who is investigating, said entrance to a building was gained by sawing a lock from a hasp. The theft occurred between Friday and Sunday.

John Cooper, 28 Bedford Street, reported a new $50 wristwatch and a diamond ring valued at $150 were taken from a dresser drawer in his bedroom.

Squirrel Hunting Prospects Better; To Begin Oct. 5

Squirrel hunters should find better hunting when they start pouring into the woods next month, Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said yesterday.

The season opens October 5, later than last year's, but it will also be longer, lasting until October 31. Woodcock also comes into season on October 5 and can be hunted until November 3.

Prospects for this year's squirrel "crop" are better than last year's, Minke said, partly because of the late season and partly because of a better nut crop.

Since squirrels are semi-migratory, depending on the nut supply, many are expected to get to Allegany County before the season opens.

Minke said the prospects still aren't good, because last year was a poor season and was very lightly hunted. He noted, however, that 8,000 licenses were sold in this county for both the 1949 and 1950 seasons.

About 4,000 hunters from Western Maryland and other parts of the state are expected to fill the county's woods on opening day. Minke urged hunters not to take ruffed grouse and turkeys during the squirrel season, thereby depleting the stock for the open season.

He pointed out that there are too few game wardens to catch all violators, and asked that hunters give other sportsmen a chance at the birds.

Most states, he noted, do not open squirrel season until the ruffed grouse and turkey season opens, thereby protecting the birds until they are ready to be hunted.

In Maryland, however, the turkey and grouse season opens November 15 and ends November 30.

Federal Migratory Bird Regulations have been altered to give duck and goose hunters five more days of shooting than in 1950. The season opens November 22 and ends January 5.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 70 (INS)—Wednesday is a big day in Jesse L. Lasky's life. He's the honor guest of the motion picture producers at a testimonial dinner at the Ambassador. I don't know anyone who better deserves this recognition than Jesse, who has forgotten more about motion pictures than many of the newcomers will ever learn.

Jesse Lasky

It's appropriate that just at this time this dinner is being given Jesse, and when his latest picture, "The Great Caruso," is so popular, he realizes an ambition to film "The Big Brass Band," his own original story. This story goes back to Lasky's boyhood in San Jose, when he was a promising cornet player and his hero was the late John Philip Sousa.

"The Big Brass Band," Jesse tells me, will be a romantic story of two young musicians, and many of the big name bands will be featured.

The blonde figure with the dark glasses on the Paramount lot was Shelley Winters, no less. Shelley was talking to Hal Wallis about making a secret test for "Come Back, Little Sheba," with Charlton Heston, who will be announced any edition.

Shelley said if her bosses at Universal-International would let her make the picture she'd cancel her trip to Europe. But she was given a fast "no" and told there were plans for her at her own studio.

If she does cancel her trip what it would do to her romance with Farley Granger is anybody's guess. I'm in no mood to use my crystal ball where Shelley's concerned—she's too unpredictable.

The death of former Ambassador to Germany James Gerard brings back many memories.

I interviewed him when he was sent home from Germany during the First World War and later I reviewed his story, a motion picture called "My Four Years In Germany." His story was the first big war picture and the most important Warner Brothers picture at that time. I hate to tell you it was in 1917. I'll be telling my age if I don't watch out.

Another memory comes back to me. When Lord Northcliffe visited New York, Ambassador Gerard and I were sitting in the waiting room. There were many others waiting, too. As Northcliff's secretary called the ambassador in, he turned to me and said, "Louella, if you'll call my office and say I'll be there shortly I'll see that you get in next." And he did.

I am very grateful to Joan Crawford, Dorothy Lamour, Jane Wyman and Harriet Parsons for making it possible for me to have a rest and a vacation.

They did my news on my radio show, and did it so well I'm getting fan letters about them.

It's a great thing to have good friends, and even greater to have friends who have talent. Each one of these girls was a standout, and anytime they want a job as a lady commentator I'll give them a recommendation.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Alida Valli, who is back in town, says she was never sick for a minute in Italy despite reports. She is on suspension—put there by David Selznick for refusing to do a picture.

Ethel Smith, here on her way to San Diego for a concert, admits she and Conrad Nagle are a beeg romance, but says they are not secretly married.

Jerry Lewis is as funny off the screen as on, and that's "plenty" funny. He had the whole Paramount commissary in stitches when he did his night club routine.

Tht pretty Virginia Warren, the governor's daughter, was at the Mocambo with Brad Dexter, good looking M. G. M. contract actor.

Humphrey Bogart and "Baby" sailed for home Friday, and they'll be here in a few days.

Stanley Donen, once Elizabeth Taylor's favorite boy friend, is now escorting Marion Marshall to the night spots—especially Ciro's.

Mrs. Ken Murray, the former Betty Lou Walters, has gone east to be with Ken. She'll have her baby in New York in December.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

LONG HAIR AND FEMME FATALE

Jezebel

Salome

Bathsheba

Lucrezia Borgia

By CENTRAL PRESS

HOLLYWOOD—Jezebel, Bathsheba, Salome and Lucrezia Borgia, four famous sirens of antiquity outstanding for their beauty, brains and passions, had one thing in common, a great pride in their lovingly cultivated, excessively long hair.

Perhaps that was the "key to their success."

Jezebel was the crafty, cruel, heathen queen who, with her wiles and superior spirit ruled Ahab the king and sucked the blood of Israel for so many years.

Salome was one of the most cruel and artful women of all time, the Biblical personification of perversity and insidiousness. She demanded the head of John the Baptist on a platter.

Over-sexed Lucrezia Borgia, daughter of Pope Alexander the Sixth, was distinguished for her beauty, talents and intoxicating charm; also her passion for poisoning people.

Bathsheba, one of the few women to achieve prominence in the Old Testament, was so exotically charming she compelled David, King of Israel, to break the rigid Law of Moses, "Thou shalt not commit adultery." Her story will be portrayed by Susan Hayward (above) in a forthcoming movie.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—(INS)—It would be grossly unfair to expect Congress to come up with sensible legislation after a full summer spent in Washington.

Washington summers are so tough that the only way the polar bears at the local zoo survive is to munch dry ice with their herring.

But no one expected of Congress anything like a little item that appears ready to become sacred law. It is a plan to raise $400 million a year by taxing gamblers. Not the legalized racetracks and qualified dice tables, etc., in such places as Reno and Las Vegas. Just gamblers.

Last we heard of gamblers they had all been run out of business by the Kefauver committee — another arm of the Congress—or were busy trying to choose one among many attractive television offers extended to them. One, man named Frank Erickson, had actually gone to the sneezer.

Now the same Congress which was viewing with alarm hardly two weeks ago wants a bite of the kale that changes hands daily in the subversive wagering marts of the land.

There's no question in my mind that Congress could easily get that addtiional $400 million in taxes on gamblers. Matter of fact, it could raise a good chunk of it by cutting in on the "handle" of the Turpin-Robinson fight, one of the biggest gambling fights this country ever had.

But in order to collect the 400 mil Congress would have to appropriate let's say 500 mil to set up a special collecting agency of the Bureau of Internal Revenue. This might be considered bad business management even in Washington, where the electricity bills for officials who stay up late figuring out new ways of giving away money would choke a whale.

Odd thing about the new legislation-to-be (which has been adopted by the House and has the approval of the Senate Finance Committee) is that it exempts most of those individual and corporate gamblers who might be tapped without too much trouble: The aforesaid race tracks, Nevada pleasure domes, country fairs, charity bazars, bingo bacchanals, organized poker-bridge-canasta parties, and big-time golf club "Calcutta' 'orgies. That doesn't leave much that can be legally bagged.

According to the word from Washington, "bookmakers and other commercial gamblers" would be socked 10 per cent of their play, plus a $50 a year occupational tax per head.

It said also that the bet tax would be clamped on other blokes who take bets on prize fights, basketball, baseball, football, and off-course hoss play.

• — • — •

Congress invited numbers men, for instance, to deduct 10 per cent of their payoffs, and added that it would be just ginger if the gorillas sent the money post-haste to Washington.

Those latter pirates might very well seize upon this invitation, with a pious shake of the jowls, and deprive their haggard customers of the ten per cent. But I would suggest—having the interests of the Congress at heart—that its members do not hold their breaths until the blokes send on the cabbage.

If this farce becomes law we'll have a new and interesting type of civil war within the country. On the one hand we'll have the forces of law and order continuing to drive the gamblers out of business (as witness the Kefauver committee and men like District Attorney Frank Hogan). On the other hand the forces of the federal government will be attempting to put the bite on unjailed gamblers. The more efficient is the first force the less money the second force will be able to rake in.

Not that something like that has not been going on for years. One division of the Treasury Department, customs, and the Post Office Department devote much time and money to the task of keeping Irish sweepstakes tickets out of this country.

But immediately it becomes known that Brenda Bramskf, Bronx housewife, has won a first prize, another arm of the Treasury moves in happily and tells her that that puts her in the 92 per cent tax bracket, causing Brenda eventually to run amok and slaughter the spawn.

The blonde figure with the dark glasses on the Paramount lot was Shelley Winters, no less. Shelley was talking to Hal Wallis about making a secret test for "Come Back, Little Sheba," with Charlton Heston, who will be announced any edition.

Shelley said if her bosses at Universal-International would let her make the picture she'd cancel her trip to Europe. But she was given a fast "no" and told there were plans for her at her own studio.

If she does cancel her trip what it would do to her romance with Farley Granger is anybody's guess. I'm in no mood to use my crystal ball where Shelley's concerned—she's too unpredictable.

The death of former Ambassador to Germany James Gerard brings back many memories.

I interviewed him when he was sent home from Germany during the First World War and later I reviewed his story, a motion picture called "My Four Years In Germany." His story was the first big war picture and the most important Warner Brothers picture at that time. I hate to tell you it was in 1917. I'll be telling my age if I don't watch out.

Another memory comes back to me. When Lord Northcliffe visited New York, Ambassador Gerard and I were sitting in the waiting room. There were many others waiting, too. As Northcliff's secretary called the ambassador in, he turned to me and said, "Louella, if you'll call my office and say I'll be there shortly I'll see that you get in next." And he did.

I am very grateful to Joan Crawford, Dorothy Lamour, Jane Wyman and Harriet Parsons for making it possible for me to have a rest and a vacation.

They did my news on my radio show, and did it so well I'm getting fan letters about them.

It's a great thing to have good friends, and even greater to have friends who have talent. Each one of these girls was a standout, and anytime they want a job as a lady commentator I'll give them a recommendation.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Alida Valli, who is back in town, says she was never sick for a minute in Italy despite reports. She is on suspension—put there by David Selznick for refusing to do a picture.

Ethel Smith, here on her way to San Diego for a concert, admits she and Conrad Nagle are a beeg romance, but says they are not secretly married.

Jerry Lewis is as funny off the screen as on, and that's "plenty" funny. He had the whole Paramount commissary in stitches when he did his night club routine.

Tht pretty Virginia Warren, the governor's daughter, was at the Mocambo with Brad Dexter, good looking M. G. M. contract actor.

Humphrey Bogart and "Baby" sailed for home Friday, and they'll be here in a few days.

Stanley Donen, once Elizabeth Taylor's favorite boy friend, is now escorting Marion Marshall to the night spots—especially Ciro's.

Mrs. Ken Murray, the former Betty Lou Walters, has gone east to be with Ken. She'll have her baby in New York in December.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Jezebel

Salome

Bathsheba

By CENTRAL PRESS

HOLLYWOOD—Jezebel, Bathsheba, Salome and Lucrezia Borgia, four famous sirens of antiquity outstanding for their beauty, brains and passions, had one thing in common, a great pride in their lovingly cultivated, excessively long hair.

Perhaps that was the "key to their success."

Jezebel was the crafty, cruel, heathen queen who, with her wiles and superior spirit ruled Ahab the king and sucked the blood of Israel for so many years.

Salome was one of the most cruel and artful women of all time, the Biblical personification of perversity and insidiousness. She demanded the head of John the Baptist on a platter.

Over-sexed Lucrezia Borgia, daughter of Pope Alexander the Sixth, was distinguished for her beauty, talents and intoxicating charm; also her passion for poisoning people.

Bathsheba, one of the few women to achieve prominence in the Old Testament, was so exotically charming she compelled David, King of Israel, to break the rigid Law of Moses, "Thou shalt not commit adultery." Her story will be portrayed by Susan Hayward (above) in a forthcoming movie.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—(INS)—It would be grossly unfair to expect Congress to come up with sensible legislation after a full summer spent in Washington.

Washington summers are so tough that the only way the polar bears at the local zoo survive is to munch dry ice with their herring.

But no one expected of Congress anything like a little item that appears ready to become sacred law. It is a plan to raise $400 million a year by taxing gamblers. Not the legalized racetracks and qualified dice tables, etc., in such places as Reno and Las Vegas. Just gamblers.

Last we heard of gamblers they had all been run out of business by the Kefauver committee — another arm of the Congress—or were busy trying to choose one among many attractive television offers extended to them. One, man named Frank Erickson, had actually gone to the sneezer.

Now the same Congress which was viewing with alarm hardly two weeks ago wants a bite of the kale that changes hands daily in the subversive wagering marts of the land.

There's no question in my mind that Congress could easily get that addtiional $400 million in taxes on gamblers. Matter of fact, it could raise a good chunk of it by cutting in on the "handle" of the Turpin-Robinson fight, one of the biggest gambling fights this country ever had.

But in order to collect the 400 mil Congress would have to appropriate let's say 500 mil to set up a special collecting agency of the Bureau of Internal Revenue. This might be considered bad business management even in Washington, where the electricity bills for officials who stay up late figuring out new ways of giving away money would choke a whale.

Odd thing about the new legislation-to-be (which has been adopted by the House and has the approval of the Senate Finance Committee) is that it exempts most of those individual and corporate gamblers who might be tapped without too much trouble: The aforesaid race tracks, Nevada pleasure domes, country fairs, charity bazars, bingo bacchanals, organized poker-bridge-canasta parties, and big-time golf club "Calcutta" 'orgies. That doesn't leave much that can be legally bagged.

According to the word from Washington, "bookmakers and other commercial gamblers" would be socked 10 per cent of their play, plus a $50 a year occupational tax per head.

It said also that the bet tax would be clamped on other blokes who take bets on prize fights, basketball, baseball, football, and off-course hoss play.

● — ● — ●

Congress invited numbers men, for instance, to deduct 10 per cent of their payoffs, and added that it would be just ginger if the gorillas sent the money post-haste to Washington.

Those latter pirates might very well seize upon this invitation, with a pious shake of the jowls, and deprive their haggard customers of the ten per cent. But I would suggest—having the interests of the Congress at heart—that its members do not hold their breaths until the blokes send on the cabbage.

If this farce becomes law we'll have a new and interesting type of civil war within the country. On the one hand we'll have the forces of law and order continuing to drive the gamblers out of business (as witness the Kefauver committee and men like District Attorney Frank Hogan). On the other hand the forces of the federal government will be attempting to put the bite on unjailed gamblers. The more efficient is the first force the less money the second force will be able to rake in.

Not that something like that has not been going on for years. One division of the Treasury Department, customs, and the Post Office Department devote much time and money to the task of keeping Irish sweepstakes tickets out of this country.

But immediately it becomes known that Brenda Bramskf, Bronx housewife, has won a first prize, another arm of the Treasury moves in happily and tells her that that puts her in the 92 per cent tax bracket, causing Brenda eventually to run amok and slaughter the spawn.

Give up?

Stock Market Establishes Fourth Straight 1951 High

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—With bullish persistence the stock market reached ahead again today and established its fourth straight new 1951 high.

The forward movement took in a big majority of major divisions, but there was notable backwardness principally in the automobiles and utilities.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 30 cents to $99.-60, a new high for the year and the best in nearly 21 years.

The rise today was the ninth consecutive, an unbroken string of advances not matched since mid-1947.

The first hour accounted for 520,-000 shares with the market rising, and the final hour for 540,000 shares with prices falling. The total for the day came to 2,190,000 shares, the best since June 25. Friday's total was 1,930,000 shares.

With the AP average of 60 stocks up 30 cents at $99.60, the industrial component advanced 70 cents and the railroads 30 cents while the utilities lost 20 cents.

General Motors unchanged at 50⅞ and Chrysler down ¼ at 71⅜ held back the motor group. Chrysler filed a new list of wholesale prices, up around 6½ per cent as permitted by the Office of Price Stabilization.

Some of the gold issues got attention, possibly because of interest focused on debate before the International Monetary Fund on a higher price for gold. The U. S. Treasury is holding solidly for its traditional price of $35 a fine ounce.

Sunray Oil was the day's most active issue up ⅝ at 23⅞ with 32,-400 shares traded. It was followed by Calumet & Hecla unchanged at 10¾, U. S. Steel up 1 at 44⅞, Packard Motors up ⅛ at 5⅛, St. Regis Paper up ⅞ at 18⅞, and Northern Pacific up 1⅞ at 53⅞.

Stock Market Establishes Fourth Straight 1951 High

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—With bullish persistence the stock market reached ahead again today and established its fourth straight new 1951 high.

The forward movement took in a big majority of major divisions, but there was notable backwardness principally in the automobiles and utilities.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 30 cents to $99.-60, a new high for the year and the best in nearly 21 years.

The rise today was the ninth consecutive, an unbroken string of advances not matched since mid-1947.

The first hour accounted for 520,-000 shares with the market rising, and the final hour for 540,000 shares with prices falling. The total for the day came to 2,190,000 shares, the best since June 25. Friday's total was 1,930,000 shares.

With the AP average of 60 stocks up 30 cents at $99.60, the industrial component advanced 70 cents and the railroads 30 cents while the utilities lost 20 cents.

General Motors unchanged at 50⅞ and Chrysler down ¼ at 71⅜ held back the motor group. Chrysler filed a new list of wholesale prices, up around 6½ per cent as permitted by the Office of Price Stabilization.

Some of the gold issues got attention, possibly because of interest focused on debate before the International Monetary Fund on a higher price for gold. The U. S. Treasury is holding solidly for its traditional price of $35 a fine ounce.

Sunray Oil was the day's most active issue up ⅝ at 23⅞ with 32,-400 shares traded. It was followed by Calumet & Hecla unchanged at 10¾, U. S. Steel up 1 at 44⅞, Packard Motors up ½ at 5½, St. Regis Paper up ⅞ at 18⅞, and Northern Pacific up 1⅞ at 53⅞.

Civil Defense Week To Open Here Tomorrow

Program Needs More Volunteers

Civil Defense banners were placed on Police Headquarters and at all city fire stations yesterday as part of preparations for Civil Defense Week, which opens tomorrow.

Arthur B. Gibson, city co-ordinator, said the observance is designed largely to recruit volunteer workers, but also to arouse public awareness of the need for the Civil Defense program.

Volunteers Needed

Gibson said volunteers are urgently needed if the program is to be adequate in case of disaster.

He explained the chief duties of wardens in time of emergency would be to evacuate residents to designated places of safety, to treat the injured and to allay panic.

Under the CD setup, the city is split into its regular election districts. Each of the six zones has a zone warden, who organizes his unit by precincts.

Precinct wardens in turn organize their workers by blocks. Plans call for a warden in every block.

At present, Gibson said, the program lacks adequate facilities for teaching wardens how to care for burn and shock victims in event of atomic attack. They also need instruction in communications.

Block Canvass

Block workers already have canvassed their areas to determine the number of people living in each house and the number of evacuees they could house, if any.

Wardens will be sworn in sometime during Civil Defense Week, which ends next Wednesday, September 19.

Arriving with the CD banners yesterday were stickers for Civil Defense vehicles and a stack of recruiting posters bearing this message:

"We need your help—let's hope you never need ours."

Angus Sale Sets Record

An auction of registered Aberdeen-Angus beef cattle at the J. Garrett Tolan Farms, Pleasant Plains, Ill., established a new World's record price for cattle when fifty head of bulls and females brought a total of $512,300 for an average of $10,246 a head.

Other records tumbled for the Black beef breed. This includes the highest prices ever paid at a public auction for an Angus bull, for an Angus female and for an 8-month-old bull calf. The new record price for an Angus bull was $55,000 paid by Highlands Farm, Round Hill, Va., for Tolan Bandolier, a summer yearling bull sired by Eva's Bandolier Lad. This animal topped the sale. Next high in the sale was $40,000 paid for an 8-month-old bull calf, Eileenmere 1201st, sired by the 1950 International Livestock Exposition grand champion bull, Eileenmere 1050th. This young bull went to Mahrapo Farms, Mahwah, N. J.

A 2-year-old heifer, Eulimamere T., was purchased by Kinloch Farm, Supply, Va., for $25,500. This heifer was sired by the 1946 International grand champion bull, Eileenmere 500th; is a full sister to the 1949 International grand champion bull, Eileenmere 1032nd; and sold bred to the 1950 International grand champion, Eileenmere 1050th.

J. Garrett Tolan, whose farm is located on the old Lincoln Trail, northwest of Springfield, has been breeding Aberdeen-Angus cattle for 51 years. His herd has served as a fountainhead for breeding stock which has sold to every state in this country, Canada and South America.

ELECTRONIC PRESS IS DEMONSTRATED—Arthur C. Morgan, president of Free State Art Plastics, Inc., demonstrates a new electronic air actuated press with which the local concern hopes to speed up production of its products approximately 25 per cent in addition to opening up new fields of endeavor. The press operates from a radio frequency generator which supplies the high-frequency radio waves used to heat, seal and weld materials in the operation of the plastics products concern. A foot lever manually works the press with compressed air and a fluorescent light warns the operator when the machine is on. Looking on as Morgan uses the new press are Edward G. Archer, chemical engineer at the Celanese Corporation, and S. Russ Minter, local architect, who is also secretary of the plastics company.

Local Plastics Company Acquires New Electronic Welding Press; Plans Expansion Of Its Facilities

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON
News Staff Writer

With the acquisition of new electronic facilities for heating, sealing and welding plastics, Free State Art Plastics, Inc., hopes to expand its present location at the rear of 8 Pennsylvania Avenue to cover new fields of plastics design and manufacture.

The company has acquired a 37x120-foot property on Oldtown Road and will start erecting new buildings as soon as the present freeze on industrial building is lifted, officials of the concern said last night.

Demonstration Is Held

Currently operating a hydraulic form of press that operates with compressed air to press out large molds, and utilizing a control tracer to make designs, the company has been making plastic dishes, signs, design molds and many other small items.

Arthur C. Morgan, president, last night demonstrated a new air-actuated press which uses a radio frequency generator.

The new press uses high-frequency radio waves to heat material in sealing and welding operations. The heat is generated almost instantaneously within the material while the electrodes remain cold.

The generator has a 3,000-watt output capacity and is licensed by the Federal Communications Commission. It operates at 20 to 35 megacycles.

Uses Radio Heat

The press itself is operated by a foot lever which releases compressed air while the generator creates radioactive heat, which completes the welding process upon contact with the material. A fluorescent lamp, which lights from the radiation from the machine when it is on, warns the operator that the machine's current is being used, thus avoiding burns from the machine.

The new machine welds together plastic raincoats, pocket pencil protectors, wallets, garbage cans and diaper disposal units, and imprints designs in leathers or plastics, Morgan said.

The company can now make large molds for merchandise on the larger hydraulic-type press, trace designs on the tracer engraver, and imprint the designs on the material with the new press and weld the molds together at the same time.

Several Orders On Hand

The local company currently is endeavoring to perfect orders on diaper disposal units, three-way dimensional outdoor, all-weather signs, color television converters, and defense orders from the Army and Navy.

Besides Morgan, officers of the plastic organization are J. Henry Holzshu, vice president; S. Russ Minter, secretary; and Charles H. Hyde, treasurer.

Jennings Man Injured When Car Overturns

John Bittinger, 18, In Miner's Hospital

A Jennings, Md. man was injured when thrown from an automobile in which he was riding struck a guard rail and turned over five or six times on Route 40, west of Frostburg yesterday about 4 p. m.

John Bittinger, 18, was admitted to Miner's Hospital with severe injuries and lacerations about the head. Attaches said he was delierious and will receive X-rays today.

The driver, Wilbur Bittinger, 26, and a brother, Lloyd Bittinger, 23, cousins of John, also from Jennings, are confined in Frostburg city jail. Wilbur is being held on $112.90 bond for violation of motor vehicle laws and will be given a hearing before Trial Magistrate this morning, police said.

According to Frostburg police the three men were traveling down the east slope of Big Savage Mountain on the outskirts of the Frostburg city limits when the car struck a guard rail at Sand Spring Bridge and turned over five or six times.

Trooper Blair J. Buckle, Maryland State Police, is investigating.

Judge Convicts Youth On Train Wreck Charge

Sentences Will Be Imposed Today

Shortly before noon yesterday, four Westernport youths were convicted by Associate Judge George Henderson on charges of wrecking and attempting to wreck Western Maryland Railway trains.

Found guilty on the two charges, consolidated into a single case for trial yesterday, were Paul Russell Taylor, 15; John Francis Humes, 15; Arthur Leon Kerling, 25, and William David Taylor, 18.

Wreck Last August

They were charged with "feloniously, willfully and maliciuosly" wrecking, destroying, injuring and damaging Western Maryland Railway property on August 16, 1950. They were accused of tampering with a switch near the foundry siding of the railway at Luke, causing derailment of the locomotive and five freight cars.

Consolidated for the same trial was a second charge that the four youths destroyed, injured and damaged certain Western Maryland Railway property allegedly in attempting to wreck another train at the east end of the yards at Westernport.

Last Thursday, the younger Taylor boy, Kerling and Humes were convicted of arson by a jury, at the conclusion of a three-day trial in Cicruit Court. They were accused of setting fire to a powder magazine of the Harris Powder Company near Westernport last December 28.

Last April the other Taylor boy was convicted by another jury on the same charge and was sentenced to a term not to exceed three years in the State Reformatory for Males at Breathedsville.

Plead Guilty

Yesterday afternoon Paul Russell Taylor, Kerling and Humes returned to the courtroom and pleaded guilty before Judge Henderson to attempted arson in an abortive effort to set fire to another powder magazine of the Harris Powder Company June 7.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher then nolle prossed three other charges growing out of violence in the Westernport area. Two of these cases, in which all four were involved, were separate charges of breaking and injuring the switch lock and switch on the two occasions when the trains were damaged or threatened with damage. Fletcher remarked that in tampering with the switches they violated two laws with a single blow.

As a result of his step the cases will remain on the docket but no action will be taken on them.

Also nolle prossed yesterday by Fletcher was another arson charge against Paul Russell Taylor, Kerling and Humes growing out of a cap magazine explosion June 11 at the same Harris Powder Company.

As a result of yesterday's developments Paul Russell Taylor, Gerling and Humes stand convicted of four charges and William David Taylor has two more convictions added to his original one.

Sentencing Today

The four youths will appear before Judge Henderson for sentencing today at 11 a. m.

In another development yesterday Judge Henderson dismissed a motion made on behalf of Humes by Attorney Edward J. Ryan for a new trial. Ryan had made the motion Saturday on the conviction in last week's trial.

Ryan represented Humes and Kerling while Attorney Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., was attorney for the Taylor boys.

Banks And Courts Will Close For Defenders' Day

Tomorrow is Defenders' Day and the Allegany County Court House and banks of Cumberland will remain closed all day in observance of the state holiday.

Probably a good many persons wonder why tomorrow is Defenders' Day.

It was on September 12, 1814—137 years ago tomorrow—that the British were defeated after landing at North Point and Baltimore was saved from the invaders. The Battle of North Point was followed the next two days by the Battle of Fort McHenry, which has become better known because it inspired Francis Scott Key to write the "Star Spangled Banner."

Informations Name Six Men In Tire Ring

Two Face Charges Of Grand Larceny

A step was taken yesterday by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher to bring about an immediate trial in Allegany County Circiut Court of six local men allegedly involved in a tire theft ring.

Fletcher filed eight criminal informations in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court charging the men either with grand larceny or receipt of stolen goods.

The state's attorney reports that the six men have agreed to waive indictment so that they can be tried before the grand jury convenes Oct. 1.

Trial Likely Friday

Assistant State's Attorney William H. Geppert, who will handle the prosecution of the charges, said defense attorneys have agreed to try the cases Friday if that meets with the approval of Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, who will preside.

Only two of the men are charged with grand larceny but each faces two such charges. They are Anthony Smith Hickle, 30, 950 Gay Street, and Russell Fresh, 29, 918 Gay Street. They are accused of stealing seven truck tires, valued at a total of $774.86, April 16, and 10 automobile tires, worth a total of $200, April 27. Both thefts were staged at Charlton Brothers Transportation Company warehouse on Bowen Street.

Receiving Goods

The other four men are charged with receiving some, but not all, of the stolen tires.

Fred M. Propst, 25, Bowman's Addtion, is charged with receiving the seven stolen truck tires on or about April 27. Police said that Hickle and Fresh entered the warehouse, took the seven truck tires and rolled them to brush in the rear of the building. They reportedly then contacted Propst by telephone and he picked up the stolen goods for $85.

John H. McKenny, 28, 918 Gay Street, is charged with receiving the 10 automobile tires on or about April 29. Geppert said last night that McKenny is Fresh's brother-in-law and that Hickle and Fresh transported the 10 stolen automobile tires to McKenny's house from the warehouse.

Ralph L. Whorton, Sr., 50, 941 Gay Street, is charged with receiving four of the stolen automobile tires on or about April 30.

His son, Ralph Leo Whorton, 19, 941 Gay Street, is charged with receiving two of the stolen automobile tires on or about April 29. The Whortons are alleged to have come to McKenny's house and acquired some of the tires there.

Police report that all 17 of the stolen tires have been recovered.

The water level at Lake Gordon was 10 inches below the crest of the spillway, and at Lake Koon, five feet, eight inches below the crest.

Choral Group To Open Season

The Choristers also will begin their rehearsals tonight at City Hall.

All local residents with musical talent are invited to the rehearsal. There will be no auditions and all interested singers will be welcome.

First of the program will be presented October 30 by Geoffrey O'Hara, composer. Then, around Christmas time, the annual performance of "The Messiah" is scheduled.

The fourth program will be patriotic in nature and will stress Waring's cantata, "Song of America."

The group will continue its rehearsals of Verdi's "Requiem" this season.

Platt also explained that a number of special artists programs, similar to those offered last year, will be presented.

TV Tower Loss Set At $1,000

An uninsured loss of $1,000 was sustained when a television tower on Piedmont Hill, Piedmont, W. Va., was burned yesterday morning, the owners reported last night.

This second attempt in five days to burn the 50-foot structure was successful as only the standards remained.

The tower was damaged last Wednesday to the extent of between $50 and $75. Lumber had been stacked against the base of the tower, but the fire was discovered before it had gained much headway.

The fire this morning started at the top of the tower, which was covered with tar roofing. Fire companies were unable to reach the scene.

The Upper Potomac Television Company had been working several months on the project, designed to bring television to the community by means of a cable from the tower.

Cumberland Jumps The Gun On Postal Rate Increases

Because of an announcement that the Senate passed a bill Friday night which would increase postage on ordinary letters from three cents to four, the local post office has been receiving letters with stamps amounting to four cents in the mail, and numerous inquiries asking about the new measure, according to Thomas F. Conlon, postmaster.

Conlon said that the bill is not yet a law and must go through other procedures including passage by the House of Representatives and signature by the President before it affects the public.

Conlon declared that postal rates remain the same with no change in prices for mailing letters or postal cards. Postal rates, in the future, if the bill is passed by the House, may be hiked.

The bill is designed to wipe out part of the Post Office Department's huge annual deficit. The measure provides an increase on postal cards from one cent to two cents, raises the postage for ordinary airmail letters from six cents to eight cents, and first class letters from three to four cents.

The increases are not effective at present and will not be until the bill becomes a law, Conlon emphasized.

Civil Defense Week To Open Here Tomorrow

Program Needs More Volunteers

Civil Defense banners were placed on Police Headquarters and at all city fire stations yesterday as part of preparations for Civil Defense Week, which opens tomorrow.

Arthur B. Gibson, city co-ordinator, said the observance is designed largely to recruit volunteer workers, but also to arouse public awareness of the need for the Civil Defense program.

Volunteers Needed

Gibson said volunteers are urgently needed if the program is to be adequate in case of disaster.

He explained the chief duties of wardens in time of emergency would be to evacuate residents to designated places of safety, to treat the injured and to allay panic.

Under the CD setup, the city is split into its regular election districts. Each of the six zones has a zone warden, who organizes his unit by precincts.

Precinct wardens in turn organize their workers by blocks. Plans call for a warden in every block.

At present, Gibson said, the program lacks adequate facilities for teaching wardens how to care for burn and shock victims in event of atomic attack. They also need instruction in communications.

Block Canvass

Block workers already have canvassed their areas to determine the number of people living in each house and the number of evacuees they could house, if any.

Wardens will be sworn in sometime during Civil Defense Week, which ends next Wednesday, September 19.

Arriving with the CD banners yesterday were stickers for Civil Defense vehicles and a stack of recruiting posters bearing this message:

"We need your help—let's hope you never need ours."

Angus Sale Sets Record

An auction of registered Aberdeen-Angus beef cattle at the J. Garrett Tolan Farms, Pleasant Plains, Ill., established a new World's record price for cattle when fifty head of bulls and females brought a total of $512,300 for an average of $10,246 a head.

Other records tumbled for the Black beef breed. This includes the highest prices ever paid at a public auction for an Angus bull, for an Angus female and for an 8-month-old bull calf. The new record price for an Angus bull was $75,000 paid by Highlands Farm, Round Hill, Va., for Tolan Bando-lier, a summer yearling bull sired by Eva's Bandolier Lad. This animal topped the sale. Next high in the sale was $40,000 paid for an 8-month-old bull calf, Ellenmere 1201st, sired by the 1950 International Livestock Exposition grand champion bull, Ellenmere 1050th. This young bull went to Mahrapo Farms, Mahwah, N. J.

A 2-year-old heifer, Ballmamere T., was purchased by Kinloch Farm, Supply, Va., for $25,500. This heifer was sired by the 1946 International grand champion bull, Ellenmere 500th; is a full sister to the 1949 International grand champion bull, Ellenmere 1032nd; and sold bred to the 1950 International grand champion, Ellenmere 1050th.

J. Garrett Tolan, whose farm is located on the old Lincoln Trail, northwest of Springfield, has been breeding Aberdeen-Angus cattle for 32 years. His herd has served as a fountainhead for breeding stock which has sold to every state in this country, Canada and South America.

ELECTRONIC PRESS IS DEMONSTRATED—Arthur C. Morgan, president of Free State Art Plastics, Inc., demonstrates a new electronic air actuated press with which the local concern hopes to speed up production of its products approximately 25 per cent in addition to opening up new fields of endeavor. The press operates from a radio frequency generator which supplies the high-frequency radio waves used to heat, seal and weld materials in the operation of the plastics products concern. A foot lever manually works the press with compressed air and a fluorescent light warns the operator when the machine is on. Looking on as Morgan uses the new press are Edward G. Archer, chemical engineer at the Celanese Corporation, and S. Russ Minter, local architect, who is also secretary of the plastics company.

Local Plastics Company Acquires New Electronic Welding Press; Plans Expansion Of Its Facilities

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON
News Staff Writer

With the acquisition of new electronic facilities for heating, sealing and welding plastics, Free State Art Plastics, Inc., hopes to expand its present location at the rear of 8 Pennsylvania Avenue to cover new fields of plastics design and manufacture.

The company has acquired a 97x120-foot property on Oldtown Road and will start erecting new buildings as soon as the present freeze on industrial building is lifted, officials of the concern said last night.

Demonstration Is Held

Currently operating a hydraulic form of press that operates with compressed air to press out large molds, and utilizing a control tracer to make designs, the company has been making plastic dishes, signs, design molds and many other small items.

Arthur C. Morgan, president, last night demonstrated a new air-actuated press which uses a radio frequency generator.

The new press uses high-frequency radio waves to heat material in sealing and welding operations. The heat is generated almost instantaneously within the material while the electrodes remain cold.

The generator has a 3,000-watt output capacity and is licensed by the Federal Communications Commission. It operates at 20 to 35 megacycles.

Uses Radio Heat

The press itself is operated by a foot lever which releases compressed air while the generator creates radioactive heat, which completes the welding process upon contact with the material. A fluorescent lamp, which lights from the radiation from the machine when it is on, warns the operator that the machine's current is being used, thus avoiding burns from the machine.

The new machine welds together plastic raincoats, pocket pencil protectors, wallets, garbage cans and diaper disposal units, and imprints designs in leathers or plastics, Morgan said.

The company can now make large molds for merchandise on the larger hydraulic-type press, trace designs on the tracer engraver, and imprint the designs on the material with the new press and weld the molds together at the same time.

Several Orders On Hand

The local company currently is endeavoring to perfect orders on diaper disposal units, three-way dimensional outdoor, all-weather signs, color television converters, and defense orders from the Army and Navy.

Besides Morgan, officers of the plastic organization are J. Henry Holzshu, vice president; S. Russ Minter, secretary; and Charles H. Hyde, treasurer.

Attending last night's demonstration were L. Leslie Helmer, assistant plant manager of the Celanese Corporation; Robert Brown, personnel manager at the Amcelle plant; Edward G. Archer, chemical engineer at the Celanese plant, and officers of the organization.

Delton Johnson Kills Rattlesnake Near Independence St.

A three foot rattlesnake, with 11 rattles and a button, was killed yesterday evening at 409 Independence Street by Delton Johnson.

Johnson grabbed a hoe from the back porch located the snake and killed it. He then called a neighbor, Gilbert Kauffman, and both searched for a possible second snake.

Delton Johnson, Jr., about nine years old, was also playing in the immediate area when the rattling noise, first thought to be a locust, was heard. Kauffman said last night it was the first time he has known of a rattlesnake being found in that area.

Judge Convicts Youth On Train Wreck Charge

Sentences Will Be Imposed Today

Shortly before noon yesterday, four Westernport youths were convicted by Associate Judge George Henderson on charges of wrecking and attempting to wreck Western Maryland Railway trains.

Found guilty on the two charges, consolidated into a single case for trial yesterday, were Paul Russell Taylor, 15; John Francis Humes, 15; Arthur Leon Kerling, 25, and William David Taylor, 18.

Wreck Last August

They were charged with "feloniously, willfully and maliciuosly" wrecking, destroying, injuring and damaging Western Maryland Railway property on August 16, 1950. They were accused of tampering with a switch near the foundry siding of the railway at Luke, causing derailment of the locomotive and five freight cars.

Consolidated for the same trial was a second charge that the four youths destroyed, injured and damaged certain Western Maryland Railway property allegedly in attempting to wreck another train at the east end of the yards at Westernport.

Last Thursday, the younger Taylor boy, Kerling and Humes were convicted of arson by a jury, at the conclusion of a three-day trial in Cicruit Court. They were accused of setting fire to a powder magazine of the Harris Powder Company near Westernport last December 28.

Last April the other Taylor boy was convicted by another jury on the same charge and was sentenced to a term not to exceed three years in the State Reformatory for Males at Breathedsville.

Plead Guilty

Yesterday afternoon Paul Russell Taylor, Kerling and Humes returned to the courtroom and pleaded guilty before Judge Henderson to attempted arson in an abortive effort to set fire to another powder magazine of the Harris Powder Company June 7.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher then nolle prossed three other charges growing out of violence in the Westernport area. Two of these cases, in which all four were involved, were separate charges of breaking and injuring the switch lock and switch on the two occasions when the trains were damaged or threatened with damage. Fletcher remarked that in tampering with the switches they violated two laws with a single blow.

As a result of his step the cases will remain on the docket but no action will be taken on them.

Also nolle prossed yesterday by Fletcher was another arson charge against Paul Russell Taylor, Kerling and Humes growing out of a cap magazine explosion June 11 at the same Harris Powder Company.

As a result of yesterday's developments Paul Russell Taylor, Gerling and Humes stand convicted of four charges and William David Taylor has two more convictions added to his original one.

Sentencing Today

The four youths will appear before Judge Henderson for sentencing today at 11 a. m.

In another development yesterday Judge Henderson dismissed a motion made on behalf of Humes by Attorney Edward J. Ryan for a new trial. Ryan had made the motion Saturday on the conviction in last week's trial.

Ryan represented Humes and Kerling while Attorney Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., was attorney for the Taylor boys.

Valuable Prizes To Be Given Housewives At Cook School

Banks And Courts Will Close For Defenders' Day

Tomorrow is Defenders' Day and the Allegany County Court House and banks of Cumberland will remain closed all day in observance of the state holiday.

Probably a good many persons wonder why tomorrow is Defenders' Day.

It was on September 12, 1814—137 years ago tomorrow—that the British were defeated after landing at North Point and Baltimore was saved from the invaders. The Battle of North Point was followed the next two days by the Battle of Fort McHenry, which has become better known because it inspired Francis Scott Key to write the "Star Spangled Banner."

Informations Name Six Men In Tire Ring

Two Face Charges Of Grand Larceny

A step was taken yesterday by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher to bring about an immediate trial in Allegany County Circiut Court of six local men allegedly involved in a tire theft ring.

Fletcher filed eight criminal informations in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court charging the men either with grand larceny or receipt of stolen goods.

The state's attorney reports that the six men have agreed to waive indictment so that they can be tried before the grand jury convenes Oct. 1.

Trial Likely Friday

Assistant State's Attorney William H. Geppert, who will handle the prosecution of the charges, said defense attorneys have agreed to try the cases Friday if that meets with the approval of Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, who will preside.

Only two of the men are charged with grand larceny but each faces two such charges. They are Anthony Smith Hickle, 30, 950 Gay Street, and Russell Fresh, 29, 918 Gay Street. They are accused of stealing seven truck tires, valued at a total of $774.86, April 16, and 10 automobile tires, worth a total of $200, April 27. Both thefts were staged at Charlton Brothers Transportation Company warehouse on Bowen Street.

Receiving Goods

The other four men are charged with receiving some, but not all, of the stolen tires.

Fred M. Propst, 25, Bowman's Addtion, is charged with receiving the seven stolen truck tires on or about April 27. Police said that Hickle and Fresh entered the warehouse, took the seven truck tires and rolled them to brush in the rear of the building. They reportedly then contacted Propst by telephone and he picked up the stolen goods for $85.

John H. McKenny, 28, 918 Gay Street, is charged with receiving the 10 automobile tires on or about April 29. Geppert said last night that McKenny is Fresh's brother-in-law and that Hickle and Fresh transported the 10 stolen automobile tires to McKenny's house from the warehouse.

Ralph L. Whorton, Sr., 50, 941 Gay Street, is charged with receiving four of the stolen automobile tires on or about April 30.

His son, Ralph Leo Whorton, 19, 941 Gay Street, is charged with receiving two of the stolen automobile tires on or about April 29. The Whortons are alleged to have come to McKenny's house and acquired some of the tires there.

Police report that all 17 of the stolen tires have been recovered.

Water Use Less Than Last Year

Water consumption last week was slightly lower than during the same week of 1950 in spite of exceptionally dry weather, according to the Evitts Creek Water Company report to the Council yesterday.

Total consumption last week was 87,270,000 gallons, or a daily average of 12,467,000 gallons. In the same week of 1950, Cumberlanders used 88,430,000 gallons, or 12,632,000 a day.

The water level at Lake Gordon was 10 inches below the crest of the spillway, and at Lake Koon, five feet, eight inches below the crest.

Cumberland Jumps The Gun On Postal Rate Increases

Because of an announcement that the Senate passed a bill Friday night which would increase postage on ordinary letters from three cents to four, the local post office has been receiving letters with stamps amounting to four cents in the mail, and numerous inquiries asking about the new measure, according to Thomas F. Conlon, postmaster.

Conlon said that the bill is not yet a law and must go through other procedures including passage by the House of Representatives and signature by the President before it affects the public.

Conlon declared that postal rates remain the same with no change in prices for mailing letters or postal cards. Postal rates, in the future, if the bill is passed by the House, may be hiked.

The bill is designed to wipe out part of the Post Office Department's huge annual deficit. The measure provides an increase on postal cards from one cent to two cents, raises the postage for ordinary airmail letters from six cents to eight cents, and first class letters from three to four cents.

The increases are not effective at present and will not be until the bill becomes a law, Conlon emphasized.

TV Tower Loss Set At $1,000

An uninsured loss of $1,000 was sustained when a television tower on Piedmont Hill, Piedmont, W. Va., was burned yesterday morning, the owners reported last night.

This second attempt in five days to burn the 50-foot structure was successful as only the standards remained.

The tower was damaged last Wednesday to the extent of between $50 and $75. Lumber had been stacked against the base of the tower, but the fire was discovered before it had gained much headway.

The fire this morning started at the top of the tower, which was covered with tar roofing. Fire companies were unable to reach the scene.

The Upper Potomac Television Company had been working several months on the project, designed to bring television to the community by means of a cable from the tower.
